The New-York Times.

VOL. VIII.....NO. 2238. NEW-YORK, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1858. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Mexico—and where have the American people to look for the cause of these outrages? First, to White-House delinquency—to the contemptible foreign policy of our Government, which never inspires but a mean regard for us amongst all the nations of the earth, and especially disgraces us in the eyes of Spanish-Americans.

Since the Federal evacuation of this Valley, the jails have received a large addition to their former occupants. The number of persons now incarcerated is large. Most of them are most harmless individuals; in fact it is difficult to find dangerous men amongst the native Federalists of this capital. The Government has also taken up several foreigners, amongst the number an Englishman, in whose house Mr. Forsyth has been living for some time past. So far the Government has refused to give any cause for this capricious act, although the British Minister has made frequent and urgent demands to find it out. It is believed the sole cause for this act was that this gentleman is a friend of Mr. F.! I have been told by those who watch the coke from the Palace, that the gentleman imprisoned is suspected of having some important business with Mr. Forsyth, and therefore he has been placed incommunicado! This is, if my opinion, the truth, and if so, what a comment it is upon our national influence in this country. To add comment would be to paint the rose.

Before now I have said affairs had come to a dreadful pass in Mexico, and at different periods, as our social condition was growing worse, have, in the benevolence of my nature, declared that these people could not enlarge upon the enormity of their acts already perpetrated. I beg to recant. I have been forced to witness things I could not have believed possible had I not seen them, and it is to be feared that we are now only entering upon worse times than we have passed through. In this letter you will perceive that we have made perceptible headway from bad to worse, and with the same progression, must eventually come to thumb-screws and the wheel.

While all the rest of the world is rolling ahead in the path of progress, this country is rolling back into darkness and barbarity, and that, too, in the very arms of a nation which is really the pioneer of republicanism, but whose Government at present prefers to boast and attempt intrigue, rather than follow the only path open to a republican government, which is that of frankness, justice and decision.

As I shall write you by the West Indian mail-packet, vid Havana, in a few days, I will defer any mention of the positions of the different military bands in this letter.

CITY OF MEXICO, Tuesday, Nov. 2, 1858.

At the time I closed my last letter to you (on the 19th ult.) I had no idea that that day was to turn out so big with events. On the morning of that day we had the disgust of knowing that the forces of the Federalists, under BLANCO, were flying from this valley after their bootless attack upon this capital; we knew that government forces were after them, but supposed, as a matter of course, that their speed would be exactly regulated by the time-table of the flying enemy, in order to prevent those melancholy affairs so common in your country, where Mexican prudence is not possessed by your railroad managers. With these facts and these suppositions, the denizens of this capital took their chocolate, their breakfasts, went to the Paseo, and those who can in these times had taken their dinners and were smoking their cigarros, promenading on the Chalas or under the Portales and again feeling the monotony that exists when we have no revolution. All at once, at about 9 in the evening, the bells commenced ringing, rockets were set off in every direction, bands of music appeared in the streets, and the city was thrown in the most uproarious tumult of joy, ladies flocked to the balconies and thousands filled the grand plaza. "What's the news?" was an inquiry in the mouth of every one. A great victory had been gained, that was clear. But the Government, ever zealous to gratify public curiosity, when it suits them, soon issued an official bulletin, from which it appeared that on the morning of that very same day the valiant Gen. PEZA had completely routed the forces of BLANCO at a place called Huitchilaque, killing 15, without the loss of a single man on his side. In consequence of this great victory, the city was delivered promptly from martial law, and the official papers assured us the war was ended and the country in the enjoyment of peace! What a memorable day would the 19th of October have been had one-half of this been true!

The friends of the Federalists were chop-fallen, but expressed great disbelief in the victory—in fact, in the whole story. But as it is not in my way to sympathize with either party, for they are pretty much alike, I will give you the facts of this battle as gathered from parties who were on the battle-field and saw the whole affair.

Early on the morning of the 19th, Gen. BLANCO's forces being encamped on Huitchilaque, a few miles this side of Cuernavaca, they learned that the enemy were near. BLANCO at once put his forces in motion to continue his retreat, and as the enemy were reported to be rapidly advancing, it was found necessary to leave one artillery carriage that was out of order. BLANCO's forces fairly off, the patriotic citizens of Huitchilaque conceived it was time for them to change their politics, and they hit upon the expedient of making a bonfire of the abandoned carriage. The whole population turned out to add to this demonstration against the Federalists. While this function was going ahead, Gen. PEZA, with the Government van, came heroically on; he saw the bonfire, and failing to see in it anything friendly, he set it down as some heathenish ceremony of the barbarous Federalists—perhaps the culinary department of BLANCO's camp. It was a case that required great strategy, and he therefore detailed his most trusty artillerymen to advance with a cannon charged with grape, while he placed as a reserve several mortars to bombard the place, and fell back himself to the rear of his forces, in order to avail himself of the best means of getting off if his plans did not work well.

The patriotic citizens of Huitchilaque in the mean time heaped up the bonfire and looked around for those they were working to honor, little thinking or dreaming of the military stratagem which was then being executed against them. You may, therefore, guess the astonishment of the Huitchilaquenas when they received in their very midst a volley of grape-shot, knocking their lighted fire-brands in every direction, mutilating many of their number, and tearing to pieces five of them. Seized with consternation they fled, but that even was attended with new horrors. The mortars had commenced their work, and exploding shells came crashing down amongst their houses, scattering terror on all sides. They, therefore, fell upon their knees and implored the saints for their protection.

General PEZA, having been advised of the success of his strategem thus far, ordered a charge upon the place, and the valiant troops of the Government, with fixed bayonets, readily obeyed his orders, knowing the position of things, and Huitchilaque fell to the hands of defenders of "Religion and Law." General PEZA, covered with dust and sweat (cold) from this bloody and brilliant battle, came in at the head of the charge, and was enthusiastically received, amidst the screams of terrified children, the barks of scared dogs, and the prayers and lamentations of the wounded and the wives and sisters of those who had perished. With great promptitude he penned a hasty dispatch to the Government, very much after the laconic style of JULIUS CAESAR—veni, vidi, vici—the receipt of which here caused (as I have already told you) a great jubilee, which was the greatest ever known by the oldest inhabitant. Such is a true history of the battle of Huitchilaque, and such the strategetic talents of our crack military man. Don't you fear to make another invasion of Mexico?

Leaving the scene of triumph, Gen. PEZA then being reinforced by Generals CESOR, CARRERA and others with many men, took the shortest route to Tacubaya. It appears BLANCO also went in that direction and placed himself down with his forces at some two leagues distance. An attack was made upon BLANCO's position by the Government forces, but the Government general in command losing fifty men at once, fell back. Several attacks have since been made with more or less the same result, and since then both sides have remained inactive, so far as we can know. It is said BLANCO is planning another attack upon this capital, in which he is to have the cooperation of large forces from Cuernavaca, the Bajio, and other points. Judging the future by the past, he is likely to remain where he is for some time, and to carry out his plans of concentrating a large force will certainly take Next in importance in the history of Mexico comes the final departure of the Ex-American Minister, Mr. FORSYTH, with his family. This event took place just two days after this city was at its highest state of excitement over the battle of Huitchilaque. For several days previous to the departure of our Ex-Minister the notices of him in the Government journals caused the belief that the police would pay him some attention before he got off, and in this we were not mistaken. He had been openly accused in the Government journals of having a hand in a conspiracy to burn up this stone city; of buying $200,000 of gold and silver, taken from the Church of Morelia; of being the leader of revolutions; of concocting sedition; of harboring bad characters; and it was even intimated that the conspiracy to assassinate everybody on the 16th of September was conceived by the Ex-Minister of the United States. In fact, by the representations of the official and semi-official journals of this capital, Mr. FORSYTH would stand a full head and shoulders above Guerra, Gen FEZA, Sandfall other celebrities of that stripe. After all that had been said against him, the ignorant looker-on could see no great inconsistency for a Government that carries "Law and Religion" on its banner to proceed to the next step and garrote the representative of the United States on the grand plaza in the full view of those against whom he had plotted. But as it requires more courage to act than to talk, the Government did not take any measures of violence, and even failed to molest him until on the very eve of his departure. At 9 o'clock on the evening before Mr. F. left, the hotel in which he had taken quarters for the night was invested with police. They thronged the entrance in front; were stationed at the gateway in the rear; infested all the corridors; were on the top of the hotel, and were even placed on the house on either side! The Chief of Police was detailed to do the polite on this occasion, and he swaggered up and down the patio of the hotel with the air of a man who had his business to do. For an hour or more multitudes came and went, getting the only impression that the representative of the United States was the object of solicitation. Finally the secret got out that the police were after a person in Mr. FORSYTH's company, and that they were determined to have him even if they had to take him from the arms of the American Minister. At about 10 o'clock or a little later negotiations were opened between the Government and the person desired, and at a little before 12 o'clock terms were made: that the person should pay $20,000 and be allowed to pursue his journey. For three hours the scandal of keeping a police force in front of the door of the American Minister and all around the hotel in which he was stopping was continued, and that too for a person claiming to be servant of Mr. FORSYTH, and, moreover, a person Mr. F. claimed as such, and, therefore, had provided for him in his passports. But, servant as he pretended to be, he paid the thirty thousand dollars, and took his fate with the company of the American Minister, who left at 2 A. M., on the morning of the 21st ult. for Vera Cruz, unprotected by an escort, for the Government had refused to give one that could be accepted.

Since the departure of the American Minister from here, we learn that his party were attacked by robbers, but as several Americans were in the party, the robbers were beaten off, after they had fired at the dilligences. At Orizava and Cordova attempts were again made to seize the "servant" of Mr. FORSYTH. It appears that the $20,000 only acted upon the Government like a "cocktail" upon the stomach of a debauche and had marvelously increased an appetite for more. Orders were sent from here for the detention of this "servant" the day after his departure, and, by means of the telegraph, the order reached Orizava in time to be presented—it was for the nice little sum of $60,000 this time. Mr. FORSYTH declined giving up his "servant." The officer with the order insisted upon having him. Mr. F. protested in the name of the Government of the United States against any violation of his domestic arrangements, and exhibited his passports for two servants. The argument pro and con, between Mr. F. and the officer, waxed warm, and, according to the report made by the officer to the Government here, it became complimentary on both sides. How Mr. F. sustained the American side of the argument I cannot say, but the officer assures his Government that he fearlessly and boldly stuck up for the honor and good name of his country. At Cordova another demand was made for the "servant," and, from all we can learn here, a similar scene occurred, in which Mr. F. succeeded in preventing the loss of his valuable "servant," (I recommend him as a butler,) and has arrived safe in Vera Cruz.

Since the departure of Mr. FORSYTH and the battle of Huitchilaque—two important events for the future historian of this country—the Government has emphatically mounted a high horse and is riding roughshod over everybody and everything. Some ten day ago an American was excommunicated while standing in the doorway of the hotel in which he lived, for not going down upon his knees when ordered to do so by a priest. Another American is now in prison in this city, where he has laid for two months for God only knows what. The Government has preferred no charge against him, nor have the prayers, entreaties and pretests of the good-hearted and patriotic American Consul here been of any avail in discovering the cause for the persecution of this poor man. His family have been reduced to the most absolute want by the sudden deprivation of his daily labor, and he, poor man, now lies in the hospital department of the prison, severely suffering from acute rheumatic pains, contracted while confined in a close, damp, dirty, and stone-cold cell. Perhaps some of his countrymen at home, who are not complete victims of our stupid procrastination policy, may be capable of a sigh of regret for the sad position of this poor fellow-citizen. Some may even go so far as to wish to avenge his wrongs.

Yesterday, almost like "a clap of thunder from a clear blue sky," Mr. THOMAS WORRAL, an English gentleman of long residence in this capital, received his passport and was ordered to leave the country forthwith. His order of banishment was given on account of non-compliance with the decree of May 15. The order for Mr. WORRAL's banishment comes with the better grace as it is given in direct opposition to the protest of the British Government against the said decree of May 15! Comment is unnecessary. Mr. WORRAL, in times past, has been an able contributor to the columns of the London Times, and it is not likely that the order of banishment now in his pocket will detract from the force and vigor of his pen. He left, as I learn, early this morning for Vera Cruz, to take his departure.

Mr. PERRY, the friend of the Ex-American Representative, still has his order to leave, but as he is a commercial man he has been granted a few days' respite to close up his affairs. He will leave about the middle of this month,—another victim of the times we live in.

To speak of the martial movements of the great leaders of the country pretty much amounts to an absurdity. The conduct of Mr. GARZA at Tampico is a fair sample on one side, and the acts of the Government of this capital a fair sample on the other hand. The strolling armies of the country are roving about like a lot of gipsies. The siege of Guadalajara, which lasted for about thirty days, culminated by the Federalists withdrawing on the 20th ult. San Luis Potosi is again pretty much abandoned by the Government, and will most likely again go to the side of the Opposition.

During the past week we have had considerable talk about a change of Government, and the elevation of the young Gen. MIRAMON to the Presidency. Absurd a character as a gambler is for a President, certainly the character of Gen. MIRAMON to that high office will surpass in absurdity even the making of a gambler into a Chief Magistrate. MIRAMON is yet a boy, and, although he has cut a great figure here, he could not hold rank as a lieutenant in any respectable service. He is a cordial hater of foreigners, and if he comes to power—a thing that may occur any day—you may expect to hear of some rather strong infringements of international law—not perhaps stronger than those already committed by ZULOAGA, but a little more dissatrous to those foreigners here who will be called upon to play parts in these outrages. It was MIRAMON who put two Englishmen in the ranks at San Luis Potosi, and had them well knocked and cuffed about because they declined to loan him some money.

Yesterday the English mail arrived here, and was at once seized by the Government, but, as a considerable amount of postage was to be recovered, and as the clerks in the post-office were clamoring for their salaries, the Government at length consented to give up the letters from Europe. All the letters from Vera Cruz were broken open in the face of those to whom they were addressed, and were detained!

Merchants of this city, and those of Vera Cruz are now prohibited from corresponding. The same may be said of all other places a few leagues distant. In order to prevent the interchange of even commercial correspondence, a most outrageous decree has been given, which subjects persons found with letters in the forbidden lines of penalties, imprisonment, &c.

By the mail from Havana, arrived here yesterday, we learn that a Spanish force had sailed from that place, and likely ere this has landed at Tampico. In the meanwhile, our glorious nation looks on!

CITY OF MEXICO, Friday, Nov. 5, 1858.

Although I dropped you full news three days ago, I have new abundant materials to fill three or four columns of the Times, so rapidly and so startingly do scenes change in this country at this time; but as I fear your readers must be surfeited with the horrible news of this country, and disgusted with the inaction of the American Government, in allowing American citizens in Mexico to be imprisoned and butchered, as suits the fancy of these people, I will only give you a brief catalogue of facts, and leave till my next the particulars of the occurrences I have to relate.

It has become generally known that the movement of Spanish troops against Tampico, with the ostensible object of catching and hanging the pirate JUAN JOSE DE LA GARZA, is really intended to assist the present Church Government of Mexico in establishing itself in that port and at Vera Cruz. It may be as well for me here to say that the Captain-General of Cuba, CENERAL, has addressed a note to the British Minister at this capital on the subject of this step, I suppose with the view of compromisting England in the matter if possible, and of smothering up the real object in view. I feel certain that if the British Minister replies to this note from CENERAL, he will inform the Captain-General that if he would redress grievances against foreign commerce perpetrated in Mexico, and would hang all the "pirates," he will be compelled to march his troops to this capital, and send a goodly supply of rope, as there is not a General in the Government service who has not committed equally as bad acts as those of GARZA, and the actual Government in acts of piracy has outstripped them all.

A few days before, the Government troops took Zacatecas; that is, they marched quietly in, as the place had been abandoned by the Federal forces, who had gone to Guadalajara to join their victorious comrades in that city. The Government General, from whatever motive is not yet known here, seized seven Americans and shot them. Who these Americans were, I cannot say, but from the fact that the Government has had the news of their execution now in their possession over twenty-four hours, and no notice has been made of the circumstance in the official journals, I conclude they must have been innocent traders. At all events, it is not at all likely that seven Americans belonging to the Federalist forces would stupidly expose themselves alone, single-handed, to the fury of 1,500 Government troops. I think I may safely set down the shooting of these seven Americans as a wanton act of barbarity committed by the Government General upon persons peaceably and lawfully pursuing their business.

In the past few days, the Government has pressed the collection of the forced loan imposed by the decree of May 15. An American yesterday was subjected to the force of the law, and his goods carried off under embargo.

POOR CHAPLAIN still remains in durance, and the Government manifests no disposition to relax their fiendish grasp upon him, nor to give cause for their persecution of him. He is, I am told, in a very bad state, owing to his close imprisonment in a filthy cell at first, and now from bad treatment in the hospital ward of the prison. The efforts of the United States Consul for his relief are untiring, but without effect upon the Government.

PERRY remains in prison, and will leave soon under orders to quit the country. Mr. WORRAL left on the 2d, under order of banishment. The Government journals, after all these acts of persecution and outrage of foreigners, have the effrontery to speak daily of the impudence of foreigners in this country. They say, "foreigners should be made to know their place."

The political changes of the country may be enumerated as follows: Guadalajara has fallen into the hands of the Federalists, and several of the Government officers were hung. Two were suspended from the balcony of the bishop's palace of Guadalajara. A large force of Pronunciados, or Federalists, are near Zulencingo, or in the place, and have actually taken the Mineral del Monte. They are reported to be 2,000 strong, and under the command of CARVAJAL. ECHAGARAY and ROBLES are at or near to Jalapa. They are plotting to make a movement for ROBLES for President, but none of the other Generals seem to go in with them. BLANCO has gone to Morelia, and discontent is reported to have broken out in his camp. Here we have talk of a strong movement against Vera Cruz, but as the Government Generals are now quarreling among themselves, it is doubtful if a change for the worse does not take place here before any action takes place on the Vera Cruz line. Things look squally on all sides, and it is difficult to make any conjectures. One thing is certain, the country is every day sinking lower and lower.

Reports of Subsequent Engagements.

From the Brownsville (Texas) Flag, Nov. 10.

The news we have received this week from our neighboring republic, though undetailed in its particulars, is nevertheless interesting. It seems that Gen. BLANCO, of the Liberal army, with 1,300 men attacked and entered the city of Mexico, advancing to within one block of the capitol. ZULOAGA made an imposing resistance, and lost 400 of his soldiers, besides a large number of wounded. The loss on the part of the Liberals was comparatively small.

Gen. BLANCO held his position for a few hours, and afterwards retired to Tacubaya, where he remained encamped till last accounts. The city would have been completely captured by the Liberals, but the partisans within, upon whose movements depended the whole triumph, not being previously advised of the intended attack, were not prepared to render any efficient aid. The Liberal forces were concentrating about the capital with a force sufficient to render its capture inevitable.

The whole republic, with the exception of the capital itself, is now in possession of the Liberals.

General ECHAGARAY, the sanguinary Reactionist chief, was severely wounded in a daring attempt to capture the Castle of Perote with a handful of men.

[As no dates are given in this extract, we cannot judge whether it relates to the same events as those described in our own correspondence or not; but we presume it does, and that our own account is the more reliable of the two.—ED. TIMES.]

The Condition of Mexico—Necessity of Intervention.

From the New-Orleans Picayune.

ORIZABA, Mexico, Saturday, Oct. 30, 1858.

Edit. Pic.: I avail myself of some days detention here, to give you a few lines respecting what is passing in this country at present, for it appears destined to become an incalculable evil to the United States, unless the proper remedy be applied that is required.

In January last, ZULOAGA abandoned the Liberal Party he had given protection to previously, and, raising the standard of revolt in favor of the Conservatives, or Spanish Clerical party, he established a new Government in the capital under their direction. Every one knows that he is nothing but an instrument in their hands to execute their orders. The city of Puebla, with some villages and towns in the vicinity of the capital, soon declared in his favor, and with contributions and money that the clergy gave him, he raised new troops, and finally, by force, obtained possession some months ago of Queretaro, Guanajuato, Guadalajara and San Luis, but without being able to extend the limits of his Government any further. Indeed, these same cities have sometimes been occupied by the Puro or Constitutionalist party, as has also the port of Tampico been sometimes occupied by one party and sometimes by the other, the Puro party having kept possession of nearly all the seaports up to the present time.

Some weeks ago, VIDAURRI allowed himself to be attacked and defeated by MIRAMON, the Conservative General, and this, after having had a sufficiently long time for preparation, the choice of his position, and after much boasting of his going to Mexico to establish a Liberal Government there. It is doubtful if DOCUILARO, after the troops of the Conservative General CARABOVA having passed over to him, has been able to take Guadalajara yet. On the other hand, the Conservative General ECHAGARAY has been unable to take the castle of Perote from the Puros, after laying a pretended siege to it all the Summer.

There is not the least probability of either party subduing the other, or of their ever reconciling their disputes and arranging their difficulties so as to restore order and tranquillity to the country again; for although the Conservatives generally defeat the Puros when they encounter each other, the latter manage to escape and appear shortly after with a formidable force in some other part of the country, like the Puro General BLANCO, who unexpectedly made his appearance before the capital of Mexico, lately, but did not take it because his troops are undisciplined and do not wish to fight. They arrived at Tacubaya, about a league from Mexico, on the 14th inst., in the evening, and the next day, about 10 o'clock, attacked the city at San Cosme, or the western entrance, where they were checked by seventy or eighty boys who had retired there from the Military College of Chapultepec, and who were left for a long time by ZULOAGA to resist them without sending any troops to their support, and several of whom were, of course, killed and wounded. In a couple of hours the Puros retired again; but another force that had attacked the city on the south side and taken possession of a church or convent, called San Pablo, did not retire from there till night. I happened to be in the city at the time. Zulooga had thirty-three thousand, while the other party had about 3,000, and yet they remained in the village about the city two or three days more, and then retreated toward the South, on the road to Cuernavaca, followed for a short distance by ZULOAGA's troops, which had been reinforced by others from Zoluca and Puebla; but without any great loss on either side.

Gen. BLANCO is said to be a gentest man, and so desirous is he that his troops committed no depredations on the inhabitants around the city, which is unusual with that party, who have so many chiefs that are nothing more nor less than assassins and robbers. Nor has the other party much to boast of in this respect, for some of their chiefs are in the same category. In fact, both live on the public by contributions, forced loans and pillage, no road in the country being safe for travelling nor for transporting goods, industry and commerce are paralyzed, and the whole country is in a complete state of anarchy and ruin, while each of the contending parties treats the foreigner ill when it suits them, in direct violation of international law and treaties, as has taken place more particularly in Mexico, San Luis, and Tampico. This being the state of things, if the United States does not intend to keep this country in order, the European nations, notwithstanding the famous Monroe doctrine, for they cannot permit the present course adopted by Mexico towards their people to continue any longer.

If the United States intend to do anything with this country they must first inquire the cause of its decay, which will be found to be, in the first place, the policy of its Republican Government, which Mexicans never were intended for and know nothing of; and in the second place, the influence of the speculators, who first come here, under the guise of "Americans," for security to Government as an excitement interest, then entering upon every other kind of speculation until they have become so formidable as to govern the country. The so-called Government, it is notorious, are only instruments in their power. These persons do not always act openly, but more frequently in the dark, by cunning, deceit and hypocrisy, interfering in all the treaties as well as in all the difficulties with other nations. If there are Ministers in the Cabinet that do not suit their views, they manage to get them removed. They always have one or more of the clerks in the principal offices to inform them of what is going on there; and if they know of a measure that any other person has to propose, they will get hold of it in any manner they can, if possible, and press it as their own, in case it offers any benefit; and they are called gentlemen, probably because they wear genteel clothing. They got ZULOAGA's first Cabinet changed, by which they have some new members to suit them better, and are now plotting some new change.

A large number of these speculators had made contracts to survey the waste lands in most of the frontier States, for which they were to have one-third of said waste lands for themselves; some of the States denied the right of Government to make such contracts; the new Government of Zuloaga had not acknowledged them, but with the new Cabinet a Mr. MARGRAVE has. He makes a complaint and protest to the Minister of Fomento, telling him that an American and an Englishman, a Mr. MCMARTRE and Mr. PERRY, in Chihuahua, had applied to the Legislature of that State for leave to run a railroad through it, which he objects to, because he has property in the State that will be ruined, and because, as foreigners, they have no right to any grant there: a Mr. PALACIOS also protests because he has got a right of property there, which the contract for surveying the waste lands gives him; their friend, the Minister of Fomento, passes this complaint to the Minister of Relations, and prevails on him to pass it with his objections to the English Minister and the Government at Washington, and in this manner they obtain a recognition by this Government of their contract at the expense of the interest of the American and Englishmen, knowing the Government to be hostile to foreigners, and which interests them more than the value of the lands to be augmented by the railroad, because they are not yet sure of these. Mr. MARGRAVE has the effrontery that he is interested in the contract also, as he is, in many others of the like nature, which I say nothing of at present.

ORIZABA, Mexico, Sunday, Oct. 31, 1858.

Edit. Pic.: In my letter of yesterday I endeavored to show that there is no Mexican that will ever restore order and tranquillity to this country again, and that both contending parties in their treatment of foreigners set their treaties with other nations at defiance. It may be added that the party in the City of Mexico is extremely hostile to the Anglo-Saxon race, and that the French Minister there is a confidante, because he is trying always to obtain for them a French and Spanish Protectorate.

I also endeavored to show that the ruin of this country had been caused by the adoption of a Liberal Government not suited for the people, and the influence of a horde of speculators who, of late years particularly, manage the affairs of the Government to suit their own views.

When the Mexicans became independent, other nations made a mistake in supposing they could govern themselves with free institutions. Our ancestors, the Anglo-Saxons, were free from the beginning, and never mixed with the Indian race of the country, but have always lived apart from them. The Spaniards have half Christianized the native, married with them, but kept them under subjection by force; the consequence is that, with free institutions, the great mass of the population of this country, the native Indians, will always be at war with their conquerors, the Spaniards, while any of them are in the country, and they are numerous at present, because the latter are superior to them and can never treat them as equals. If any other European nation, or the people of our country, come and take the place of the Spaniards, the same hatred and warfare between them and the native population is sure to take place for the same reasons, while the motley mongrel or mixed race of cavaliers will continue, as they are doing at present, to foment and increase the discord, because they belong to neither party but inherit the vices of both, without any of the virtues of either, and will always delight in keeping the ball in motion between the other two, so that they can prey on the vitals of both.

The annexation, therefore, of this country to the United States, in my view, would be death to our Union and entire ruin to the Southern States with their negro population, because that of this country, combined with the negro of those States, would soon be the cause of a separation of those States from the Union, and civil discords and internal wars would continue to rage afterwards to the great annoyance of their Anglo-Saxon neighbors in the North.

It therefore becomes our country men and our rulers to examine well what is best to be done with this country in as short a time as possible, and if, as I suppose, the United States must take Mexico in hand, let our rulers avoid annexation; let this country remain as it is—Mexican; let the United States direct its foreign policy, place a Governor over it, with an armed force, to keep order and tranquility in it, and with a council, if necessary, of a certain number, elected by the municipalities here; let the United States collect its revenues and attend to the administration of justice by one or more Supreme Courts, part of whose Judges might be Mexican and part American; but let our rules interfere no further, and in the course of time, under this guidance the Mexicans may, perhaps, become civilized and useful to themselves as well as to their neighbors; but not until after a long time. BOREALIS.

The State of Mexico.

To the Editor of the London Times:

SIR: I trust that you will deem the following plain statement of facts of sufficient importance to merit notice in your columns:

On the 20th ult., by the revolt of part of this garrison for Federation GARZA—the man who bombarded this town with shot and shell, from the 26th of March until the 14th of May last, when he was attacked and temporarily defeated—obtained possession of this city and has signalized his return to power in the following characteristic manner.

He has confiscated some 3,000 to 4,000 packages of goods, (valued at £40,000,) which have been lying at a point up the river for many months past, waiting the restoration of peace to forward them on to the Interior. Native produce has been sentenced to a fine of 6 per cent. on value, but all foreign goods have been confiscated on the plea that they were imported and internated during the occupation of this city by the Zuloaga forces.

GARZA pretends that all the goods in Tampico imported during the above-named occupation must pay import duties a second time to him; and pending the refusal of the merchants to comply with this illegal pretension, he prohibits all goods to leave the port.

It is useless to tell people who trample public law under foot that foreign merchants are justified in paying their duties to the party in power for the time being, whether Liberals or Conservatives, and, in fact, they have no option in a country where everything is exacted at the point of the bayonet.

On the afternoon of the 25th inst. GARZA intimated in writing to the merchants that he had imposed a "forced loan" upon them of £20,000, and they were ordered to send in their quotas to the Commissariat that same day, without any excuse or pretext whatsoever.

To that communication Mr. PETER HANSON, a British merchant, replied in writing the same evening, that, according to the 10th article of the treaty between Great Britain and the Mexican Republic, Her Majesty's subjects are exempt from such contributions.

The next morning (Sunday, the 28th inst.) GARZA sent in his side-de-camp to invite the merchants to go to the Commissariat; some 20 merchants went, and the Commissary placed before them promissory notes at five days' sight, for their respective quotas of the forced loan; they refused to affix their signatures, and were marched off to the barracks, where they were imprisoned in a small, damp, loathsome room, without water, food, or bedding. They passed the night on the floor, with the rain pouring down upon them through the roof, which leaked in seven places. They held out until late on the afternoon of the 27th inst., when nature exhausted compelled them to yield to the refined torture conceived by a priest.

Mr. HANSON, having been informed of the imprisonment of his brother merchants, refused to obey the invitation of GARZA; consequently, about 9 o'clock on the morning of the 29th inst., four armed officers presented themselves at Mr. HANSON's house to take him by force. Her Majesty's Consul was immediately advised of the violence, and proceeded to give Mr. HANSON all the protection that his official position and the British flag could give under the circumstances. Mr. HANSON, with the consentation of the Consul, refused to accompany the officers, unless taken by force. The Consul explained to them the serious consequences which would result if they resorted to such violence, and the four officers not considering it safe, and the four officers not considering

GARZA pretends that all the goods in Tampico imported during the above-named occupation must pay import duties a second time to him; and pending the refusal of the merchants to comply with this illegal pretension, he prohibits all goods to leave the port.

It is useless to tell people who trample public law under foot that foreign merchants are justified in paying their duties to the party in power for the time being, whether Liberals or Conservatives, and, in fact, they have no option in a country where everything is exacted at the point of the bayonet.

On the afternoon of the 25th inst. GARZA intimated in writing to the merchants that he had imposed a "forced loan" upon them of £20,000, and they were ordered to send in their quotas to the Commissariat that same day, without any excuse or pretext whatsoever.

To that communication Mr. PETER HANSON, a British merchant, replied in writing the same evening, that, according to the 10th article of the treaty between Great Britain and the Mexican Republic, Her Majesty's subjects are exempt from such contributions.

The next morning (Sunday, the 28th inst.) GARZA sent in his side-de-camp to invite the merchants to go to the Commissariat; some 20 merchants went, and the Commissary placed before them promissory notes at five days' sight, for their respective quotas of the forced loan; they refused to affix their signatures, and were marched off to the barracks, where they were imprisoned in a small, damp, loathsome room, without water, food, or bedding. They passed the night on the floor, with the rain pouring down upon them through the roof, which leaked in seven places. They held out until late on the afternoon of the 27th inst., when nature exhausted compelled them to yield to the refined torture conceived by a priest.

Mr. HANSON, having been informed of the imprisonment of his brother merchants, refused to obey the invitation of GARZA; consequently, about 9 o'clock on the morning of the 29th inst., four armed officers presented themselves at Mr. HANSON's house to take him by force. Her Majesty's Consul was immediately advised of the violence, and proceeded to give Mr. HANSON all the protection that his official position and the British flag could give under the circumstances. Mr. HANSON, with the consentation of the Consul, refused to accompany the officers, unless taken by force. The Consul explained to them the serious consequences which would result if they resorted to such violence, and the four officers not considering it safe, and the four officers not considering

SOCIETY OF PARIS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Thursday, Oct. 28, 1858.

Dear reader, dear reader, if you were ever admitted to the writing of an anonymous correspondence, you know how careful you were to give no clue of yourself to what you deemed the most [illegible] and how anxious you were that your language, at least, should be clothed in [illegible] language, the most numerous phrases [illegible] this trait, give us a singular [illegible] of this disposition, or rather its opposite, [illegible] correspondence. You may remember that I told you, a few weeks ago, about the [illegible] which a distinguished French writer [illegible] in gazing upon the house at Dieppe [illegible] which M. MILLAUD conceived the grand project [illegible] the planning of the Isthmus of Panama. Well, [illegible] correspondence in question begins by informing Paris and the rest of mankind, that, on the [illegible] day, in AUGUSTE MILLAUD, nephew of [illegible] banker of that name, in descending from the carriage, had made a false step and [illegible] his ankle! The correspondence assures us, that the accident had no serious results. After such an announcement, it is a wonder why the correspondent dared add other paragraphs to his communication. Any additional news would only excite the public emotion. There are days and occasions when the great soul of a country ought to be allowed to pulsate freely—they are griefs it is a sacrilege to stir up!

But the English correspondents are not less impertinent. They tell their readers that the young Duchess of MALAKOFF, just now the curiosity of London, and the terror of the old Marshal [illegible], has also sprained her ankle! So it appears that the weather is favorable to a weakness of the limbs—in other words, the times are out of joint.

Now, how are we to attack other subjects after such a commencement? Perhaps at this respectable distance we may add other facts, which, in view of their insignificance, will not seriously interfere with the emotion the foregoing must have produced. Let us first recognize a strange report in regard to WALKER, which has furnished gossip for a week to the Paris journals. In 1847, the last year of the reign of Louis Philippe, and a year famous for its scandals, political and social, a Monsieur G., an aide-de-camp of the Duke DE NEMOURS, was caught in the act of cheating at cards in a distinguished circle at Chantilly, and was obliged in consequence to leave the country. It was said that he went to Mexico, and that he died in that country. But lately a girl, the daughter of a shipowner, came to Paris to be educated, and who had followed him into exile, returned to Paris, and by some unexplained misunderstanding of the girl's history, it was announced that WALKER, the famous Central American filibuster, was none other than the constricted aide-de-camp of the Duke de Nemours. And all Paris believed this cream of scandale! But, the truth is, in regard to Mr. G., that he leaving France in obedience to an order from the Prince to that effect, he went first to Beyrout, which he quitted promptly, and then established himself at Tripoli, in Syria. Here he lived several years under the name of MOISE, and was designated by the people under the title of EMIR (Prince). He tried in vain to succeed as a grain merchant. At last he had a quarrel with the Vice-Consul of France at that place, and the incident of Chantilly becoming public, he went to Latakia, where he died. He was allowed an income of 6,000 francs a year by his relatives in France.

An incident, which has caused a good deal of excitement at Paris, has just occurred to General COMTE DE GALLIFET, one of the most distinguished officers of the present army of France, and the General who led the left wing of the army at the final assault on Sebastopol. The General has a brother-in-law, the Count DE CHAMPEAUELLES, formerly a Lieutenant-Colonel of the army, who has lately manifested symptoms of mental derangement. The General was sent for a few days ago by his sister, to come to Avignon, to give advice in regard to her husband. While reasoning with his brother-in-law, the latter suddenly seized a pistol and shot the General in the lower part of the abdomen. The wound is a serious one, but yet not vital organs are touched. The deranged man is now in close confinement.

An extraordinary dwarf, the last of the race of Court fools, has just died in the Rue du Four, St. Germain, in this city. His name was RICHEBOURG, he was 90 years of age, and his height was only 23½ inches. When young he was in the service of the Duchess of ORLEANS, mother of King LOUIS PHILIPPE, where he filled the office of butler, but performed none of his duties. After the first revolution broke out he was employed to convey dispatches abroad, through dangerous tracts of country, and for that purpose was dressed as a baby, the dispatches being concealed in his cap, and a nurse being made to carry him. For the last twenty-five years he lived in the Rue du Four, and during all that time never went out. The Orleans family allowed him a pension of 2,000 francs a year.

The Prince NAPOLEON has built in the avenue Montaigne an odd structure, which he calls his Pompeian palace; it is, in fact, a perfect resemblance in form and decorations of an exhumed temple of Diana at Pompeii. Its floors are mosaic, its pillars polished and variegated marbles, its walls and ceilings solid frescos. It is finished in the highest style of art, and probably surpasses in beauty its great archetype. It is used by the Prince as a private residence, and has extensive dependencies; but the rooms are so cold and formal, and so incompatible with ideas of modern comfort, that the Prince has been obliged to fit up a suite of private rooms in the upper part of the building for his own use. The gods had a taste for "brown-stone fronts," but they knew little of "modern comforts." The fact is, they are stood in the way. The Prince is, no doubt, sorry to outrage the memory of the divinities by attaching to his temple a stable and a receptacle for coal, potatoes and cabbage, but then the times have changed!

A few days ago the Prince gave a grand dinner in his Pompeian palace to his political, literary and artistic friends. The dinner was in keeping with the character of the house and with some of the guests as well, one of whom was a Chinese savant. Some of the dishes were Chinese, and a part of the wine was from Siam. Among the dishes were swallows' nests, the greatest of Chinese delicacies, cooked in the Nankin mode; fins of a shark, dried; statuettes à la mandarine; the interior of a vengeant à l'espagnoise; nez rondelles de bambou; clotharies in salad, with pheasant jelly; rice des immortels; fowl, with Japanese curry; spinach with latichea, a dish much esteemed at Rome under AUGUSTUS; rice in Chinese fashion; Indian curry, &c.

Since ALEXANDER DUMAS left St. Petersburg, a report has been put in circulation that he had died on his way to Siberia. A letter from the distinguished writer has just been received by a friend in France, dated at the point at which the great Tartar fair is held, and which leaves him not only in a perfect state of health, but in the act of preparing for himself a good dinner. In this letter M. DUMAS states his intention of passing rapidly through Siberia, the Caspian Sea, Caucasus, the Black Sea, and then of returning home by Constantinople and the Mediterranean. The report in regard to his death, (which originated in Le Nord,) and the chateau of Monte-Cristo, near Marly, property of the great novelist, and which, it was recently said, had just been sold to Mr. Fow, the American banker of this city, for a sum [illegible] statement is also untrue. It is true that Mr. STEVENS, a ruined English [illegible] devotes his fortune to the arts. [illegible] in the photographic art has just been [illegible] by M. RADAR, the well-known [illegible] of this city. He ascended in a balloon [illegible] GODARD, and from various heights [illegible] views of the city and surrounding [illegible] the occasion of the first attempt of this kind, he had not ascended a cloud, and it was found impossible to execute the project; but the second attempt is said to have succeeded perfectly. The new views will soon be given to the public.

From a table of statistics published in the Patrie, we find that the number of printing offices in France is but 1,037. These employ 9,500 compositors, 3,000 pressmen and 900 correctors and overseers. The produce of the whole is estimated at five millions of dollars.

A Hebrew translation of EUGENE SUE'S Mysteries of Paris has just appeared at Wilna, in Poland—the work of a M. SCHULMAN.

A new element of excitement in the Catholic world has been added this week to the Mortara affair. In the last number of the Correspondent, a semi-monthly publication, the Count de MONTALEMBERT gave an airing to some of his peculiar opinions on Church and State, which opinions, after eight days' consideration, the Police resolved were dangerous to public order, public morality, and the stability of the Government. Thus, after everybody had read the Count's article, the Police suddenly seized all the books in the reading rooms or on sale, and the Count and the publisher were cited before the tribunal to answer to the charge. The trial has been set down for a future day. M. PRUNENEREZ, who was condemned, a few months ago, for a like offense, to three years' imprisonment and a heavy fine, escaped to Belgium, and is continuing his work of enlightening the people from that point.

The book of Lord NORMANBY, entitled A Year of Revolution, in which the noble Lord, who was then British Ambassador at Paris, gives a history of the Revolution of 1848, has been published in French, and has excited a storm of criticism from the French Press. These criticisms are remarkable for the uniformity with which they declare that Lord Normanby could not have witnessed the scenes he describes, and that his appreciations are false from beginning to end. The author was duped in the "facts" he gives; he did not see for himself, and his book, as a historical work, is thus absolutely without value.

The reader will perhaps recollect the interesting exchange of letters which took place some months ago, during the discussions in the Sardinian Parliament, between several distinguished politicians. A speech of General LA MARMORA had brought out successively Messrs. LAMARTINE and BASTIDE, both Ministers of Foreign Affairs under the Republic of 1848, who contradicted his assertions. This interesting discussion has given birth to a book which cannot fail to interest the European diplomatic and political world. M. BASTIDE, who held for ten months the office of Foreign Minister in France in 1848, is going to publish a book entitled, "The French Republic and Italy in 1848," a volume in which the diplomatic letters, notes and documents exchanged between the different Governments of Europe and the French Republic under the Provisional Government, and that of General CAVAIGNAC, will hold an important place. The book, of course, cannot be published in France. Every one will understand that a recital of the events of 1848 would not exactly suit the market under the Government of to-day. It will be published at Brussels.

The reading public of France recollects with pleasure the charming and clever table-talk literature of ALPHONSE KARR, published some years ago under the title of Les Guepes. These publications are about to be resumed, the author directing his manuscript from his residence at Nice, to his publisher, M. LEVY, in this city. The announcement is almost an event for the world of letters.

A journal of Paris announced, apropos of the much talked about literary Congress at Brussels, that M. JULES SIMON, formerly a representative of the people under the Republic of 1848, and a prominent writer, had his name stricken from the list of persons invited to the dinner at the Palace, on account of his color. A note is published, however, to contradict the statement. M. SIMON not only dined at his Majesty's table, but had the honor of a special mark of consideration.

M. PAUL BROCA, under-Professor in the Faculty of Medicine of Paris, one of the abler Professors in the rank of Agrégés, is reading before the Society of Biology of this city, a lengthy monograph in defence of the doctrine of the non-unity of the human race. M. BROCA does not divide the two races into black and white, but into Ethiopian and Caucasian. He admits that many black races are not negroes, and draws all his arguments from human anatomy. The purely wooly head, the sharp chin, the short humeral bones, and the flattened instep, are peculiarities which belong alone to the Ethiopian race. It is a differently formed race anatomically, and is not therefore the same. M. BROCA rejects, as absurd, the plea of the influence of climate in producing color. MALAKOFF.

DETAILS OF NEWS BY THE CANADA.

The mails by the Canada, at Boston, on Saturday morning, were delivered in this City on the same evening.

The more important details were received by telegraph from Halifax. We add the following:

The reasons which have induced the Government to send a Commissioner to Corfu may (says the Times) be shortly stated, and will be found to justify so unusual a course.

"Our readers need not be told that the great body of the Ionians are of the Greek Church, and speak the Greek language; and that since the Protectorate has been established, and particularly of late years, they have evinced a constant antipathy to British rule."

The Times then shows the difficulty of managing the Ionians, and the forbearance with which they have been treated, and proceeds to remark: "Our Government, after years of provocation, has selected a statesman of the highest repute, one eminent for his learning and eloquence, and for his sympathy with the land and the literature of the Ionians, to inquire and to reform. He will proceed to Corfu, and, without superseding the Lord High Commissioner, will endeavor to remove the obstacles which impede the working of Government. If the people have anything to complain of, he will listen to their complaints, and the character of Mr. GLADSTONE gives every reason to believe that he will be more apt to condemn the faults of his own countrymen than to remain blind to the wrongs of the natives. Should the result of his mission be the tranquilization of the islands, it will afford a good precedent for availing ourselves hereafter of the services of our great Parliamentary statesmen on a wider sphere of usefulness than the wordy contests of Westminster."

The Morning Herald thinks great praise is due to Sir DULWER LYTTON for his being able to secure the services of Mr. GLADSTONE.

Mr. EDWARD A. HOPKINS, as managing Director of the San Fernando Railroad, has petitioned the Government to guarantee 7 per cent. dividends on the Capital Stock of the Company. It was thought the concession would be made.

A French speculator is soliciting aid to lay a line of submarine telegraph to Europe. The proposition excites great interest.

The Chambers were prorogued to Nov. 1.

Our dates from Panama are to Sept. 24.

In the Province of Santa Cruz gold mines have been discovered so productive that thirty ounces have been obtained by one person in twelve hours. The least return to any miner has been twelve ounces a day.

Gen. URQUIZA and his Cabinet, on Sept. 20, resigned in a body, owing to the threatened passage through Congress of a bill granting an indemnity to the French and Sardinians. On the day following, however, they were induced to recall their withdrawal.

Rumors of insurrections at many points in the Argentine Confederation were current at Buenos Ayres, but deserved no credit.

From files of the Triscurrie, of Paraguay, we learn that President LOPEZ has revoked the decree of Feb 12, 1858, which prohibited the exportation of cotton, sugar and other domestic products—an important concession to the spirit of the age.

The Liverpool Mercury says: "Mr. GLADSTONE expects to quit England next Saturday, the 6th, and intends to proceed to his destination, by way of Vienna and Trieste. His absence will probably extend over a period of three months, but it is distinctly understood that he returns in time for the next session of Parliament. The expenses of the mission are, of course, to be borne by the Government, but the Right Honorable gentleman will receive no salary."

The Limerick people have wisely determined, since their interview with Mr. CUNARD, to abandon the attempt to establish steam communication with America.

The Atlantic Royal Mail Steam Navigation Company (Galway Line) have contracted for a steamship which will be guaranteed to cross the Atlantic in five days from port to port.

The Galway Vindicator of the 21 inst. contains the following qualifying statement respecting the growing prosperity of the western capital. On that day twenty-

[illegible]

THE BRITISH TREATY WITH CHINA.

The Convention in Full Translated from the Chinese Original.

In the NEW-YORK TIMES, of Friday, Nov. 12 we laid before the public the text of the American and the Russian Treaties with China, in advance of their publication elsewhere. We now complete the series of these important Conventions, by giving the entire instrument negotiated by Lord ELGIN, which, with a single variation, is precisely the same as that consummated by the French Envoy; the variation consisting in an addition to the latter of a stipulation founded on the case of Father CHAPDELAINE. The British Treaty we find in the North China Herald, which translates it from the original Chinese.

TREATY OF TIEN-TSIN.

The Emperor of China and the Queen of England, seeing that there is discord between the two States, desire to renew their former friendly understanding, so that henceforward there may be peace between them forever. For this purpose KWEI-LIANG, Cabinet Minister, &c., &c., and HWASHANA, President of the Le Poo, &c., &c., specially appointed by the Emperor of China, and the Earl of ELGIN, &c., &c., specially appointed by the Queen of England, having compared the decrees of their Sovereigns respectively appointing them Plenipotentiary Ministers, with power to do whatever circumstances might require, and finding them in every respect complete, have conferred together and have concluded a treaty in articles in the following order:

ARTICLE I. The treaty concluded at Nankin on the 29th of August, 1842, is retained, and will continue in operation. The supplementary treaty and regulations of trade, concluded in Canton, having been altered and extended and included in the new treaty, are abrogated.

ART. 2. The Emperor of China and the Queen of England, being desirous of preserving the friendly understanding between them against all interruption, agree that, according to the constant custom of great States on good terms with one another, it shall also be in their power, each at pleasure, to send a representative minister (or a minister having authority) to the capital of the other.

ART. 3. The Ambassador, or other such high officer of the Queen of England, and his family, and all belonging to him, may either reside in permanence at Pekin, or may go backward and forward from time to time. It will depend entirely on the command of his Sovereign which he shall do, England being an independent nation on equality with China, the high officer sent by the Queen of England to represent his nation, when he approaches the Emperor of China, is not to perform any ceremony that may affect the dignity of his nation. But, to show an equal degree of respect for the Emperor of China he will perform to him the same ceremonies as are always performed to the Sovereigns of Europe by officers sent to them from the Queen of England. As to the leasing of building sites or dwellings for the official residence of the minister and other officers, it will be the duty of the officers of the Emperor of China to give every assistance. There shall be no hindrance whatever to his hiring whatever people he chooses for his service. Any one guilty of disrespect or insolence to the Ambassador of the Queen of England, to his family, suite, or any one else in his official residence, shall be severely punished by the local authorities.

ART. 4. The Ambassador of the Queen of England, and all his suite, are authorized, at their convenience, to go to and fro, to receive and send out their dispatches, baggage, or boxes, nor may any one take on himself to open them. Dispatches may be forwarded by any part of the coast without distinction, and the messengers specially sent with them shall have the same protection and assistance as the post-couriers of the Chinese Empire. All expenses whatsoever incurred by the Ambassador of the Queen of England shall be defrayed by England. China has no concern with these. Finally, in respect of the advantages the States of the West have agreed that officers of this class are legally entitled to, the same rule shall be followed in every way.

ART. 5. The Emperor of China will select an officer from among the Cabinet Ministers or Presidents to correspond and have interviews with the Queen of England's Ambassador. In all business they transact together the forms of their intercourse shall be equal.

ART. 6. The above are the advantages (or privileges) which it is agreed shall be conceded by the Emperor of China. Should His Majesty hereafter send a Representative Minister on a mission to England, the Queen of England similarly agrees that he shall enjoy the same privileges.

ART. 7. The Queen of England, as she shall consider the trade of the different ports to require them, will appoint Consuls. In the interval between [illegible] and the Chinese authorities, the English (Consuls) shall have exactly the same advantages and privileges that the Consuls of the most favored nations may have. Consuls and Acting Consuls are equal [illegible] Vice-Consuls and Interpreters, with a Prefect, [illegible] may require, they shall vest each other with their ranks. In their official intercourse, on the footing of equality, the forms used shall be those of equality.

ART. 8. The doctrine of Jesus, and the doctrine of the Lord of Heaven, teach the practice of virtue and the treatment of others as ourselves. Henceforth converts or professors of it shall one and all be protected. No one peaceably following his calling without offending against the laws shall be in the least oppressed or hindered by the Chinese authorities.

ART. 9. British subjects are allowed to proceed to every place in the interior, with passports, either for amusement or to trade. The passport will be issued by their consuls and stamped by the local authorities. When passing through any locality, if they are desired to produce it (they must hand it up for inspection. It is to be observed that they will be allowed to go on. There must be no obstruction to their hiring vessels or people to carry their merchandise or baggage. If they have no passport, if that they have is irregular, or if they commit any offence against the law, they are to be sent to the Consul nearest at hand to be punished. On their way to him they may be kept in custody, but not be ill-treated. Persons going out on excursions from the ports open to trade, so long as they are within 100 li for a period of not more than five days, need not apply for a passport. Seamen and persons belonging to ships do not come under this rule. The local mandarins and the consuls will together draw up regulations for the purpose of keeping them in proper order. As to Nankin and other places which are rebel positions, on the recapture of these, passports shall be given to them.

ART. 10. British merchant vessels may trade at every port throughout the length of the Long River (Yang-tsze-keang.) But as there are rebels in all parts of the stream, upper and lower, with the exception of Chin-kiang, which shall be opened as a port of trade in one year from this time—(so port shall be now opened.) As peace is restored to the country, the Ambassador of the Queen of England shall consult with the Cabinet Minister or President appointed by the Emperor of China, and shall select ports, not exceeding three, between Han-kow and the sea, which shall be allowed to become marts of trade as which British ships may discharge imports and load with exports.

ART. 11. Besides Canton, Fuhchow, Amoy, Ningpo, and Shanghae, the five places open to trade by the old treaty of Nankin, British merchants are henceforth at liberty to buy and sell of whom they will, and to bring their ships and merchandise at any time, to and fro, at the cities and ports of Newchwang, Tangchow, Taiwan, Chaouchow (and Kemngchow. As respects their freedom to live in hire houses to buy dwellings, to rent land, to build churches, hospitals, cemeteries, and any other advantages or exemptions, these are all exactly the same as at the five ports open to trade.

ART. 12. If British subjects at the different ports or elsewhere desire to rent ground, build houses, open warehouses, churches, hospitals, in all cases the agreement will be made according to the rate prevailing among the people. There must be no coercion (or extortion) on either side.

ART. 13. British subjects may, at their pleasure, hire any description of Chinese to assist them in any lawful service or profession. The Chinese authorities will not restrict or interfere with them in any way.

ART. 14. For their excursion and movements to and fro, or for the discharge or shipment of goods, is at the option of the British merchants to hire small vessels for themselves without distinction of kinds. The rate of hire paid for these is to be arranged by the British merchant with the boat people; there is to be no official agency in the matter, nor any limit as to the number of vessels so employed, nor any monopoly of vessels or porterage. But any smuggling will, on discovery, be visited on the offender as the law requires.

ART. 15. In all cases between persons subject to the British Government, the British Government will examine into and dispose of the case, whether it concerns persons or property.

ART. 16. British subjects committing offences will in all cases be punished by the British Government. Chinese subjects guilty of insulting, maltreating, or seriously injuring British subjects, will in all cases be dealt with by the Chinese local authorities. In cases where both nations are concerned (their authorities) must confer together and decide impartially, to the manifestation of justice.

ART. 17. When British subjects have a charge to make against Chinese, they must repair in the first instance to the Consulate and hand in their representation, (or petition.) The Consul must immediately inquire into it to the bottom. He will first recommend a peaceful arrangement to prevent litigation. If a Chinese subject go to the Consul to make a charge against British subjects, it will be in like manner his duty to recommend a peaceful settlement. If there be in the matter something that cannot be amicably settled as he recommends, the case must be investigated and equitably decided by the Chinese Mandarin and the Consul together.

ART. 18. The Chinese authorities must at all times exert themselves to protect British subjects, so that their persons and houses (or families) shall have perfect security. If they be subjected to insult or outrage, or if their houses be burned by lawless vagabonds, or if they be robbed, the local authorities will at once take steps, and will send military and police to enforce order, and will punish the incendiaries, robbers, and other vagabonds, with the utmost severity of the law.

ART. 19. If piracy be committed on British ships in the seas within the jurisdiction of China, the local authorities, as soon as they are informed of it, will take steps to pursue, arrest and punish. The stolen goods recovered are to be handed to the consul to be restored to the owner.

ART. 20. If British vessels are wrecked or stranded on the Chinese coast, or driven into port by stress of weather, the local authorities, on finding it out, will at once take steps to insure the relief, (of the shipwrecked people,) and will escort them to the nearest consul. Thus will friendly feeling be made manifest.

ART. 21. If Chinese subjects offending against the law fly to Hong Kong, or secrete themselves on board of English ships there, and the Chinese authorities write, the British authorities shall make strict search for, and arrest them; and on its being ascertained that they really are criminals, they shall be surrendered. At the ports of trade, if Chinese criminals secrete themselves in British ships or houses, as soon as the Chinese authorities write, the Consul is to surrender them; they must not be concealed or harbored.

ART. 22. If Chinese subjects do not pay their debts to British subjects, and abscond, the Chinese authorities must make search for them in earnest, and apprehend them and recover payment. If Englishmen indebted to Chinese abscond, the British authorities will proceed in the same way.

ART. 23. Chinese getting into debt when trading in Hong Kong, will be dealt with by the British authorities of Hong Kong. If a debtor escape to China, the Consul shall communicate with the Chinese authorities, and these must not fail to make a strict search for him, and if he indeed have property and is able to pay the debts, must recover the sum total of his debt, dealing equitably.

ART. 24. The duties to be paid by British merchants on goods landed or discharged (shipped?) shall be according to the amount fixed by the tariff. In short, there must be no distinctions that shall cause them to pay more and any other nation to pay less. Thus will impartiality be made manifest and partiality avoided.

ART. 25. The time for payment of duties is on imports when they are landed, and on exports when they are shipped.

ART. 26. The amount of duties leviable on imports and exports as decided by Article 10 of the treaty of Nankin was estimated generally as an ad valorem impost of 5 per cent., which was considered fair. In process of time many descriptions of goods enumerated in the treaty (tariff?) fell in price, but the fixed amount of duties remained unchanged. It following that the tariff which was fair when it was established is now comparatively speaking onerous, it is now proposed to revise the old tariff, and it is agreed that as soon as this treaty has been signed the Emperor of China shall be applied to to send a high officer of the Board of Revenue to proceed at once to Shanghae to consult with a British officer, and come to an immediate decision, so that as soon as this treaty has been approved by the Emperor, the new regulations may come into operation.

ART. 27. If in time to come either of the two governments should wish to revise the treaty now fixed, and the articles relating to trade, the term is ten years. Six months' notice must be given of a consultation for the purpose of making changes. If neither party gives notice of any change the duties will continue to be collected at the same rate as before, for another ten years, when they may again be changed. Hereafter this periodical revision will be adopted for evermore without cessation.

ART. 28. It was laid down in the 10th article of the treaty of Nankin that "when British merchandise shall have paid its duties it may be conveyed by Chinese merchants throughout the empire on paying a further amount as transit duties which shall not exceed — per cent. on the tariff value of such goods;" as it is recorded. Up to the present time it has been impossible to ascertain the exact amount of duties levied at the subordinate Custom-houses. British merchants continually allege that when goods are going from such a part of the interior to such a port, or from such a port to such a part of the interior, the subordinate Custom-houses, constantly establishing fresh regulations (or, tariff,) levy what they please under the name of duties. This being a real injury to trade, it is now agreed that, within four months from the conclusion of the treaty, the Consuls, whether at the ports now open or hereafter at any new ports opened, shall write officially to the collector of customs, who in reply shall inform him what the real amount of transit dues leviable in the country passed through is, and a notice shall be issued to enable Chinese and English merchants both to know the whole truth. But if an English merchant desiring to carry goods bought in the interior to a port to ship, or desires to carry foreign goods from a port into the interior, prefer to make one payment of duties to avoid the trouble and frequency of paying at each of the subordinate custom-houses, he may do so. This single levy will be made, on native produce, at the first subordinate custom-house passed on the road; on foreign goods, at the port; and a certificate will be given him, on production of which no additional duty shall be levied at any other subordinate custom-house in the Empire. The amount shall be computed in general at the rate of 2½ per cent. ad valorem. The amount for different articles shall be fixed when the officers sent to Shanghae meet to revise the tariff. This rule is only to prevent the sundry deductions made at the subordinate custom-houses. The tariff duties will be paid as before at the ports. The two rules in no way clash with one another.

ART. 29. The lonnage dues paid by British merchant-vessels of above 150 tons shall be four mace per ton. Any master of a vessel desiring to go to one of the other ports of trade, or to Hong Kong, shall represent this to the Collector of Customs, who shall issue a special certification. For four months from that date no tonnage dues need be charged this vessel if she go into any of the ports; that she may be saved from double payment.

ART. 30. When a British merchant-vessel comes to a port, if she has not opened her hold an I desires to go elsewhere, she need pay no tonnage dues if she goes out of port within four days. But if she stay with these issued by the board to the Canton Custom-house, will be presented to the Consul at each port for the sake of uniformity.

[illegible]

ART. 35. British vessels desiring to enter any port are at liberty to hire pilots; when their duties are all paid, they may also hire pilots to conduct them out of port.

ART. 36. Just as British vessels approach a port, the Collector of Customs will send an officer or a mandarin to keep watch. He may stay, as he likes, on board the British vessel or his own boat. His expenses must be issued by the Custom-house; he must not privily take anything from the captain or consignee of the vessel. If he be discovered taking anything, he shall be punished in proportion to the amount he has received.

ART. 37. When a British vessel has entered the port, within one day's time her captain shall take her register and manifest and hand them in to the officer who, on the following day, will communicate to the collector the vessel's name, tonnage and cargo, that he may have the means of search and identification. If the term has expired, and the captain of the vessel has not reported, the Consul will fine him five mace a day, but the whole amount of the fine cannot exceed 200. In the vessel's manifest must be clearly set down the goods she has on board. For omissions or false statements the captain is liable to be fined 500. If there be errors of the pen, and he corrects them within the day he hands up the manifest, it will be proper not to fine him.

ART. 38. When the collector has received the Consul's detailed representation he shall forthwith issue a permit to open the hold. If the captain, not having received the permit to open the hatches, presumes to ship (land?) merchandise, he shall be fined 500, and the whole of the goods shall be confiscated.

ART. 39. British merchants landing or shipping goods must, in all cases, first receive the Collector of Customs' permit. If they disobey, the whole of the goods will be confiscated.

ART. 40. No vessel is permitted to tranship goods privately; (or without permission.) If there are goods to be transhipped a permit must first be obtained from the office of the Collector of Customs, and it will then be lawful to tranship them. If this is disobeyed, the whole of the goods will be confiscated.

ART. 41. When a vessel has paid all her duties it is then lawful to issue to her the red permit (grand chop). The Consul, having received the red permit, will give back the ship's register and other paper, and allow her to go out of port.

ART. 42. To come to what the tariff lays down about duties to be levied at seaforts, if the Custom-house people examining the goods cannot agree with the British merchant about the value, then each must invite two or three merchants to inspect the goods, and if there be among them any willing to give so much for the goods, the highest offer shall be considered the value of the goods; that so the duties may not be unfairly levied on them.

ART. 43. The payment of all duties being in reality calculated on weight, the tare, packing, and other matters is deducted, and the actual net weight made the rule. To come to taking the tare of goods of a chest of tea, for instance. If the Custom-house people do not take the same view as the English merchant, let the Custom-house officer choose so many out of a hundred chests, and let the British merchant choose so many chests, and weigh one with the casing: then to estimate the weight of the casing, take away the casing and calculate it, and they will attain the true weight of every chest. In other goods having packing or casing, samples can be taken in the same way. If the dispute be not then settled the British merchant can go to the consul and report the circumstances, and the Consul will communicate them to the collector of Customs, and consult and make arrangements with him. But representation must be made within the day. If later, then no arrangement can be made. Goods about which there is a discussion still unsettled the collector of customs will delay to enter in his books, to avoid the difficulty of making alterations subsequently. He must wait till an equitable decision is given; then he will enter them.

ART. 44. British merchants' goods that have suffered from moisture so that their value is diminished, are entitled to a reduction of duty according to value. If the British Government (merchant?) cannot agree with the custom-house officer about the price, the same arrangement must be made as in the article relating to duties ad valorem.

ART. 45. British subjects wishing to take goods that have come into port, and paid duties to another port for sale, must make a clear statement to the Consul, who must pass it on to the collector of customs, who will depute an officer to make inspection. If indeed there be the original package and the original goods found to correspond with the entry, and there has been no opening, moving, deduction or change, then the amount shall be entered on a certificate which shall be issued to the merchant to hold. At the same time an official letter shall be written to the custom-house at the other port, to see that all is right. When the said vessel enters the port inspection shall be made. If everything corresponds, permission will be given to open the hatches and sell the goods without their paying any more duties. If any fraud or smuggling is discovered, the goods will be confiscated. If it be desired to take the said goods to a foreign country, representation must be made in the same way to the collector of customs, that he may make inspection and issue a certificate to be kept. On a subsequent date this can be used as proof of a payment of duty for imports or exports without distinction. If it be desired to take grain grown in foreign countries, which has been brought into port, but has not been landed, to another place, no hindrance shall be opposed.

ART. 46. At the different ports of China the authorities who collect the duties, in their measures for strictly guarding against smuggling, are authorized to consider what is essential, and from time to time to adopt whatever measures are required; that abuse may be prevented.

ART. 47. British vessels are only authorized to trade at the ports opened to trade by the treaty. If they go to any part of the coast and clandestinely buy and sell, ship and cargo will be confiscated.

ART. 48. If British merchant vessels are concerned in smuggling, the goods no matter of what kind of value shall all be confiscated. Besides this, as soon as the vessel's accounts are closed she can be peremptorily sent away, and not allowed to trade.

ART. 49. All fines paid by British subjects as indicated in this treaty, and all ships or goods confiscated, go by rights to the Chinese Government to receive and dispose of.

ART. 50. Henceforward all official letters of the British Government will be written in the English character. For the present, the Chinese text will still accompany the other. When the students appointed by the Chinese Government have learned English writing and the English language thoroughly, no Chinese text will be sent. Henceforth in all disputes that arise about expressions in documents the British Government will always look upon the English text as the true meaning. The Chinese and English of the treaty now concluded, having been carefully compared, and being without error, will also come under this rule.

ART. 51. Henceforward in no description of public document, whether in the capital or outside it, is the character I, barbarian, to be used in speaking of the British Government or people.

ART. 52. British men-of-war having no unfriendly intention, or pursuing pirates, may come into any port of China whatsoever. In all that regards buying and obtaining food and water, and repairing ships, the local authorities will assist them well. The officers on board the ships and the Chinese authorities will meet each other as equals having intercourse.

ART. 53. Piracy being constantly committed on the seas of China, the Governments of China and Great Britain, beholding the injury it has done merchants, natives and foreign, agree to devise measures together for its suppression.

ART. 54. Whatever, under the treaties agreed to in former years, the British authorities and people were entitled to, in the way of advantage to be gained or exemption from injury, is still retained. They do not lose it. If any other nation hereafter receives additional favor, the British nation will certainly enjoy the same.

ART. 55. The Queen of England, desiring to maintain friendly feeling forever, consents to make a separate article regarding the money required in compensation for loss, and the expenses of the Canton affair, as to how this shall be arranged. It shall be of equal force with the other articles in the treaty.

ART. 56. When this treaty is concluded, as soon as it has been ratified by the signature of the sovereigns of the two Governments, within the term of one year, each will send a minister to meet and exchange (the treaties) in the capital of the Emperor of China. At present, the ministers of the Emperor of China and the Queen of England seal it beforehand in token of its validity. The 15th day of the 8th moon of the Chinese year Wee-wee, the 26th day of the 6th moon of the English year 1858.

On the 22d day of the 5th moon of the 8th year of Hienfung, an imperial edict was received: "Kwei-Liang and others before presented for us to behold, copies of the different nations' treaties. Kwei-Liang and others have concluded them and put their seal to them. Now, Kwei-Liang and others memorialize, saying that the different nations desire to receive imperial assent that they may have confidence in it. In all the treaties presented to us by the said ministers, two, from the English and French, and the two from the Russians and Americans, we assent entirely to what is proposed. Let everything be at once arranged according to this. Respect this."

The Niagara and her Slave Cargo.

To the Editor of the London Times:

SIR: The United States steam-frigate Niagara, Captain CRAVEN, arrived at this port yesterday, en route for Monrovia, with the Africans recently captured by the United States brig Dolphin from the slave brig Echo. After coaling she proceeds at once to her destination. I have been kindly permitted to see a private letter from Dr. RANKIN, who is the special agent of the Government of the United States at Liberia, in which he says:

"We have had a difficult and somewhat unusual service to perform with our fine frigate, in restoring a few unfortunate Africans to their own land. The Niagara proceeded to Charleston, where I joined her on the 21st of September. I had gone on Christmas by the direction of the Government, and on the Africans there to receive these neroes and deliver them officially to the American Colonization Society, with which the President had contracted for their reception, education and support for one year. The poor fellows were really quite [illegible] when we landed at Fort Sumter, and were taken through the city, where they were necessarily greatly exposed and badly fed. They are lately the shell-fish which

[illegible]

St. Thomas, Oct. 23. ROYAL MAIL.

Brazil and the Argentine.

Our dates from Rio Janeiro are to October 16, and from Buenos Ayres to Sept. 30.

At Rio, the failure of the firm of Pereira, Sar & Co., a branch of a London house, took place on the 8th of October.

A bill which had caused much angry discussion passed the Chamber of Representatives, ceding the public lands granted to indigent emigrants to the jurisdiction of General Rosas. At the request of the Minister of Government, one of the articles was reconsidered, and the clause conceding lands that had passed into third hands was rejected, as it had originally appeared in the draft submitted by the Committee of Legislation.

The revolt of the division Emeilio de Gotiere, in its march towards the southern frontier, wore at first a serious aspect; but the energetic and exemplary way in which it has been put down and the ringleaders punished, is calculated to have a stimulating effect on the military element, strengthening rather than detracting the Administration, though in itself a disagreeable event. Of the 51 that revolted 37 have been captured, and the two ringleaders shot in the summary way prescribed by the Military Code.

On the arrival of Mr. Carlos Calvo from Paris, says the Packet, it was current at Buenos Ayres for several days that he had brought a new proposition of negotiation. If true this thought has been managed with profound secrecy; for up to this date nothing has transpired, and the rumors have gradually died away and been forgotten.

Liverpool Market.

LIVERPOOL, Thursday, Nov. 4, 1858.

Cotton—The Canada's advices were taken by the public on Monday morning, when it was generally known that she had [illegible] from American waters to-until; that with the accredited reception for the time of the year, Southern ports, and consequent increase in crop estimates, some easing in high rates of [illegible] caused about a penny, the demand being very general. Under these circumstances, market immediately became generally depressed, forced sales were made at very low prices, Middling Orleans having been sold at 6¾d., and even as low as 6¼d. in some cases. The market closed more dull, and, with a better demand, was yesterday partially recovered from their extreme depression, closing, however, fully ⅛d. under the quotations of this day week. The Manchester market is in deep sympathy with this, and prices have declined ⅛d. @ ¼d. ⅝ lb. on Yarns, and 1½d. on Goods.

We quote:

[illegible]

Ord. to good Ord. [illegible]

Low Mid to Mid. [illegible]

G. Mid. to Mid. fr. [illegible]

Sales for the week [illegible]

[illegible] were taken for export, and [illegible]

To-day there were [illegible] bales—the market quietly.

[illegible]

Stock of Am. in Liverpool [illegible]

Stock of all kinds [illegible]

Stock in United Kingdom [illegible]

Imports into Gt. Kingdom [illegible]

Sales for consumption [illegible]

Sales for exportation [illegible]

Total sales [illegible]

Average weekly consumption [illegible]

Taken for consumption [illegible]

Taken for exportation [illegible]

Total taken [illegible]

Stock in Manchester on Oct. 28.

[illegible]

We quote Kentucky Leaf 22d @ 44d. for [illegible] ord. for Pale, and 7½@8d. for [illegible]

Stocks at Liverpool on Oct. 28.

[illegible]

Sugar—There has been a fair business in this article, without any improvement in prices. The supplies in the city principal European ports on the 1st were 140,000 tons, against [illegible]

Rice—The market continues very dull, and the business passing during the week has been of a [illegible] character. The supplies in the principal European ports on the 1st were [illegible]

Provisions—The market continues very dull, and the business passing during the week has been of a [illegible] character. The suppl

SUPERIOR COURT—Nov. 22.

Before Judge Thompson.

John B. Dubron and others vs. John Childs and others.—In this case tried yesterday, the Jury brought in a sealed verdict for the plaintiff, damages $6,182 62.

SUPERIOR COURT—FRIDAY, Nov. 19.

Before Judge Thompson and a Jury.

Ebenezer Palmer vs. The New-York Floating Dry-Dock Company.—In 1851 the steamship Ohio was [illegible] at the dry-dock. Mr. Palmer, the plaintiff, a ship-carpenter, was employed upon the repairs of the vessel, by Messrs. [illegible], who had a contract for the work upon her. While so engaged, the [illegible] gave way, fell with him and others upon it, and precipitated him a distance of many feet. He sustained thereby serious injury internally, and in his legs and arms, leaving the use of his leg [illegible] ever since been a disabled man. This action was brought to recover damages for the injuries sustained. It was once before tried, when the Jury failed to agree. The damages are laid at $20,000.

The plaintiff claims that the scaffolding fell either from defects in construction or neglect in properly maintaining it, for which the defendants are answerable. It was supported by standards kept by iron bolts driven in the wood merely, and not clinched, or secured so as not to draw out.

Upon the close of the plaintiff's case, counsel for defendants moved to dismiss the complaint, on the ground that the facts as proved had not made out a cause of action. That the plaintiff was not in the employ of the defendants, but of the contractors for the work, Messrs. [illegible] Luker. That, therefore, there was no privity of contracts, as between the plaintiff and defendants, and the latter were not liable to damages to the plaintiff. That there was no general public duty resting on the defendants which could render them liable to the plaintiff. Where an apothecary, by mistake or negligence, labels a poison as a harmless medicine, and puts it in the market as such, he becomes liable to any one injured thereby; but the rule of remote liability applies only in a case where there exists, as there, such a general duty to the public. The counsel for the defence relied upon and cites recent English cases to sustain the principle upon which their motion was founded. Counsel for the plaintiff, on the other hand, sought to show by recent cases in our courts, that a different rule prevails in this and other States, and that every one is bound by law so to use his own property that he shall not injure his neighbor thereby. He is bound so to construct or keep in repair that property, where intended for public use, not to injure others in the course of such use of it. A case just decided in our Court of Appeals, Storrs vs. The City of Utica, reviewing Hicks vs. Ferris (1 Selden R., 49), was cited on the authority of a note from the Reporter, as the case is not yet formally reported, in which it is held, that "a municipal corporation, owing to the public the duty of keeping its streets in a safe condition for travel, is liable to persons receiving injury from the neglect to keep proper lights and guards around an excavation, which it has caused to be made in the street, whether it has or has not contracted for such precautions with the persons executing the work."

The Court granted the motion, and dismissed the complaint.

Messrs. Gervis and Schuyler for the plaintiff; Messrs. Benedict and Stoughton for defendants.

Farley, Turner & Co. Reindicted—Washington Market Pronounced a Nuisance by the Grand Jury.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before City Judge Bosworth.

Saturday was the final day of the November sittings of this Court, and was devoted, as usual, to the passing of sentences and the discharge of the Grand Jury. That body handed into Court a large batch of indictments, including a reindictment of certain parties, whose names, in connection with alleged frauds upon the City Treasury, have been, of late much too frequently before the public, viz: Charles Turner, Terrence Farley, Charles McNiel, Jacob F. Oakley, W. A. Dooley and Patrick Tracy, the charge against them being that they conspired to defraud the City Treasury in the matter of regulating, cushing, &c., Fifty-fourth-street. These are the parties, it will be remembered, who were indicted for the same alleged offence by the Grand Jury of the October term, when they were held to bail by Recorder Barnard in the sum of $2,500 each. On motion of counsel, Judge Russell, a few days since, quashed the indictment, on the ground, as he viewed it, of some informality. To make matters as sure as, in the present mode of dealing with indictments, might be presumed to be possible, the Grand Jury of the term which has just expired, went to work and indicted them again, avoiding the so-called informality which Judge Russell discovered in the previous indictment. What the result will now be, we must wait to see. Meantime the indicted and reindicted parties will appear at Judge Russell's office this morning, for him to fix the amount of bail.

The Grand Jury, previous to their discharge on Saturday, made the following presentment:

"The Grand Jury for the City and County of New-York, in the discharge of their duty, have had the condition of Washington Market, and the streets and bulkheads adjacent thereto, under their consideration, and they present the same as a nuisance, detrimental to the public health and the interests of the City.

JOHN S. BUSSING, Foreman.

EDWARD M. BAKER, Secretary.

Saturday, Nov. 19, 1859.

Nancy Wood was brought to the bar for sentence. She was the colored woman convicted, on Wednesday, of arson in the second degree. The Judge gave her the most lenient sentence allowed by law, ten years and six months in the State Prison.

Sarah Johnson's case was brought forward. She was tried, it will be remembered, in the October term, and general character. During the interval it has been before Recorder Barnard, for grand larceny—shoplifting, in fact. It was said she was respectable, first offence, &c., and the Recorder deferred sentencing her till some inquiry could be made as to her antecedents shown that she is the wife of George Middleton, alias Styker, a man, it is averred, of no very good repute in the sporting world. Taking this into account, Judge Russell—at the instance of the District-Attorney, Mr. Bliss—suspended sentence, setting Mrs. Johnson, alias Middleton, alias Styker, at liberty on condition that she leaves the State. If caught anywhere within its borders again, she is to go to the State Prison.

For stabbing Henry McArdle, a mack-looking, under-sized Irishman named Patrick Keten was sentenced to 60 days in the State Prison. He pleaded guilty, but numerous affidavits read by his counsel, Ex-Judge Phillips, to the Court, proved that he had acted in defence of his wife, who was being subjected to a brutal assault, and that he was more to be pitied than punished. The Court adjourned sine die.

MARKET REPORTS.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Nov. 20, 1859—6 P. M.

The reported receipts of the leading kinds of Produce, since noon of yesterday, have been as follows:

	Hudson River	Erie	Southern
	Boats.	R'ds.	Boats.	Total.
Ashes, bbls	75	66	———	141
Flour, bbls	14,972	4,062	12,202	31,236
Wheat, bushels	8,476	307	———	8,073
Corn, bushels	2,189	———	———	2,189
Malt, bushels	———	668	———	668
Provisions, pkgs	266	2,420	752	3,440
Whisky, bbls	166	316	120	602

ASHES—Are dull and heavy. Pots, $5 87½@$5 93; Pearls, $6 [illegible] @ 100 lbs. Stock in the Inspection Warehouse this morning, 1,269 bbls.—including 1,128 bbls. Pots and 134 bbls. Pearls.

COFFEE—The sales to-day embraced 50 bags Maracaibo at 11½c.; 709 bags Rio at 9½c.@10½c.; and 200 bags St. Domingo on terms not ascertained.

COTTON—Sales were reported to-day of 2,500 bales at a shade firmer prices, closing with Middling Uplands at 11 3-16c. for Drayton at 11¼c.; and other sales and quotations as below. B.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The market is quite depressed for State and Western Flour. Holders are eager to sell and are disposed to make some concession from quotations of late not wanted by the home trade. The demand, however, is restricted, also 3,000 bbls.

Unsound and rejected State, ⅌ bbl	$4 25@$4 15
Standard Superfine State	4 25@4 35
Standard Extra State	4 37½@4 50
Superfine Western	4 25@4 35
Extra Ohio	4 40@4 50
Extra Indiana and Michigan	4 40@4 50
Extra Ohio	4 50@4 75
Fancy Genesee	5 00@5 25
Extra Genesee	5 00@5 25
Round hoop Extra Michigan	4 75@5 00

Rye Flour is steady and moderately active at declining rates, sales 450 bbls. at $4 25@$4 50 for low to choice extra. ⅌ bbl. Southern continues in moderate request, at former prices; sales 1,000 bbls. at $5 10@$5 30 for mixed and straight brands, and $5 37½@$5 75 for low fancy to some choice extra brands. ⅌ bbl. Rye Flour is inactive at $3 [illegible] ⅌ for fine to superfine. ⅌ bbl. Corn Meal is dull and lower, at $2 75@$3 25 for Jersey, and $3 12½@$3 25 for Brandywine. ⅌ bbl.

GRAIN—Wheat is heavy, and prices are lower, [illegible] that holders are more anxious to sell, and the trade to reduce their claims materially. The demand for shipment is quite limited, however. Sales have been reported since our last of 15,000 bushels, including choice White Canadas at $1 31; Canada Club, at $1 [illegible]; Amber Red Western, at $1 [illegible]; and Western at $1 [illegible]; choice White Kentucky, part at $1 [illegible]; ordinary White Southern at $1 [illegible], and ordinary to good Red do. at $1 15@$1 [illegible] ⅌ bushel. Corn is dull and prices are somewhat [illegible]

LAW REPORTS.

COURT CALENDAR—Monday.

SUPREME COURT—Part 1—Nos. 575, 15, 541, [illegible]

SUPREME COURT—Chambers, Nov. 20.

[illegible]

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM—Nov. 20.

[illegible]

Jonathan Pool, H. B. M. Secretary of State vs. Sutton Elliot.—The defendant in this case is not entitled to be discharged from arrest upon the grounds argued before us on the appeal; and the order of the special term, which denied the motion, should be affirmed with costs.

New-York and Erie Railroad Company vs. James Gilchrist.—Judgment of the special term reversed, and a new trial granted. Costs to abide the event.

The Mercantile Mutual Insurance Company vs. The State Mutual Fire and Marine Insurance Company of Pennsylvania.—Judgment appealed from affirmed with costs.

SUPERIOR COURT—Nov. 22.

Before Judge Thompson.

John B. Dubron and others vs. John Childs and others.—In this case tried yesterday, the Jury brought in a sealed verdict for the plaintiff, damages $6,182 62.

SUPERIOR COURT—FRIDAY, Nov. 19.

Before Judge Thompson and a Jury.

Ebenezer Palmer vs. The New-York Floating Dry-Dock Company.—In 1851 the steamship Ohio was [illegible] at the dry-dock. Mr. Palmer, the plaintiff, a ship-carpenter, was employed upon the repairs of the vessel, by Messrs. [illegible], who had a contract for the work upon her. While so engaged, the [illegible] gave way, fell with him and others upon it, and precipitated him a distance of many feet. He sustained thereby serious injury internally, and in his legs and arms, leaving the use of his leg [illegible] ever since been a disabled man. This action was brought to recover damages for the injuries sustained. It was once before tried, when the Jury failed to agree. The damages are laid at $20,000.

The plaintiff claims that the scaffolding fell either from defects in construction or neglect in properly maintaining it, for which the defendants are answerable. It was supported by standards kept by iron bolts driven in the wood merely, and not clinched, or secured so as not to draw out.

Upon the close of the plaintiff's case, counsel for defendants moved to dismiss the complaint, on the ground that the facts as proved had not made out a cause of action. That the plaintiff was not in the employ of the defendants, but of the contractors for the work, Messrs. [illegible] Luker. That, therefore, there was no privity of contracts, as between the plaintiff and defendants, and the latter were not liable to damages to the plaintiff. That there was no general public duty resting on the defendants which could render them liable to the plaintiff. Where an apothecary, by mistake or negligence, labels a poison as a harmless medicine, and puts it in the market as such, he becomes liable to any one injured thereby; but the rule of remote liability applies only in a case where there exists, as there, such a general duty to the public. The counsel for the defence relied upon and cites recent English cases to sustain the principle upon which their motion was founded. Counsel for the plaintiff, on the other hand, sought to show by recent cases in our courts, that a different rule prevails in this and other States, and that every one is bound by law so to use his own property that he shall not injure his neighbor thereby. He is bound so to construct or keep in repair that property, where intended for public use, not to injure others in the course of such use of it. A case just decided in our Court of Appeals, Storrs vs. The City of Utica, reviewing Hicks vs. Ferris (1 Selden R., 49), was cited on the authority of a note from the Reporter, as the case is not yet formally reported, in which it is held, that "a municipal corporation, owing to the public the duty of keeping its streets in a safe condition for travel, is liable to persons receiving injury from the neglect to keep proper lights and guards around an excavation, which it has caused to be made in the street, whether it has or has not contracted for such precautions with the persons executing the work."

The Court granted the motion, and dismissed the complaint.

Messrs. Gervis and Schuyler for the plaintiff; Messrs. Benedict and Stoughton for defendants.

Farley, Turner & Co. Reindicted—Washington Market Pronounced a Nuisance by the Grand Jury.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before City Judge Bosworth.

Saturday was the final day of the November sittings of this Court, and was devoted, as usual, to the passing of sentences and the discharge of the Grand Jury. That body handed into Court a large batch of indictments, including a reindictment of certain parties, whose names, in connection with alleged frauds upon the City Treasury, have been, of late much too frequently before the public, viz: Charles Turner, Terrence Farley, Charles McNiel, Jacob F. Oakley, W. A. Dooley and Patrick Tracy, the charge against them being that they conspired to defraud the City Treasury in the matter of regulating, cushing, &c., Fifty-fourth-street. These are the parties, it will be remembered, who were indicted for the same alleged offence by the Grand Jury of the October term, when they were held to bail by Recorder Barnard in the sum of $2,500 each. On motion of counsel, Judge Russell, a few days since, quashed the indictment, on the ground, as he viewed it, of some informality. To make matters as sure as, in the present mode of dealing with indictments, might be presumed to be possible, the Grand Jury of the term which has just expired, went to work and indicted them again, avoiding the so-called informality which Judge Russell discovered in the previous indictment. What the result will now be, we must wait to see. Meantime the indicted and reindicted parties will appear at Judge Russell's office this morning, for him to fix the amount of bail.

The Grand Jury, previous to their discharge on Saturday, made the following presentment:

"The Grand Jury for the City and County of New-York, in the discharge of their duty, have had the condition of Washington Market, and the streets and bulkheads adjacent thereto, under their consideration, and they present the same as a nuisance, detrimental to the public health and the interests of the City.

JOHN S. BUSSING, Foreman.

EDWARD M. BAKER, Secretary.

Saturday, Nov. 19, 1859.

Nancy Wood was brought to the bar for sentence. She was the colored woman convicted, on Wednesday, of arson in the second degree. The Judge gave her the most lenient sentence allowed by law, ten years and six months in the State Prison.

Sarah Johnson's case was brought forward. She was tried, it will be remembered, in the October term, and general character. During the interval it has been before Recorder Barnard, for grand larceny—shoplifting, in fact. It was said she was respectable, first offence, &c., and the Recorder deferred sentencing her till some inquiry could be made as to her antecedents shown that she is the wife of George Middleton, alias Styker, a man, it is averred, of no very good repute in the sporting world. Taking this into account, Judge Russell—at the instance of the District-Attorney, Mr. Bliss—suspended sentence, setting Mrs. Johnson, alias Middleton, alias Styker, at liberty on condition that she leaves the State. If caught anywhere within its borders again, she is to go to the State Prison.

For stabbing Henry McArdle, a mack-looking, under-sized Irishman named Patrick Keten was sentenced to 60 days in the State Prison. He pleaded guilty, but numerous affidavits read by his counsel, Ex-Judge Phillips, to the Court, proved that he had acted in defence of his wife, who was being subjected to a brutal assault, and that he was more to be pitied than punished. The Court adjourned sine die.

MARKET REPORTS.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Nov. 20, 1859—6 P. M.

The reported receipts of the leading kinds of Produce, since noon of yesterday, have been as follows:

	Hudson River	Erie	Southern
	Boats.	R'ds.	Boats.	Total.
Ashes, bbls	75	66	———	141
Flour, bbls	14,972	4,062	12,202	31,236
Wheat, bushels	8,476	307	———	8,073
Corn, bushels	2,189	———	———	2,189
Malt, bushels	———	668	———	668
Provisions, pkgs	266	2,420	752	3,440
Whisky, bbls	166	316	120	602

ASHES—Are dull and heavy. Pots, $5 87½@$5 93; Pearls, $6 [illegible] @ 100 lbs. Stock in the Inspection Warehouse this morning, 1,269 bbls.—including 1,128 bbls. Pots and 134 bbls. Pearls.

COFFEE—The sales to-day embraced 50 bags Maracaibo at 11½c.; 709 bags Rio at 9½c.@10½c.; and 200 bags St. Domingo on terms not ascertained.

COTTON—Sales were reported to-day of 2,500 bales at a shade firmer prices, closing with Middling Uplands at 11 3-16c. for Drayton at 11¼c.; and other sales and quotations as below. B.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The market is quite depressed for State and Western Flour. Holders are eager to sell and are disposed to make some concession from quotations of late not wanted by the home trade. The demand, however, is restricted, also 3,000 bbls.

Unsound and rejected State, ⅌ bbl	$4 25@$4 15
Standard Superfine State	4 25@4 35
Standard Extra State	4 37½@4 50
Superfine Western	4 25@4 35
Extra Ohio	4 40@4 50
Extra Indiana and Michigan	4 40@4 50
Extra Ohio	4 50@4 75
Fancy Genesee	5 00@5 25
Extra Genesee	5 00@5 25
Round hoop Extra Michigan	4 75@5 00

Rye Flour is steady and moderately active at declining rates, sales 450 bbls. at $4 25@$4 50 for low to choice extra. ⅌ bbl. Southern continues in moderate request, at former prices; sales 1,000 bbls. at $5 10@$5 30 for mixed and straight brands, and $5 37½@$5 75 for low fancy to some choice extra brands. ⅌ bbl. Rye Flour is inactive at $3 [illegible] ⅌ for fine to superfine. ⅌ bbl. Corn Meal is dull and lower, at $2 75@$3 25 for Jersey, and $3 12½@$3 25 for Brandywine. ⅌ bbl.

GRAIN—Wheat is heavy, and prices are lower, [illegible] that holders are more anxious to sell, and the trade to reduce their claims materially. The demand for shipment is quite limited, however. Sales have been reported since our last of 15,000 bushels, including choice White Canadas at $1 31; Canada Club, at $1 [illegible]; Amber Red Western, at $1 [illegible]; and Western at $1 [illegible]; choice White Kentucky, part at $1 [illegible]; ordinary White Southern at $1 [illegible], and ordinary to good Red do. at $1 15@$1 [illegible] ⅌ bushel. Corn is dull and prices are somewhat [illegible]

DRY GOODS.

GLOAKS, GLOAKS, GLOAKS.

CLOAKS BEING THE SPECIALITY

of our business business, we are enabled to exhibit at all times a larger, more and greater variety of CLOAKS

Than any other establishment in the United States, comprising in the great interchange

VELVET CLOAKS, in various colors, viz:
VELVET CLOAKS, plain and rich.
VELVET CLOAKS, with crochet and other adornments.
VELVET CLOAKS, IN AQUILLE and other new styles of embroidery.
VELVET CLOAKS, with Chantilly lace, the finest and richest ever imported.

Also, over
5,000 BLACK and COLORED
BEAVER CLOAKS,
In all the new shapes and styles, the majority of which are exclusive and peculiarly elegant, and at VARIOUS IN PRICE
all the styles they represent, and to move effectually PRECISELY THE SAME
we have adapted the cost of our beautiful garments to the wants of our large and increasing POPULAR TRADE.

SHAWLS. SHAWLS. SHAWLS.

In consideration of the advanced season, we charge we have reduced the balance of our stock of shawls considerably

BELOW COST PRICE
SPECIAL NOTICE.

In consequence of the numerous mistakes made by ladies who have desired to visit our establishment, but have been deterred by the similar outside appearance of other stores, we are reluctantly compelled, for the protection of ourselves and customers, to notify the public that during the Winter months our store is specially distinguishable by the

LARGE WHITE POLAR BEAR,
Which is constantly on exhibition in our four windows.
CHARLES STREET & CO.,
No. 4[illegible] Broadway,
Between Broome and Grand sts.

REDUCTIONS IN GILKS,
SHAWLS and DRESS GOODS.
In order to clear the Balance of our importation,
On Monday, Nov. 22,
At the NEW RETAIL STORE,
No. 255 Broadway,
Corner of Worth-st.
EDWARD LAMBERT & CO.

ARNOLD, CONSTABLE & CO.
Will open, on MONDAY, Nov. 22,
NEW STYLES OF EMBROIDERED HANDKERCHIEFS,
Also,
1,000 DOZEN LADIES' TAPE
BORDERED HANDKERCHIEFS,
At exceedingly low prices.
Canal, corner of Mercer.

NOS. 108 AND 110 SIXTH-AVENUE.—FAMILY DRY GOODS STORE.—C. G. HOOK respectfully informs his friends, former patrons, and the public, that he has bought the stock of merchandise and interest of Mr. W. S. Hunt in the above place, and is now offering a splendid stock of very superior goods at prices much below their value.

It is the intention of C. G. H. to continue the business in the above stores, and he will constantly replenish the stock with choice fabrics selected with care, and bought for cash in the best markets, and consists of SEASONABLE DRESS GOODS IN GREAT VARIETY, SHAWLS, HOSIERY AND EMBROIDERIES,
ENGLISH AND DOMESTIC BLANKETS,
COTTON AND LINEN SHEETING,
DAMASK TABLE CLOTHS AND NAPKINS,
TOWELINGS AND DIAPERS,
DOMESTIC GOODS OF EVERY VARIETY,
RIBBONS, BONNETS, &c.
6th-av., between 6th and 7th sts.

CHEAP WINTER DRESS GOODS. MOUSSE de Laines, Crossovers, Lustres, Poplins, Valentias, Paramattas, Cashmeres, Merinoes, &c., &c.
ALSO, A CHEAP LOT of entirely new Winter Styles POIL DE CHEVRE, a beautiful article for dresses.
1,000 pieces at 20 cents per yard, worth 31 cents.
1,000 pieces extra, at 25 cents, worth 37½ cents.
LORD & TAYLOR,
Nos. 255, 257, 259 and 261 Grand-st.,
And Nos. 47 and 49 Catharine-st.

CLOAKS, TALMAS, AND CIRCULARS.
A full assortment of Fashionable shapes, in every variety of material and trimming.
MUCH BELOW USUAL PRICES.
LORD & TAYLOR,
Nos. 255, 257, 259 and 261 Grand-st.,
And Nos. 47 and 49 Catharine-st.

FASHIONABLE SILKS AND ROBES,
Latest Paris styles in great variety; also
LOW-PRICED DRESS SILKS,
Brocades, Stripes, Bayaderes, Plaids, &c., &c.
LORD & TAYLOR,
Nos. 255, 257, 259 and 261 Grand-st.,
And Nos. 47 and 49 Catharine-st.

WINTER HOSIERY, UNDER-GARMENTS, Woolen and Linen Gloves, and Zephyr Goods in great variety.
LORD & TAYLOR,
Nos. 255, 257, 259 and 261 Catharine-st.
And Nos. 47 and 49 Catharine-st.

ARNOLD, CONSTABLE & CO.
Will open, on
MONDAY, Nov. 22,
RICH SILKS, in evening colors, suitable for balls and wedding dresses, received by the Vanderbilt.
Canal, Corner of Mercer.

CLOAKS, CLOAKS, CLOAKS,
In all the leading styles for Winter Wear,
RAGLANS, RAGLANS, RAGLANS,
In all the newest styles.
In Heavy Cloths, Castor Cloth and Beavers,
Made and trimmed in a superior manner.
HEAVY CLOTH RAGLANS, &c.,
Ten different colors, at $3, $3 50, $4 and up.
CASTOR CLOTH RAGLANS, &c.,
Seven different colors, at $4 75, $4 50, $5 and up.
RUBBER BEAVER RAGLANS, &c.,
In Brown, Tans and Black, at $5, $5 75 and $6 50.
EXTRA HEAVY FRENCH BEAVER RAGLANS, &c.,
In Olive, Brown, Fawn and Black, at $6, $7, $8 and up.
Also, CHILDREN'S RAGLANS, &c.
We will introduce several ORIGINAL STYLES this week, to which we invite the attention of the ladies. The style and finish of our garments will be found equal to any in New-York. Ladies who desire to save a few dollars in the purchase of a cloak will please give us a call before purchasing.
W. E. PEYTON,
Cloak Manufacturer,
No. 344 Bowery, near Houston-st.

AT STILL FURTHER REDUCTION!!!
Peremptory and Positive!!
Assignee's Sale.
The entire stock of the late firm of McCORMACK & SIMPSON,
No. 369 6th-av.,
Comprising
Real Lace, Embroidery,
Ribbons,
Fringes,
Dress and Cloak Trimmings,
Hosiery,
Small Wares,
&c., &c.,
Will be offered at prices unprecedentedly low.
Ladies accustomed to visit this store require no further reference to guarantee the foregoing.

SHAWLS CHEAPER THAN EVER.
LE BOUTILLIER BROTHERS will open, on Saturday,
150 STRIPED BROCHE SHAWLS,
New and Fashionable Goods,
AT HALF THE IMPORTER'S PRICES,
100 BLACK AND WHITE ALL-WOOL PLAID LONG SHAWLS,
A most desirable article, AT LESS THAN COST.
Also,
LONG BROCHE SHAWLS, BLANKET SHAWLS, &c.
ROUND CORNER MANTILLA SHAWLS,
In every variety.
No. 398 Canal-st., four doors from Broadway.

NEW LACES.
A. T. STEWART & CO. have now open a large assortment of BRUSSELS POINT, FLOUNCING, SETS EN GARNITURE,
COIFFURES, BARBES, SHAWLS, SCARFS, LACES, &c., &c.
Also,
POINT-LACE POCKET HANDKERCHIEFS,
EMBROIDERIES, &c.
Broadway, Chambers and Reade sts.

McSWEING & SNYDER,
NO. 102 CHAMBERS-ST.
Will offer the balance of their stock of SHIRTS, COLLARS, NECK-TIES, SCARFS, UNDER-GARMENTS, &c., AT WHOLESALE PRICES, FOR THREE DAYS ONLY.

A. T. STEWART & CO.
Will open on Monday, Nov. 22, a large assortment of TARLATAN AND EMBROIDERED TULLE ROBES,
For Evening Dresses.
Just received per steamer Asia.
Broadway, Chambers and Reade sts.

BLANKETS! BLANKETS!!
Just received from auction,
5 bales 12-4 all wool English Blankets, at $6 38, worth $9 a pair.
3 bales 10-4 Family Blankets, at $3 12, worth $4.
For sale by W. E. PEYTON, No. 344 Bowery.

POPULAR TRADE IN GLOVES.
A. T. STEWART & CO. will open on Monday, Nov. 22, Ladies' Real Kid and Beaver Woolen Gloves, Cloth, Light Thread, Plain-lined, &c. &c.
At 38 cents per pair.
Broadway, Chambers and Reade sts.

AT [illegible] BROADWAY,
[illegible]
A [illegible] of
SILK AND VELVET ROBES,
Which, we will [illegible] to the Fashionable Lyons, and imported expressly for their CITY RETAIL TRADE.
Also, [illegible] of Black Velvets, of [illegible] quality, and [illegible] offered.
RECEIVED PER STEAMSHIP VANDERBILT.
A. A. & CO. would respectfully call attention to their stock of Black Silks, convinced that they will be satisfied.
SUPERIOR TO ANY PREVIOUSLY OFFERED
At retail in New-York.
Also,
Their entire stock of RICH SILKS,
All of this season's importation, comprising every leading shade and style.
AT A GREAT REDUCTION ON FORMER PRICES.

SHAWLS, SHAWLS,
AT NO. 355 BROADWAY,
STRANG, ADRIANCE & CO.
With other
AT RETAIL, on MONDAY, Nov. 22,
A great variety of
STILL SHAWLS at $3, worth $5.
LONG, SQUARE, and ROUND CORNER,
ALL WOOL BLANKET SHAWLS
At $4, $5, $6 and $7, worth $6 50, $8, $9 and $12.
Together with their usual stock of RICH SHAWLS,
Unsurpassed by any in this City, all new,
MUCH UNDER REGULAR PRICES.

NOTICE TO FAMILIES
COMMENCING HOUSEKEEPING.
STRANG, ADRIANCE & CO.
Would respectfully call attention to their immense stock of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS AT RETAIL,
At low prices, viz:
BLANKETS, SHEETINGS,
DAMASKS, TOWELLINGS,
NAPKINS, DOILIES,
TABLE AND PIANO COVERS,
QUILTS,
LACE AND MUSLIN CURTAINS,
FLANNELS, LINENS, MUSLINS,
&c., &c., &c.
NO. 355 BROADWAY.

ALL WOOL PRINTED DE LAINES, at 25 cents per yard,
from auction,
OPEN AT RETAIL ON MONDAY, Nov. 22.
Together with our entire stock of RICH PRINTED DE LAINES, CASHMERES AND MERINOES,
at a great sacrifice on regular prices.
Just received, a lot of
ELEGANT ROBES DE CHAMBRE,
STRANG, ADRIANCE & CO.,
NO. 355 BROADWAY.

NO. 355 BROADWAY.
CHEAP SAXONY PLAIDS,
VALENTIAS, POPLINS, &c.
300 pieces FINE DOUBLE WIDTH SAXONY PLAIDS, at 25c.
200 pieces STRIPED AND BAYADERE CHALLY, at 12c.
400 pieces STRIPED AND BAYADERE SILK AND WOOL, at 50c.
200 pieces STRIPED AND BAYADERE SILK AND WOOL, at 30c.
500 pieces DOUBLE WIDTH SILK AND WOOL VALENTIAS,
At 62½ cents, worth $1 12 per yard, with an immense assortment of the RICHEST GOODS IMPORTED, reduced in proportion,
AT RETAIL, ON MONDAY, NOV. 22.
STRANGE, ADRIANCE & CO.

NO. 355 BROADWAY.
STRANG, ADRIANCE & CO.
would call attention to their extensive assortment of HOSIERY, UNDERGARMENTS,
GLOVES, GAUNTLETS, HANDKERCHIEFS, &c., &c.,
Open at retail, on MONDAY, Nov. 22,
AT UNUSUALLY LOW PRICES.

355 BROADWAY.
NEW LACES AND EMBROIDERIES,
For sale by Vanderbilt, open
AT RETAIL ON MONDAY, NOV. 22,
STRANG, ADRIANCE & CO.

FRENCH MERINOES FROM AUCTION
Will be offered
AT RETAIL,
AT NO. 355 BROADWAY,
On Monday, Nov. 22,
150 pieces Fine French Merino, at 62c.
200 pieces Fine French Merino, at 75c.
300 pieces Fine French Merino, at 87c.
250 pieces Fine French Merino, at 91.
STRANG, ADRIANCE & CO.

BUSINESS SUITS AT A GREAT SACRIFICE.
We will commence on Monday, Nov. 22, to sell first-rate fashionable suits at $12, the same as are sold by other houses at $20, and not by us, previously, for less than $20.
McKINLEY & McGRADE,
No. 413 Broadway, cor. Lispenard-st.

LACE CURTAINS CHEAP.
BEEKMAN & COMPANY,
No. 473 Broadway,
Have just opened
100 pairs RICH LACE CURTAINS,
AT A VERY REDUCED PRICE.

MOURNING DRY GOODS.
ARNOLD, CONSTABLE & CO. have constantly on hand a full supply of the above goods.
N. B.—Novelties by every steamer.
Canal, corner of Mercer.

BLANKETS, BLANKETS, BLANKETS, At BEEKMAN & CO.'S,
No. 473 Broadway,
An immense stock of Blankets,
Selling off cheap.

NEW CURTAIN MATERIALS,
FURNITURE COVERINGS,
LACE CURTAINS, &c.,
On Monday, Nov. 22,
PATON & CO.
Will open an entirely new assortment of Brocatelles; three and four colors,
Brocade Satin, Lampas,
Reps, Tapestries, Printed Worsteds, Chintzes.
Also, a great variety of new materials in silks and wools, for Parlor, Dining-room, Library and Chamber Curtains.
LACE AND MUSLIN CURTAINS AND CORNICES
In great variety and at reduced prices.
No. 341 Broadway.

POPULAR TRADE IN CARPETS.
A. T. STEWART & CO. have now open all the New patterns in real Axminster,
Axminster, Wilton, Velvet Tapestry,
Brussels, Three-ply, and
SUPERFINE INGRAIN CARPETINGS
Of the manufacture of JOHN CROSSLY & SONS, and others.
COCOA MATTING, OIL CLOTHS,
DRUGGETS, RUGS, MATS, &c.
Broadway, Chambers and Reade sts.

EMBROIDERIES.
A. T. STEWART & CO. will open on Monday, Nov. 22, the EMBROIDERED SETS,
At 25 c.
9,000 EMBROIDERED LINEN SLEEVES,
At 25c. each, the cheapest.
FRENCH EMBROIDERED SETS, with Pompadour Chemisettes attached, just received per steamer Asia.
Broadway, Chambers and Reade sts.

CURTAIN MATERIALS AND FURNITURE COVERINGS.
A. T. STEWART & Co. have now open an immense and more than ever offered in the City, a splendid assortment of rich Silk Damasks, Brocatelles, Damasses, Lace and Lace Curtains, with every article in the upholstery line, imported expressly for the opening of their new STORE,
Broadway, Chambers and Reade sts.

POPULAR TRADE.
A. T. STEWART & CO. will open on Monday, Nov. 22, 200 PIECES ALL-WOOL FRENCH MERINOES, Greatly below their value.
Broadway, Chambers and Reade sts.

CLOAKS! CLOAKS! CLOAKS!
RAGLANS! RAGLANS! RAGLANS!
HEAVY BEAVER, and handsome, 30 and $10
AT W. JACKSON'S MOURNING STORE,
No. 251 Broadway, between Spring and Prince sts.
N. B.—Opposite Tiffany & Co.'s.

CLOAKS! CLOAKS! CLOAKS!
BENSON & WILSON invite the attention of ladies to their Lyons Velvet Cloak, at $25 and $40. The best $12 Raglans in the City. Opera cloaks in great variety.
No. 310 Canal-st.

POPULAR TRADE.
A. T. STEWART & CO. will open on Monday, Nov. 22, a large and beautiful assortment of PRINTED CASHMERE ROBES DE CHAMBRE,
Prices 37 and upwards.
Broadway, Chambers and Reade sts.

A FACT INTERESTING TO THE MILLION.—We quote only
PARIS ROSE-BUDS, 10c. per gross.
PARIS ROSE-BUDS, 25c. per gross.
PARIS ROSE-BUDS, 31 per gross.
BERGAMINE, 25c. per gross.
LILY OF THE VALLEY, 25c. per gross.
OPTALICE, 12½c. 25 per gross, and upwards.
WHITE COIFFURES, with wreath, 62c. per dozen.
JAMES TUCKER,
No. 321 Broadway.
Next door to Thompson's Saloon.

SKELETS.—ELEVEN-SPRING SKELETON SKIRTS of Jackson's manufacture, best patterns and best manufacture, at 25 cents, $1 50; 34 cents, $2; children's 4 springs, 37 cents; Misses' corsets with 6 springs for 50 cents; 8 springs, $1; and 10 springs, 62c. A. L. HARDING, Skirt Factory, No. 345 Spring-st., near Hudson. No other place sells Hoop Skirts.

EMBROIDERIES AND HOSIERY.—Retail, Nov. 22, Hosiery, a stock and retail range, unequaled in this City, and at prices unknown to the trade. Embroideries, Gloves, Silks, Laces, Ribbons, &c., &c., at wholesale and retail, at the lowest cash discounts. Address B. J., Box No. 168 Times Office.

SHAWLS.
A REDUCTION TO CLOSE OUT
The entire stock of SILKS,
SHAWLS, CLOAKS, BAGLANS, MANTILLAS,
AND OTHER DRESS GOODS.
We quote,
10,000 yards Fine Plain Silks at all cents per yard.
1,000 Rich Brocade Long Shawls at $25.
500 Rich Brocade Square Shawls at $4 50.
500 Magic Wool Shawls at $2.
1,000 Wool Plaid Long Shawls at $2 50.
600 Wool Plaid Square Shawls at $2 50.
800 Fine Cashmere Square Shawls at $3 to $10.
1,000 Fine Square Embroidered Shawls at $3 to $10.
For further quotations, visit
G. R. CLAFLIN & CO.,
No. 16 and 18 Canal-st.

COLLARS! COLLARS! COLLARS!
Embroidered Jaconet,
A fine assortment, now on hand,
AT REDUCED PRICES.
BEEKMAN & COMPANY,
No. 473 Broadway.

WOOLEN BLANKETS.
Heavy Linen and Cotton Sheetings, and a large assortment of HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, at very low prices.
LORD & TAYLOR,
Nos. 255, 257, 259 and 261 Grand-st.,
And Nos. 47 and 49 Catharine-st.

BLEACHED AND UNBLEACHED SHEETINGS, Sugar, Cotton Flannels, Drillings, Tickings, and Shirtings of every kind.
ALSO,
Shaker and Hummum Flannels.
LORD & TAYLOR,
Nos. 255, 257, 259 and 261 Grand-st.,
And Nos. 47 and 49 Catharine-st.

BROCHE SHAWLS, BERLIN SHAWLS, Cashmere, Printed Wool, Plaid and Plain Shawls, together with every other description of Fashionable Winter Shawls.
LORD & TAYLOR,
Nos. 255, 257, 259 and 261 Grand-st.,
And Nos. 47 and 49 Catharine-st.

EMBROIDERED SKIRTS
At Reduced Prices.
BEEKMAN & COMPANY, No. 473 Broadway.
INFANTS' ROBES AND WAISTS, INFANTS' CAPS,
A Choice Selection.

DRY GOODS.—PARTIES HAVING [illegible] of dry goods, wishing to dispose of the same, can [ of such a state of affairs by those who have the power to amend it must be alike disgraceful to the age and incompatible with the best interests of the Western World. The doctrine of laissez faire, in its application to diplomacy, has been thoroughly exploded by the practice of Christendom during the last half century; and the case of Mexico is to be treated not as a case without precedent in the world's history, but on the principles already adopted in many other instances by the foremost powers of the earth. Plainly put, the matter stands thus: Mexico divides the Atlantic from the Pacific shores of America by a belt of volcanic disorder. Men of every nation and name are involved in the perpetual coil of her revolutions, and exposed to the reiterated outrages of the licentious and devastating hordes by which her territory is overrun. Englishmen, Frenchmen, Spaniards, Americans, are undistinguished in the common ruin. Upon whom then shall the task devolve of righting all this wrong? The geographical position of the United States exposes us to the heaviest burden and the hottest heat of these troubles. The political power, however, and the traditional policy of the United States, combine to impose upon us the duty of attempting their regulation. No fear of consequences should deter us from doing this duty, to abdicate which is to abdicate our national rank, and to abandon the proud pretensions which for years we have been advancing. The time is come for action—and that no excuse may be left to us for waiving the issue, it has been thrust upon us in a form which the whole world must recognize. Our Minister in Mexico, recalled by our own Government, has been dismissed from the Aztec capital with every circumstance of contumely, and in a manner driven out of the country by the men now in authority. It is possible, perhaps, that these men in their turn may be as summarily ejected by some new pretender, and equally possible that their successor may tender the "assurances of his esteem and respect" to the Government in expiation of the wrong now done to us. But it is imperative that something more solid than assurances should be given to us as a guarantee that in the future we may know what we and other nations have to expect in dealing with the Mexican Republic. And it is imperative that this guarantee should be demanded and obtained by the United States, and not by any other power. The thing will assuredly be done—if not by ourselves, then by Spain, France or England—but it must be done by ourselves, and that speedily. There is no question here of fillibusterism, or annexation, or the "extension of manifest destiny." The matter has assumed a higher aspect, and must be handled in a higher spirit.

[illegible]

The President, as we have already informed our readers on what we esteem good authority, proposes to take up this grave question in his Message, as the leading measure of his immediate foreign policy. It may be that other motives than those of a great and national character have urged him on to this decision; but this is of comparatively secondary importance. He has a national duty to do in the premises, and so that duty be done honorably, efficiently and promptly, we care little what paltry interests may prompt him to the work, what paltry aims may be subserved by it, or what paltry purposes disarranged. Any decisive action on a scale and of a kind appropriate to the importance of the issues involved, will doubtless disturb not only the political, but the commercial atmosphere of this country for a time; but we must accept these incidents of a situation which we have not invited. The patriotic good sense of the country is fully ready, we believe, to be rallied to the support of any measures in relation to Mexico which shall be at once equal to the emergency, and consistent with the character of the American Government.

How we shall organize a Mexican protectorate, and what we are to do with Mexico if thrown upon our hands, are points not now to be discussed. They may never need to be discussed at all. For if anything can enable the Mexican people to protect themselves, and to conciliate order with independence, it will be the enforcement upon them of an irresistible conviction that they cannot be and will not be allowed to riot forever with impunity in a license of anarchy which makes their country the pest and calamity of the New World. If the American flag be planted upon their soil, it will be planted there as the symbol of law and the assurance of peace; and if it be so planted, it will not be withdrawn till in one way or another law shall have been enthroned and peace established from the Caribbean to the Gulf of California.

A New Postal Enterprise.

Postmaster Brown is said to take great pride in the success of the Overland Mail to California. It not only lessens the dependence of the Government upon the transit privileges across Central America, but opens the way to the extension of the practical importance of all our California mails across the Pacific to the China Seas. Mr. Brown is said to contemplate a steamer mail from San Francisco to China, [illegible] in the [illegible] Congress. He rests his argument upon the Oriental world from the Indies overland mail to our own. There is an obvious objection to this, however far-reaching it may seem at first thought. It is as we all hope, our commercial intercourse with China is to be largely and diversely increased under the recent treaties, but mails should be as direct, if not at first self-supporting. The purpose of the Department would be also to invite, by such facilities, part of the English mail over our lines. The English correspondence with California now comes to our Pacific steamer mail at Panama. The English correspondence with Australia will soon be diverted, in part to our Panama Road. London letters viâ New-York and St. Louis, by our new Overland route, can now reach San Francisco almost, if not quite as soon, as by the West India steamers and the Pacific. It is but another step to complete the communication from England, viâ United States, with China; reversing the present order of things, besides rendering our own correspondence with India and China less dependent.

The enterprise, if recommended at once, may possibly be delayed on the plea of an empty treasury. This would be the less excusable in view of the calculations said to be made by the Department, that not only the new line, but the present Pacific Mail line, may be made self-supporting. The probability is, that after the present contract expires, the latter will have to depend upon the ocean postages.

The Bible in Our Schools.

The exclusion of the Bible from several of our Public Schools by the local authorities, and the systematic attempt that is in progress to elect officers who will exclude it from all the rest, is exciting a good deal of feeling in the public mind. The only parties who make this effort are the Roman Catholics. They have, from the very beginning, opposed our whole system of free education, and have tried every means to break it down. Very many persons who thought it desirable that schools designed for all should offer no practical obstacle to the admission of any, and that the children of all classes and all sects should avail themselves of their advantages, have hitherto been willing to waive the reading of the Bible in the schools if this would ward off the hostility of those who have made it the pretext for keeping their children away. It was felt that it would be much better to have the children of Catholics attend these schools without the Bible, than to have it read to their exclusion. But the result shows that the reading of the Bible is the pretext, and not the real ground, for Roman Catholic hostility to our School System, and even those who were originally willing to waive the point are now satisfied that doing so would be a useless concession to unreasoning and bigoted animosity. They argue that if the concession made to one sect, at so great a sacrifice of the dearest feelings and tenderest associations, have not been productive of the end for which it was made,—if it has not resulted in bringing into the schools that class of children who most need gratuitous education,—then the sacrifice has been made in vain, and there can be no good end served by its continuance. On this ground, if on no other, the views of many conscientious and liberal men have undergone a decided change, and the number of those who desire that the reading of the Bible should form an essential feature in our schools is, therefore, very much larger than it was before experience had demonstrated the failure of the opposite course.

It is important to recollect that there is nothing whatever that can properly be called Sectarian in desiring the general adoption of the Bible in our educational system. All sects of Christians regard the Book with equal veneration, and attribute to it an immense influence for good over man at all periods of life, but more especially in the formation of character among the young. The people of this country, indeed, are apt to think and feel strongly on this point. The association in their minds of all that is good and pure with the Bible, naturally leads them to look to that book as the source whence their children are to be taught goodness and purity. And it would be hard to make them understand why the prejudices of any class should prevent our educational system from enjoying what are esteemed by a vast majority of the people to be the advantages proceeding from familiarity with the Scriptures. This feeling is therefore widely spread among the thinking portion of the community, and all the more widely because of the positive failure of the trial, whenever it has been attempted among us, of successfully diffusing the benefits of a common-school education without the Bible. The only remaining course, therefore, is one which we believe will give all but universal satisfaction, namely—the reintroduction of the Bible into our common schools, without exception. This will leave the Roman Catholics just where they were before, and we are not aware of the existence of any objection to education with the Bible from any other body.

We are quite aware that this question has been treated as a political one—but we cannot see that it has anything whatever to do with politics. It has reference to a subject of far higher importance than party squabbles for this or that office. The morals of a people depend almost entirely on the education which is received in youth, and we cannot conceive that this can be effectual unless based on religion. Such religion need not be sectarian, and there is nothing in the simple reading of the Bible to make it so—members of all sects employ that best of books at home, and can expound it there, after their own particular manner, if they see fit.

It is impossible to look over the lists of nominations for school officers in the several Wards of the City, without noticing that the Democrats have in nearly every case selected Irish Catholics for these positions. This indicates unmistakably a willingness on their part to surrender our schools into the hands of their open and avowed enemies, and can scarcely fail to lead to corresponding and counteracting efforts on the part of their friends. We would by no means concur with those who favor the entire exclusion of members of any one religious denomination from political office;—but there are certainly cogent reasons, found in the open avowal of the leading officers and organs of the Roman Catholics, against placing our Public School system into their hands or under their control.

The Presidential Question.

Senator DOUGLAS made a speech at Chicago on the 17th, in response to the compliment of a serenade. It is exclusively a triumphal hymn—not entering upon the discussion of any principles, nor endeavoring to set forth any platform, but raising a sufficiently loud shout of exultation over the victory which the Democracy of Illinois has achieved in the late election. The leader is by no means fastidious of the attack. He sings exultingly now of the defeat of his enemies, and stimulating the party upon the national ground of Popular Sovereignty, and with characteristic pertinacity and sagacity, he hastens to accept the issue which Governor SEWARD's Rochester speech seemed to offer, as the basis of the forthcoming political campaign. He discards the "fatal heresy" that the States must be all free or all slave, and presents against it the principle that each State and each Territory must be left perfectly free to accept or reject Slavery, as it may see fit, and that the Slave and the Free States must exist in harmony and union hereafter as they have done hitherto.

Mr. DOUGLAS is a man of great practical ability, and he shows it conspicuously in the skill with which he avails himself of the mistakes of his enemies. Throughout the last session of Congress, although still a Democrat, he found support for his measures mainly among the Republicans. He was denounced by the Administration and distrusted by the South. The general belief was that upon his return to Illinois he would be thrown mainly upon the Republicans of that State for support in his efforts at a reelection. The Republicans themselves generally anticipated such a result. The party in that State, however, was committed to Mr. LINCOLN, and the temptation offered by the divisions of the Democracy, and the consequent prospect of success, was too strong to be resisted. They accordingly took ground against DOUGLAS, but were beaten in the fight. They can now see their mistake. If they had not opposed him, he would have been elected, if at all, by Republican votes, and would consequently have been forever discarded by the Democratic party. The Republicans would have been under no further obligations to him, and he would have been left in a state of complete political isolation. Instead of this he was thrown back upon the Democrats, who soon perceived his strength and began to rally to his support;—and the position which he took in the canvass not only makes him the strongest man of his own party, but is likely to draw largely from the rank and file of the Republicans themselves. The Republicans generally concede the blunder made by their leaders,—but it is always easier, after a campaign is lost, to tell how it might have been saved, than to draw up a programme of victory in advance.

Meantime Senator DOUGLAS, and any other man who hopes to be President in 1860, will do well to talk and think as little of it as possible. If he begins to scheme and intrigue for such an issue, he will be quite certain to cheat himself out of it. The country is not anxious to plunge prematurely into the heat and excitement of that great contest. It prefers peace and quiet for a season. We shall hear enough of platforms and of commitments, of dangers to freedom and dangers to the Union, when the strife draws near. Until then our public men will do well to content themselves with doing their duty, upon whatever practical questions demand their action, and postponing the discussion of great principles and abstract theories to a more convenient season.

The Mortara Case.

We understand that our Jewish fellow-citizens will shortly hold a mass meeting in one of our large public halls, to denounce the unjustifiable abduction of MORTARA'S child by the Roman Inquisition. The Israelitish communities of France, Holland and England have already considered the subject, and a meeting of the Jews of Philadelphia has recently been held to take action in the same matter.

We notice these movements without surprise, and certainly without regret. The peculiar circumstances of the history of this remarkable people have had the natural effect of making them clannish. Through good and evil report, they cling with remarkable and praiseworthy tenacity to each other, and the blow that strikes an Israelite in Turkey is felt and remembered by the Jew in Australia. Distance does not diminish, nor difference of station influence, the unity of sentiment with which, as a rule, this scattered people adhere the one to the other. There is, therefore, nothing to wonder at in the fact that the grief of the poor despised Jew in Rome should reflect its sorrow in the mansion of Sir MOSES MONTEFIORE, in London, and cast a gloom upon the hearths alike of the wealthiest and the poorest Hebrew in America. Indeed, the wrong which has been perpetrated in Rome has probably excited more resentment among the Israelites in the United States than in any other part of the world; since it is here that, as the Rev. Dr. RAPHALL so eloquently declared in his sermon on Thanksgiving day, more thorough freedom of opinion is enjoyed than in any other empire, kingdom or republic on the earth. The contrast, therefore, which must present itself to the mind of the American Jew, between his happy position in this land of freedom and the painful situation of MORTARA under the despicable tyranny of which he is the victim, can scarcely fail to make his grievance more vividly felt by the Jews in this country than elsewhere.

It may be asked, however, what good public meetings in the United States can effect towards correcting the gross abuse which has been perpetrated in Rome? We think that a great deal of good may spring from such a demonstration. There is more in the MORTARA case than could be found in a strictly sectarian matter. It is a question affecting public and private right. It is more than a Papal outrage on a subject of the Pope. The Potentate who can affect to see in an illicit baptism, unsanctioned by authorized sponsors, a right to forcibly remove a Jewish child from his parents, and to persist in the involuntary separation, may also seek to establish, on the basis of this supposed right, a precedent whose action may extend to Protestant Christians or Mohammedans residing permanently or temporarily in the Papal dominions. Such a pretension is an outrage on Christian civilization, and we do not see why the Pope, or any other Potentate, should be regarded as exempt from the ordinary influences of public opinion, temperately but firmly expressed, against an act for which there is neither precedent nor palliation outside of the limits of barbaric despotism. A general expression, therefore, of such public feeling may very reasonably be expected to have its own direct share of influence on PIUS and his advisers, besides encouraging the various civilized governments of the world to protest energetically and firmly against the arrogant and high-handed action of the Inquisition. In very truth, this is scarcely the age in which Inquisitions can expect to exist at all, unless they see fit to remain extremely quiet, and resolve to leave private right and public justice without aggression.

At the Philadelphia meeting, held on the 18th inst., it was resolved that a memorial should be presented to the President, requesting him to instruct our Minister at Rome to protest against the action of the Inquisition in the [illegible] Mortara case. We shall be glad to see the President accede to this request. We are quite sure that a joint protest has been made by France and England, and that Prussia and Sardinia—if, as other of the European Powers—have also expressed to the justice and good sense of the Pontiff in this affair. A protest from our Government would add very great weight to those which may be presented from the European Courts; and Pius is not, by any means, so firmly seated in Rome as to be able to defy the protests of so large a portion of the civilized world. We therefore think that meetings throughout the United States should be held by our Jewish citizens, and, indeed, we do not see why Christians might not, with all propriety, be invited to take part in them. The case actually in question presents religious features which most closely affect the Jews; but it also comprises a very important matter of public right, which bears upon all civilized men without regard to creed or denomination.

Freaks of Justice.

Gov. KING has just pardoned a man named JACKSON, who was sentenced, in March, 1857, to the State Prison for life years, for a brutal outrage upon an emigrant girl. This pardon comes just in time to secure the four hell hounds who were guilty of a similar outrage last week, of the clemency that probably awaits them, if by some unaccountable accident they should happen to be convicted.

A brute named COSTES was brought before Justice FRANCK, on Friday, charged with having most barbarously beaten his child, a little girl four years old. The report states that "her body was cut and bruised from head to foot—and it was necessary to cup her in twelve places on the head to relieve her from pain." The Justice discharged him on receiving his promise to give up the child to a friend. If it was necessary to let this man go unpunished, in order to get the child from his custody, we have nothing to say against it. But it is certainly to be regretted that cruelty so unnatural and so shocking should not meet its just reward.

But Judge RUSSELL, as usual, comes in to cap the climax of these monstrous inversions of justice. A woman named SARAH JOHNSON, was lately brought before him on charge of stealing goods from a leading dry-goods establishment on Broadway. She proved to be the reputed wife of a notorious thimble-rigger, and had once before been convicted of a similar offence. Judge RUSSELL'S organ thus gives the result:

"Yesterday she was again brought before Judge RUSSELL, and her guilt being established without a doubt, Judge RUSSELL concluded that the best method was to suspend judgment, and order her to leave the State immediately, and if again found in the State to be arrested and sent to State Prison."

As her guilt was "established beyond a doubt," Judge RUSSELL concluded that the best method was to let her go free! If there had been any doubt on the subject probably he would have sent her to the Penitentiary—perhaps to the State Prison for life, or for forty years. But as she was absolutely and clearly guilty, and a notorious offender besides, having been convicted of a similar offence only a few months ago, the Judge orders her to leave the State! What a luxury it is to have such a Judge upon the bench! We venture to repeat the suggestion we made a few days since, that the Legislature pass a special act continuing him in office for life. It is really fearful to contemplate the possibility of losing him.

THE OPERA WAR.—The great opera campaign seems to be drawing to a close. Each party fires a shot in our columns this morning, but the diminished noise of the discharge indicates a mutual retreat. Neither party has probably inflicted any serious damage upon the other. Our lively French neighbor will probably be a little more cautious hereafter as to the quality of the gossip it transfers to its columns, and we wish the manager of the opera would learn to be a little less coarse in the epithets his temper leads him to apply to other people. The public, with its customary indifference to strict justice or good taste, has been greatly amused and edified by the wrangle—and has cooked on eagerly, as it would at a prize-fight or a dog-fight, or any similarly attractive amusement.

Amusements.

MUSICAL.—The past week was one of unusual activity in musical matters. At the Academy of Music we had four performances, each attended with the usual throng. The matinée on Thursday was a success, considering the day and the classes that are usually attracted to the Fourteenth-street house. For comfort, it was not desirable to have a larger attendance. It was a nice entertainment, and satisfied every one.

On Saturday Mr. ULLMAN inaugurated Italian Opera in Brooklyn, thus taking possession of the musical interests of our neighboring city, and accomplishing nine points of the law. The "experiment" was neatly performed. A stage with a curtain and a useful set scene imparted a certain dramatic air to the straight-laced tendencies of the Athenæum Hall. Nothing more could be effected within such narrow limits. The selections were given with decided effect, and elicited unbounded applause from the audience. All the leading artists of the Academy assisted—Prov[illegible], GARGANIGA, FORNASI, TAMAGNO, &c., &c. Mr. ULLMAN appears to have been satisfied with the result, for he announces another performance on Thursday, when the whole of ROSSINI'S delightful "Barbiere" will be given.

The usual opera nights at the Academy undergo a slight change this week. In consequence of the impossibility of having a final rehearsal of MOZART'S "Nozze de Figaro" on Saturday, the production of the work is postponed until to-morrow Tuesday. There will be no performance to-night. MOZART'S celebrated work will introduce Mlle. PICCOLOMINI in another of her best rôles. It is not easy to imagine a more piquante character than that of Susanna, and the thousands who believe in the petite prima donna's fascination—and it is a fact in view of which judicious criticism must pause—will find that the rôle compares favorably with the kindred one of Zerlina. Mr. FORNASI is the Figaro. The opera will be played twice only, on Tuesday and on Wednesday. Mr. ULLMAN'S season will terminate early next week. It has not only been the most prosperous on record, but the most energetic.

Of the highest kind of music we have also had our share. On Thursday, at the Cooper Institute, the Mendelssohn Union gave its first performance of the season. The oratorio of St. Paul was selected for the occasion. It has not been our good fortune to hear sacred music given with better effect. The performance was grand, and reflected credit on the members of the society, and on its capable conductor, Mr. MOSSAY. MENDELSSOHN'S work is an achievement in this particular style of composition. In St. Paul he attains a grandeur of passionate utterance which has not been reached by HANDEL himself; combining with this essential all the resources of elegant melody and profound science of combination. Where given with such admirable precision as was expounded upon it by the Mendelssohn Union, we know of no work so absolutely enjoyable. The instrumental partition was interpreted by an excellent orchestra—too much of a novelty at these concerts. All MENDELSSOHN'S best works demand an orchestra. The soloists were Miss HAWLEY, Madame LEBRUNN, Mr. ADAMS, and Dr. GUMBERT. Mr. ADAMS is an excellent tenor from the Boston Handel and Haydn Society, thoroughly experienced in oratorio singing. The other artists are well known, and were heard to advantage. The choruses were rendered with refreshing promptness and delicacy. There can be no reason why a performance so thoroughly admirable should not be repeated.

There is scarcely an event in our musical season which is more interesting than the opening concert of the Philharmonic Society. After a steady and substantial growth of sixteen years this prosperous society now displays the hearty proportions which bespeak longevity. The seventeenth season commenced on Saturday night, when the sixty-fifth concert was given at Niblo's Garden, to the usual overflowing attendance. A more judicious programme might have been selected for the occasion, or one at least with a distinctive feature in the chief instrumental work. Mr. GANZ'S symphony, (No. 4, in D minor,) with piano obligato, is a study of a somewhat uninteresting character. It exhibits how skillfully a great composer may write down to the piano level; how ingeniously he may subdue the organism of that instrument, and make it suggestive in the broad dialogue of an orchestra. Plenty of other men have essayed the task undertaken by Mr. GANZ, and invariably with poor success. He has not been more fortunate. The portentosity of the piano is, in his work, as pugnacious as it has proved [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Fleet, will receive subscriptions [illegible] The instrument is one of great service in a church where no other provision is made, and is [illegible] in the hands of judicious as well as [illegible] persons.

ST. ANDREW'S LODGE OF FREEMASONS, in this city, has donated $100 to the Mount Vernon [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Tacon, Cuba, will close at the New-York Post-Office at [illegible] o'clock of this day.

The mails by the Vanderbilt, bound for Southampton, [illegible], will close at the New-York Post-Office [illegible] this day.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The truth of the announcement made in a brief telegraphic dispatch from New-Orleans, published a few days ago, to the effect that a battle had been fought between the Liberals and Mexican forces, in the City of Mexico, is confirmed. Our correspondence from the city, which will be found on the first page of the Times, gives the particulars of the affair. It appears that the place was besieged by 2,000 Liberals, under Gen. BLANCO, on the 14th of October, and on the following day the attack took place; but notwithstanding Zuloaga had not more than 1,600 men, Blanco saw fit to withdraw after several encounters, although not thoroughly defeated. It is believed that he might have taken entire possession of the city had he been so disposed. Our correspondence also gives some interesting particulars relative to Mr. FOSTER'S mission, and a general view of the present chaotic condition of affairs throughout the country.

The fact of a clearance having been refused for the Alice Tanner, the vessel in which the Walker "expedition" sailed from Mobile for Nicaragua, has already been published in the Times. We give this morning, in detail, the reasons which have influenced the action. They are substantially as have already been stated. Meanwhile, a dispatch from Mobile states that the greatest excitement exists there on account of the detention. On Friday last, about four hundred of the "emigrants" surrounded the office of the agents who supplied them with tickets, and demanded immediate transportation or the refunding of the passage money. The crowd was at length pacified by assurances from the Deputy-Collector that instructions from Washington must soon arrive. It is positively denied by Señor YRISARRI, that he has forwarded there any passports.

[illegible] dates from Rio Janeiro to Oct. 10, and [illegible] Porto Rico to Oct. 8. The intelligence from the Argentine Confederation is of a character to excite apprehensions of a rupture between that country and Paraguay. The Brazilian Government has ordered the blockade of the Paraguayan rivers to be raised. The crop of Mate, or Paraguay tea, is said to be very large this year. The Brazilian Government has ordered the importation of a large quantity of Paraguay tea, for the use of its army in Uruguay. The crop of wheat in Chile is said to be very large, and the prospects of the crop in the Argentine Confederation are very flattering. The crop of Rosario, from the Argentine Confederation, is in little of interest. The discovery of gold mines in the Province of Santa Cruz had excited great interest. Gold-seekers were said to be resorting thither with an average of from twenty to forty pesos per day. Gen. LOPEZ, according to the Semanario Semanario, has established the prohibition upon the exports of grain, [illegible]

Porto Rico dates to Nov. 3 have reached us. Some damage had been visited upon the sugar and coffee crops in the vicinity of Mayaguez by the recent heavy rains. The Boletin Oficial issues the annual balance sheet, exhibiting the movement of trade. It shows a decided increase in the imports, and falling off in exports, for 1857.

The Black Warrior, from Havana on Nov. 15, arrived on Saturday evening. Major HUNT has entered upon the duties of the Consulate, by annulling the action of Mr. HAVENS in regard to the Enterprise, the Ardennes, and the Nancy. The health of Havana was good. The price of sugars had slightly advanced. A railroad accident near Bejucal had resulted in the loss of one life, and serious injury to several passengers. The great water display was postponed to Nov. 22.

The Overland Mail service is to be still further augmented, by the addition of a weekly mail between New-Orleans and San Francisco, by way of San Antonio, Texas, and El Paso. The mail will be carried by the contractors who at present have charge of the route between San Antonio and San Diego. The Postmaster-General has already issued the necessary orders.

The recent attempts at the kidnapping of free colored persons in Kansas have created much excitement. Judge KEAGY has just released a man who was imprisoned as an accomplice of the kidnappers, on the ground that persons of African extraction are incompetent to give testimony.

A dispute has arisen in Utah in relation to the location of the seat of Government. The question having been referred to Governor CUMMING, he decides that the Territorial Legislature must meet at Fillmore City, which was originally selected as the Capital, instead of Salt Lake City.

A meeting of Israelites was held at Philadelphia last week, to take the Mortara case, at Bologna, into consideration. Mr. ISAACS Cohen presided, and a report of the proceedings was ordered to be transmitted to the Board of Deputies of British Jews.

The entire business part of the town of Norwich, Conn., was destroyed by fire on Friday night. The loss is estimated at $100,000, of which about one-half is insured. The fire caught in a cabinet-shop.

Mr. WILLIAM BURN, well-known as the author of valuable works on the Laws of Hindostan and the Theory of Sound, died in London on the 21st October, at the age of 67.

Lieutenant-Governor MEDARY, of Ohio, has signified his willingness to succeed the Governorship of Kansas.

The Grand Jury of the Court of Sessions have indicted Cassius Tennis, Cassius McNiel, Thomas Farrar, James W. Gedney, and others, for conspiracy to defraud the City Treasury in the matter of repairing and curbing Fifty-fourth-street. The same Grand Jury made a presentment to the Court on Saturday, declaring Washington Market, with the adjacent piers and bulkheads, to be a nuisance, detrimental to the health and interests of the City.

The noted Fayette DAWSON was arrested late on Saturday evening, on a charge of having robbed Mr. [illegible] Dunn, of Brooklyn. The robbery occurred at a house of ill-fame in Brooklyn. Dawson gave bail in $2,000, to answer.

The sales of Cotton, on Saturday, reached 2,500 bales, at a shade lower prices. Breadstuffs, Hog Products, Naval Stores, and Oils, were depressed. Coffee and Sugar were in fair demand. Freights were quiet. There were 340 vessels of all classes in port.

CITY TRUSTEES.—In the First Aldermanic District, the Democrats nominated Henry Seaver, of the First Ward, on Saturday night; and, in the Fifth Aldermanic District, they have nominated Jesse H. [illegible] Democrats, we understand, are making [illegible] for the appointment of Stephen P. Rugg[illegible] Commissioner, and Isaac Lesser, for Assistant Commissioner. Several eminent operators have been invited to be present.

[illegible]

[illegible] Gen. BLANCO, on the 14th of October, and on the following day the attack took place; but notwithstanding Zuloaga had not more than 1,600 men, Blanco saw fit to withdraw after several encounters, although not thoroughly defeated. It is believed that he might have taken entire possession of the city had he been so disposed. Our correspondence also gives some interesting particulars relative to Mr. FOSTER'S mission, and a general view of the present chaotic condition of affairs throughout the country.

The fact of a clearance having been refused for the Alice Tanner, the vessel in which the Walker "expedition" sailed from Mobile for Nicaragua, has already been published in the Times. We give this morning, in detail, the reasons which have influenced the action. They are substantially as have already been stated. Meanwhile, a dispatch from Mobile states that the greatest excitement exists there on account of the detention. On Friday last, about four hundred of the "emigrants" surrounded the office of the agents who supplied them with tickets, and demanded immediate transportation or the refunding of the passage money. The crowd was at length pacified by assurances from the Deputy-Collector that instructions from Washington must soon arrive. It is positively denied by Señor YRISARRI, that he has forwarded there any passports.

[illegible] dates from Rio Janeiro to Oct. 10, and [illegible] Porto Rico to Oct. 8. The intelligence from the Argentine Confederation is of a character to excite apprehensions of a rupture between that country and Paraguay. The crop of Mate, or Paraguay tea, is said to be very large this year. The Brazilian Government has ordered the importation of a large quantity of Paraguay tea, for the use of its army in Uruguay. The crop of wheat in Chile is said to be very large, and the prospects of the crop in the Argentine Confederation are very flattering. The crop of Rosario, from the Argentine Confederation, is in little of interest. The discovery of gold mines in the Province of Santa Cruz had excited great interest. Gold-seekers were said to be resorting thither with an average of from twenty to forty pesos per day. Gen. LOPEZ, according to the Semanario Semanario, has established the prohibition upon the exports of grain, [illegible]

Porto Rico dates to Nov. 3 have reached us. Some damage had been visited upon the sugar and coffee crops in the vicinity of Mayaguez by the recent heavy rains. The Boletin Oficial issues the annual balance sheet, exhibiting the movement of trade. It shows a decided increase in the imports, and falling off in exports, for 1857.

The Black Warrior, from Havana on Nov. 15, arrived on Saturday evening. Major HUNT has entered upon the duties of the Consulate, by annulling the action of Mr. HAVENS in regard to the Enterprise, the Ardennes, and the Nancy. The health of Havana was good. The price of sugars had slightly advanced. A railroad accident near Bejucal had resulted in the loss of one life, and serious injury to several passengers. The great water display was postponed to Nov. 22.

The Overland Mail service is to be still further augmented, by the addition of a weekly mail between New-Orleans and San Francisco, by way of San Antonio, Texas, and El Paso. The mail will be carried by the contractors who at present have charge of the route between San Antonio and San Diego. The Postmaster-General has already issued the necessary orders.

The recent attempts at the kidnapping of free colored persons in Kansas have created much excitement. Judge KEAGY has just released a man who was imprisoned as an accomplice of the kidnappers, on the ground that persons of African extraction are incompetent to give testimony.

A dispute has arisen in Utah in relation to the location of the seat of Government. The question having been referred to Governor CUMMING, he decides that the Territorial Legislature must meet at Fillmore City, which was originally selected as the Capital, instead of Salt Lake City.

A meeting of Israelites was held at Philadelphia last week, to take the Mortara case, at Bologna, into consideration. Mr. ISAACS Cohen presided, and a report of the proceedings was ordered to be transmitted to the Board of Deputies of British Jews.

The entire business part of the town of Norwich, Conn., was destroyed by fire on Friday night. The loss is estimated at $100,000, of which about one-half is insured. The fire caught in a cabinet-shop.

Mr. WILLIAM BURN, well-known as the author of valuable works on the Laws of Hindostan and the Theory of Sound, died in London on the 21st October, at the age of 67.

Lieutenant-Governor MEDARY, of Ohio, has signified his willingness to succeed the Governorship of Kansas.

The Grand Jury of the Court of Sessions have indicted Cassius Tennis, Cassius McNiel, Thomas Farrar, James W. Gedney, and others, for conspiracy to defraud the City Treasury in the matter of repairing and curbing Fifty-fourth-street. The same Grand Jury made a presentment to the Court on Saturday, declaring Washington Market, with the adjacent piers and bulkheads, to be a nuisance, detrimental to the health and interests of the City.

The noted Fayette DAWSON was arrested late on Saturday evening, on a charge of having robbed Mr. [illegible] Dunn, of Brooklyn. The robbery occurred at a house of ill-fame in Brooklyn. Dawson gave bail in $2,000, to answer.

The sales of Cotton, on Saturday, reached 2,500 bales, at a shade lower prices. Breadstuffs, Hog Products, Naval Stores, and Oils, were depressed. Coffee and Sugar were in fair demand. Freights were quiet. There were 340 vessels of all classes in port.

CITY TRUSTEES.—In the First Aldermanic District, the Democrats nominated Henry Seaver, of the First Ward, on Saturday night; and, in the Fifth Aldermanic District, they have nominated Jesse H. [illegible] Democrats, we understand, are making [illegible] for the appointment of Stephen P. Rugg[illegible] Commissioner, and Isaac Lesser, for Assistant Commissioner. Several eminent operators have been invited to be present.

[illegible]

[illegible] Tacon, Cuba, will close at the New-York Post-Office at [illegible] o'clock of this day.

The mails by the Vanderbilt, bound for Southampton, [illegible], will close at the New-York Post-Office [illegible] this day.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The truth of the announcement made in a brief telegraphic dispatch from New-Orleans, published a few days ago, to the effect that a battle had been fought between the Liberals and Mexican forces, in the City of Mexico, is confirmed. Our correspondence from the city, which will be found on the first page of the Times, gives the particulars of the affair. It appears that the place was besieged by 2,000 Liberals, under Gen. BLANCO, on the 14th of October, and on the following day the attack took place; but notwithstanding Zuloaga had not more than 1,600 men, Blanco saw fit to withdraw after several encounters, although not thoroughly defeated. It is believed that he might have taken entire possession of the city had he been so disposed. Our correspondence also gives some interesting particulars relative to Mr. FOSTER'S mission, and a general view of the present chaotic condition of affairs throughout the country.

The fact of a clearance having been refused for the Alice Tanner, the vessel in which the Walker "expedition" sailed from Mobile for Nicaragua, has already been published in the Times. We give this morning, in detail, the reasons which have influenced the action. They are substantially as have already been stated. Meanwhile, a dispatch from Mobile states that the greatest excitement exists there on account of the detention. On Friday last, about four hundred of the "emigrants" surrounded the office of the agents who supplied them with tickets, and demanded immediate transportation or the refunding of the passage money. The crowd was at length pacified by assurances from the Deputy-Collector that instructions from Washington must soon arrive. It is positively denied by Señor YRISARRI, that he has forwarded there any passports.

[illegible] dates from Rio Janeiro to Oct. 10, and [illegible] Porto Rico to Oct. 8. The intelligence from the Argentine Confederation is of a character to excite apprehensions of a rupture between that country and Paraguay. The crop of Mate, or Paraguay tea, is said to be very large this year. The Brazilian Government has ordered the importation of a large quantity of Paraguay tea, for the use of its army in Uruguay. The crop of wheat in Chile is said to be very large, and the prospects of the crop in the Argentine Confederation are very flattering. The crop of Rosario, from the Argentine Confederation, is in little of interest. The discovery of gold mines in the Province of Santa Cruz had excited great interest. Gold-seekers were said to be resorting thither with an average of from twenty to forty pesos per day. Gen. LOPEZ, according to the Semanario Semanario, has established the prohibition upon the exports of grain, [illegible]

Porto Rico dates to Nov. 3 have reached us. Some damage had been visited upon the sugar and coffee crops in the vicinity of Mayaguez by the recent heavy rains. The Boletin Oficial issues the annual balance sheet, exhibiting the movement of trade. It shows a decided increase in the imports, and falling off in exports, for 1857.

The Black Warrior, from Havana on Nov. 15, arrived on Saturday evening. Major HUNT has entered upon the duties of the Consulate, by annulling the action of Mr. HAVENS in regard to the Enterprise, the Ardennes, and the Nancy. The health of Havana was good. The price of sugars had slightly advanced. A railroad accident near Bejucal had resulted in the loss of one life, and serious injury to several passengers. The great water display was postponed to Nov. 22.

The Overland Mail service is to be still further augmented, by the addition of a weekly mail between New-Orleans and San Francisco, by way of San Antonio, Texas, and El Paso. The mail will be carried by the contractors who at present have charge of the route between San Antonio and San Diego. The Postmaster-General has already issued the necessary orders.

The recent attempts at the kidnapping of free colored persons in Kansas have created much excitement. Judge KEAGY has just released a man who was imprisoned as an accomplice of the kidnappers, on the ground that persons of African extraction are incompetent to give testimony.

A dispute has arisen in Utah in relation to the location of the seat of Government. The question having been referred to Governor CUMMING, he decides that the Territorial Legislature must meet at Fillmore City, which was originally selected as the Capital, instead of Salt Lake City.

A meeting of Israelites was held at Philadelphia last week, to take the Mortara case, at Bologna, into consideration. Mr. ISAACS Cohen presided, and a report of the proceedings was ordered to be transmitted to the Board of Deputies of British Jews.

The entire business part of the town of Norwich, Conn., was destroyed by fire on Friday night. The loss is estimated at $100,000, of which about one-half is insured. The fire caught in a cabinet-shop.

Mr. WILLIAM BURN, well-known as the author of valuable works on the Laws of Hindostan and the Theory of Sound, died in London on the 21st October, at the age of 67.

Lieutenant-Governor MEDARY, of Ohio, has signified his willingness to succeed the Governorship of Kansas.

The Grand Jury of the Court of Sessions have indicted Cassius Tennis, Cassius McNiel, Thomas Farrar, James W. Gedney, and others, for conspiracy to defraud the City Treasury in the matter of repairing and curbing Fifty-fourth-street. The same Grand Jury made a presentment to the Court on Saturday, declaring Washington Market, with the adjacent piers and bulkheads, to be a nuisance, detrimental to the health and interests of the City.

The noted Fayette DAWSON was arrested late on Saturday evening, on a charge of having robbed Mr. [illegible] Dunn, of Brooklyn. The robbery occurred at a house of ill-fame in Brooklyn. Dawson gave bail in $2,000, to answer.

The sales of Cotton, on Saturday, reached 2,500 bales, at a shade lower prices. Breadstuffs, Hog Products, Naval Stores, and Oils, were depressed. Coffee and Sugar were in fair demand. Freights were quiet. There were 340 vessels of all classes in port.

CITY TRUSTEES.—In the First Aldermanic District, the Democrats nominated Henry Seaver, of the First Ward, on Saturday night; and, in the Fifth Aldermanic District, they have nominated Jesse H. [illegible] Democrats, we understand, are making [illegible] for the appointment of Stephen P. Rugg[illegible] Commissioner, and Isaac Lesser, for Assistant Commissioner. Several eminent operators have been invited to be present.

[illegible]

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

SEVERE SERVICE ON THE ASSESSORS ON MONDAY.—The Academy of Music was opened for Divine service, for the first time, last evening. In spite of the disagreeable weather rain nearly evening was quite full, and many were unable to find seats. On a temporary platform over the orchestra sat the Rev. Drs. ALEXANDER, ADAMS, DE WITT and other clergymen. The exercises were conducted according to Presbyterian forms; the singing was by the congregation, and the preaching by the Rev. Dr. ADAMS. W. A. ALEXANDER, his text was from Revelation xxii., 17—"And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely." He endeavored to enforce the great truth that all who wants earnestly and steadfastly seek salvation should be saved, and with a variety of Arguments and copious illustration supported the proposition. A collection for the rent of the building and other incidental expenses was taken up, the Doxology was sung, a benediction pronounced, and the audience separated. Notice was given that the Academy would be open for Divine service every Sabbath evening during the Winter, the services to commence at 7½ o'clock. The Rev. Dr. WM. ADAMS will preach there next Sunday evening, and other City clergymen on succeeding Sabbaths.

A BLIND WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH.—Mr. ANGELINE HEM, a blind, aged lady, was, on Saturday, burned to death at her residence in Fifty-fifth-street, between First and Second avenues. She occupied a room in the upper part of the house, and, when discovered, was burned to a crisp. There was no one in the House at the time. It is presumed that her clothes caught fire from the stove. The floor was in a blaze when she was discovered, but a few pails of water served to extinguish the flames. An inquest will be held in the case to-day.

THE QUARANTINE MILITARY.—To-day, Companies A, B, F and G, of the Fifth Regiment New-York State Militia, which have been doing guard duty at Staten Island, are to be relieved by Companies C, D, E and H, of the same Regiment. The latter will proceed to the Island by an early forenoon boat. The returning Companies will be received at the Battery by a detachment of the Sixth Regiment, under Lieutenant-Colonel LOZE.

NAVIGATION OF THE HUDSON.—The day-boats Armenia and Metamora, for Albany, made their last trips on Thursday, and others will soon be hauled off. The low tides seriously interfere with their movements at Albany. The Isaac Newton, on her last trip down, grounded opposite Saugerties, and was obliged to wait for the tide to float her away. Other boats have met with similar difficulties.

THE AUSTRIAN BANK FORGERY.—The examination in the case of the parties arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the counterfeits upon the National Bank of Austria, was adjourned over from Saturday until this morning. The prisoners have employed a formidable retinue of counsel, and the case promises to be one of length and interest. It is expected that further arrests will be made.

THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.—The Rev. Dr. CHEEVER delivered an able discourse to a crowded congregation, last evening, at the Church of the Puritans, upon the right of the Bible in our Public Schools. His leading object was to show the importance to the young of such instruction as the Bible gives. We have a full report of this discourse, for which, however, in consequence of the pressure of news, we find it impossible to make room this morning. We shall publish it at length in the TRIBUNE of to-morrow.

EXTENSIVE SEIZURE OF POWDER.—The Harbor Police, on Saturday afternoon, made a seizure of 45 kegs of powder, which they found in a small boat off the Battery. The powder belonged to the Hazard Powder Company, whose office is at No. 89 Wall-street. Several hours after the seizure an order was presented bearing the signature of "Alderman CLANCY, Acting Mayor," commanding the delivery of the powder over to its owners, which order was forthwith complied with.

NEW-YORK HOSPITAL REPORT.—Between the 12th and the 13th inst there were admitted to the New-York Hospital 27 surgical and 13 medical cases. During the same period 34 were discharged as cured, and 6 died—leaving a balance in the Hospital on the 19th of 213, precisely the same number as it contained on the 12th. Of these, 167 were males and 26 were females.

A DIFFERENT PERSON.—We have been requested to state that the "E. L. Snow," whose arrest in Philadelphia in connection with some swindling transactions, was mentioned in our columns Saturday, is a very different person from the Col. "E. L. Snow" who has given his name to sundry temperance societies in this City. We make the statement for the benefit of Colonel S. with those at a distance who may not know him well enough to understand its truth without such an explanation.

Dr. R. THOMAIN, who graduated with distinguished university honors in Germany, has recently arrived in this City, where he intends to practice the medical profession. Dr. THOMAIN is an accomplished physician and surgeon, and, though still a young man, brings the highest testimonials to his capacity. His office is No. 91 Walker-street.

Police Reports.

BILLY MULLIGAN AND THE BENICIA BOY'S BOTTLE-HOLDER.—In the renowned "Court Circle," the late prize-fight between Morrissey and the Benicia Boy has not yet become a thread-bare topic of discussion. A large crowd of "sports" were gathered, on Saturday night, at the Dexter House in Broome-street, their present headquarters. As it was rainy, they determined to make a night of it. About five o'clock in the morning—the effect of the frequent potations began by this time to show itself—Billy Mulligan and Jim Hughes, the latter the bottle-holder of the Benicia Boy in the late fight, began to talk pretty loudly to one another, and to call each other by very savage names, the loud talk and the savage words being the result of an animated conversation regarding the respective merits of Morrissey and Heenan.

"I dare you to fight me!" said Mulligan.

"I dare you to fight me!" reiterated Hughes.

Mulligan, in giving utterance to the challenge, drew his revolver and took a stand in the centre of the room. Hughes, in manifestation of his acceptance, took a counter stand, holding a mammoth dirk in his hand. At this juncture, a few present, having an instinctive horror at the sight of deadly weapons, deemed it prudent to get out of the way, and accordingly they made a hurried exit into the street. The majority were differently impressed with the scene, and did their utmost to urge the promised fight to a speedy issue. The customary inciting expletives used on such occasions—not necessary to be reported—were vehemently uttered. Meantime, some of the frightened ones hurried to the Police head-quarters, fortunately in the immediate neighborhood, and had a posse of men dispatched to the place. The Police came and prevented the enactment of the famous feline fable by Hughes and Mulligan—at least for the time being. It was afterwards stated that a genuine fight was agreed upon between the contesting parties.

THE KING OF THE FOURTH WARD IN TROUBLE.—Peter Dawson, who bears the honored titulary designation of King of the Fourth Ward, has got himself into trouble again. His confinement on Blackwell's Island, seemingly, has not quelled his rebellious spirit. The present difficulty of Pete has grown out of his making a free and dangerous use of his dirk-knife upon the person of a Mr. N. J. Potts, of Brooklyn. It appears that Dawson and Potts met in a drinking saloon in the "City of Churches," and Potts made a disrespectful allusion—at least so Dawson construed the reference—to his recent confinement on Blackwell's Island. The blood of Dawson was up to boiling heat in an instant, and he stabbed the inconsiderate Potts and then fled. This happened several days ago. As Dawson could not be found, the belief was that he had turned his back upon the City, and that he was ruralizing in some obscure country village. Sergeant Dickson, of the Detective Police, happened to discover him, however, at a late hour on Saturday in Cherry-street, and forthwith took him in custody. He was taken to Brooklyn, and gave bail in $3,000 to answer the charge preferred against him.

PROBABLE FATAL AFFRAY BETWEEN BOYS.—Marsh Germain, a white boy, about twelve years of age, and a colored boy of nearly the same age, had a quarrel, Friday evening, in Third-avenue, near Seventy-seventh-street. The colored youth threw a brick at his antagonist, hitting him on the side of the head, and producing a wound which it is believed will prove fatal. Young Germain was taken to his parents' residence in Twenty-sixth-street. The colored boy was arrested and taken to the Station house and locked up, but refuses to tell his name.

A DODGE THAT FAILED TO WORK.—About 10 A. M., on Saturday, two men drove a cart in front of the grocery-store of Benedict, Smith & Co., No. 237 Front-street, leaped from the vehicle, threw a tub of butter which was standing on the pavement into the cart, jumped in after it, and drove off at a dashing speed. Some of the clerks witnessed the performance, and gave chase. Seeing that their pursuers were likely to overtake them, the men deserted their cart, took to their heels, and escaped. The cart, a good gray horse, and tub of butter, were taken in safe keeping. It is probable that the cart and horse were stolen.

BURGLARS CAPTURED.—Between 12 and 1 o'clock Saturday morning, some Twenty-first Ward Policemen discovered three men trying to effect a burglarious entrance into the grocery store No. 316 Sixth-avenue. Noticing that they were spotted, the nocturnal robbers made a precipitate flight from the premises. The officers pursued with equal promptitude, and succeeded after a lengthy chase in capturing two of the fugitives. The prisoners, who gave their names as James Earle and John Gaston, were committed to the Second District Police Court Prison.

A VICTIM.—Mr. A. D. WHITING, of Otsego County, had his pocket-book, containing a considerable sum of money stolen from him by some adroit pickpocket, Friday evening, while passing up Broadway. He remembered being jostled against at the corner of Canal-street with peculiar force, but thought the jostling a natural sequence of a walk in Broadway.

Coroner's Inquests.

FATALLY BURNED.—MARTHA LYONS, a native of Massachusetts, died yesterday at Bellevue Hospital from the effects of burns. Her clothes caught fire from the stove at her residence, No. 70 Mott-st., [illegible]

[illegible]

UNKNOWN MAN FOUND DROWNED.—[illegible] an unknown man [illegible] Pier No. 1, North River, [illegible] floated to [illegible] The Coroner held an inquest [illegible]

FATAL FALL.—An [illegible] at the City Hospital [illegible] years, who was killed by [illegible] hold of the ship [illegible]

Fires.

FIRE IN FREEPORT-STREET.—[illegible] —The alarm of fire at 3 o'clock yesterday [illegible] was caused by a fire in No. 48 Freeport-st. [illegible] building is four stories in height, and [illegible] stories were occupied by poorly [illegible] lies. Among the inmates the greatest [illegible] prevailed, and several narrowly escaped [illegible] to death. Several horses and entire furniture [illegible] uninsured, the loss is a serious one. The total loss is estimated at $1,000, including [illegible] water sustained by Francis Cadwa, who [illegible] quor saloon on the ground-floor. The origin of the fire is unknown.

FIRE ON BOARD OF A SCHOONER.—About [illegible] A. M., on Saturday, the schooner Cornelia [illegible] the foot of Tenth-street, North River, loaded [illegible] pine wood, was discovered on fire. The fire was extinguished by the crew of Harbor Police Boat No. [illegible] after a portion of her deck load, main-boom and sails were burned. The loss is covered by insurance.

Sporting Intelligence.

THE TURF.—UNION COURSE, L. I.—Trotting, Saturday, Nov. 22. Match $500 against time. Mr. McKENZIE's b. g. Tom to trot in 3 wagons a mile in 2:45. The owner paid forfeit, and matched his horse with wagon attached, to trot a mile in 2:45. The horse trotted in 2:40—2:40—2:39½, losing the race by one second.

UNION COURSE, L. I.—TROTTING.—Friday, Nov. 19.—Match, $1,000; mile heats, in harness.

H. WOODRUFF, b. m. Sleeper ..... Received forfeit
D. PIERSE, b. g., Benny Young ..... Paid forfeit

UNION COURSE, L. I.—TROTTING.—Friday, Nov. 19. Match, $1,000; mile heats, in harness.

J. WESTERLY, b. g. George Cooley ..... Received forfeit
Mr. TOWLE, b. m. Kate Miller ..... Paid forfeit

UNION COURSE, L. I.—TROTTING.—Thursday, Nov. 19. Match, $300; mile heats; best 3 in 5, in harness.

J. WHELSON, g. g. Dennis McCafe	1	1	1
L. S. SAMMIS, b. g. Brown George	2	2	2

Time—2:32—2:35—2:31.

UNION COURSE, L. I.—Trotting, Thursday, Nov. 16—Match, $200—mile heats, best 3 in 5 to wagons.

J. WOODRUFF, b. s. Romeo	1	2	1	1
W. PEARCOT, b. m. Lady of the Lake	2	1	2	2

Time—3:17¼—3:15¾—3:17—3:15¾—3:13.

Mr. RICHARD TEN BROECK has returned home after a long sojourn in England. It is Mr. TEN BROECK's intention to go back to England in the Spring, and to take with him some fresh American horses to test their qualities again on the English Turf.

THE RING.—The movements of "fighting men" are now as regularly reported as those of other widely-known personages. We are told that the Benicia Boy has left for Boston, and on Friday and Saturday next he will appear at the National Theatre in the play of "Tom and Jerry." He will be assisted by his late second, the renowned AARON JONES, of London, and he will receive in the "modern Athens" a benefit similar to the one with which he was graced in New-York. TOM HYRE has just returned from Boston trip and is declared to be in robust health. MORRISSEY will shortly exhibit himself in character to the good citizens of Brooklyn. There is, it seems, another aspirant for the championship in the person of GENERAL WASHINGTON REPPENTINE, of Pottsville, Penn., who has accepted the reported challenge of TOM HYRE, that he would fight any man in the world for $10,000. HYRE's pugilistic desire, however, is to measure his strength with MORRISSEY only. JOE COBURN has offered to meet JAMES KELLY any day or evening at the "Malta" corner of Thirteenth-street and Broadway, and there put up a forfeit to fight him at any time he may name for from one to two thousand dollars. The Champion ship of England, which now belongs to TOM SAYERS, will, it is said, be contested by BILL BENJAMIN, who has challenged the holder of the belt. Bell's Life is assured that BENJAMIN means business, and that his reason for wishing another chance is that he had not justice done him in his preparation for his last match. The same journal reports that a match has been made up between LYNCH, the American, and DAN THOMAS, the Welshman, to fight at 120 pounds, on the 21st of December next.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

AN ARREST IN THE LATE HOMICIDE CASE.—PATRICK SLATTERY, a companion of CULLEN, was arrested on Saturday evening by officers MUNSON and McLAUGHLIN, of the First District, upon suspicion of having aided CULLEN to escape from justice on the night that HART was killed. It is alleged that he was seen to leave the place in company with the murderer; that he took a drink in a porter-house near by, and that he was seen with CULLEN on the same evening riding in a New-York car. SLATTERY has kept himself out of the way ever since, and was finally captured with some difficulty. He was committed to the First District Station-house. The result of the inquest will probably be made known this afternoon.

ARREST OF GAMBLERS.—Inspector KIRK, Sergeant CROTTS and three other officers, made a descent upon a gambling house on Friday evening, at No. 57 Fulton-street. The front basement was kept as an oyster saloon by SPRINGSTEIN & NOYES, while a back room was occupied as a resort for faro dealing and other species of gambling. Nine persons were arrested, besides the proprietor and his barkeeper; a faro-box, with cards, and $12 money, good and bad were seized. A youth, 17 years old, who was taken to the place by his father, was used as a witness. SPRINGSTEIN pleaded guilty, and was held to bail in $500 to await the action of the Grand Jury, and his barkeeper was held in half the amount. The other prisoners pleaded guilty, and were let off with a fine of $3 each. Information of the existence of this den, it is said, was communicated to the police by a woman whose husband had lost a large sum of money in the place.

BURGLARY.—The store of J. B. HENDRICKSON, situated at the corner of Fulton avenue, near Classon, was entered on Saturday night by burglars, and $18 were stolen.

SUICIDE OF A REPORTER.—JOHN KROMMER, a German, aged about 50 years, and acting as a reporter for the Abend Zeitung newspaper, committed suicide by taking laudanum on Friday afternoon. He resided at the corner of Division-avenue and Whitestreet. A verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts.

Grand Torchlight Procession of the Firemen—Reception of the Philadelphia Company.

The firemen of our City had a torchlight procession on Saturday night, which was only excelled by that memorable one in honor of the laying of the Atlantic Cable. The occasion was the advent of Hibernia Engine Company, No. 1, of Philadelphia, which had arrived in the City, guests of Americus Engine Company, No. 6. Some rumors had passed that our New-York firemen had not been so complimentary as could be wished to a Philadelphia Company which visited this City two or three months ago, whereat the Philadelphians felt aggrieved. To prove that the slight, if there was one, was unintended, and that between the Companies of both cities nothing but "Brotherly Love" could, should, would, and ought to exist, Americus Company, as aforesaid, dispatched to Hibernia Company, as aforesaid, a very pressing invitation to visit New-York and partake of its hospitalities. Accordingly, Hibernia Company reached the City on Saturday evening. And this grand parade was arranged to do honor to them. They were met on their landing at Pier No. 1, North River, by a national salute, fired by the Peterson Guard, and by Mr. HENRY H. HOWARD, the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department. The noise of the cannon having ceased to reverberate from the Jersey shore, Mr. HOWARD, addressing the Hibernians, spoke as follows:

GENTLEMEN, MEMBERS OF HIBERNIA ENGINE COMPANY, BROTHER FIREMEN OF PHILADELPHIA: By an invitation (which I consider a very flattering compliment) of Americus Engine Company No. 6, whom, I guess, you are, and representing the New-York Fire Department, I greet you, and bid you welcome to our City. We have anxiously waited your arrival, and are prepared to receive you as you deserve to be received by the firemen of this metropolis. I am not here to pay homage to your mammoth steam fire-engine, nor can I disparage or defame it. My duty is to assure you all that while you honor us with your presence every exertion will be made by New-York firemen to make your visit an agreeable and a happy one.

The Hibernia Company, it may be stated, are a Steam Fire Company, and brought with them a splendid, mammoth engine of peculiar appearance, the merits of which they will undoubtedly demonstrate before they leave the City. If all that is said of it is true, what a pity it is that the monster liberty pole fell the other day in West Broadway, when the Democrats of the Fifth Ward were trying to raise it. That was 200 feet high, and if the Hibernians had sent a stream over that! However, there are shot-towers in the City, if the owners will great permission. Previous to the departure of the Company from Philadelphia, a handsome silk flag was presented to them in front of their engine-house, by the ladies of their Ward. That same flag attracted no little attention, as it was borne up Broadway. It was trimmed with gold bullion and fringe, the staff being mounted with a gold eagle. Of the procession itself, it will be only necessary to say that the whole Department turned out to greet their respected guests—that the display was fine,—second only, as we have remarked, to that of the Cable celebration,—that the enthusiasm was at fever heat, manifested in vociferous cheers, rockets, blue-lights, discharge of cannons, Chinese lanterns, music from twenty-nine bands, miniature bell-towers, with real bells ringing constant alarms, and emblematical stuffed eagles, quivering extended pinions, as the sway of the engines on which they were perched jolted them from side to side. This enthusiasm was afterwards increased by a grand supper (with accompaniments) at Thalian Hall, Grand-street. Yesterday, the Hibernians attended Trinity Church. To-day, if the weather is fair, they will visit the Institutions. On Wed-

[illegible]

Will you permit a poor book-keeper, who has for the last four years, in spite of his best exertions, not been able to obtain more than $600 salary from his employers, (with the exception of the last four months, when I received $700,) to ask, through your columns, if there are any Benevolent Societies or Institutions where book-keepers of clerks, having families, can, in case of sickness and destitution, apply for help? I am sick, out of work, have a family of a wife and three children, and need speedy assistance, as I have neither money, coal, wood or provisions. How gratefully your answer will be received I leave to your generous imagination.

A POOR BOOK-KEEPER.

[The address and reference of the writer of the above are left with the Editor of the TRIBUNE.]

The Mortara Case—Movement of the Jews.

The Jewish Messenger of this week publishes the following letter from Sir Moses Montefiore, and calls upon all the congregations of the American Union to respond at once to this call made upon them:

GROSVENOR GATE, Park lane, London, Oct. 25, 1856.

GENTLEMEN: As President of the London Committee of Deputies for the Jews, I transmit herewith the transcript of the case of the abduction of a Jewish child from its parents.

Also transcript of a private letter giving further details of this cruel outrage.

No doubt this case, which has justly raised almost universal indignation, has come under your notice, and you will rejoice to cooperate with the Jews in England, Holland and France, in the adoption of such measures as in your judgment may be expedient, by appeal to your Government and otherwise, to seek to obtain the restoration of the child to its afflicted parents, and also the prevention of similar outrages for the future.

You cannot fail to perceive that this is a matter affecting not the Jews alone, but also every other denomination of faith, except the Roman Catholic; further, that it cannot be regarded exclusively under a religious aspect, but as placing in peril personal liberty, social relations, and the peace of families.

The Board of Deputies therefore hesitate not to believe that this appeal to your active sympathies will meet with a cheerful and immediate response, so that, under the blessing of the Almighty, we may hope to have the happiness of obtaining redress for the grievous wrong which has been committed, and of preventing the recurrence of similar atrocities.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, yours faithfully,
MOSES MONTEFIORE.

To the President of the Hebrew Congregation, United States, &c.

$50. $50.

☞ Singer's New Family Sewing Machine.—A reliable Sewing Machine for family purposes at a low price, bearing the impress of the name of the most successful manufacturers in the world, has long been wanted. It can now be had. Price, complete for use, only FIFTY DOLLARS.
I. M. SINGER & CO.,
No. 458 Broadway, New-York.

☞ Meyer's Mirmeleon Vermin Destroyer. Read on the last page of our paper for this day a number of certificates attesting to the efficacy of MEYER'S mirmeleon remedies, which never fail to destroy all kinds of vermin. For sale at the Proprietor's depôt, No. 613 Broadway, corner Houston-st., at RUSHTON'S, No. 10 Astor House, and 417 Broadway, corner Canal-st.

☞ Singer's Sewing Machines.—The great reduction in the price of these indispensable machines has brought a rush of customers. Though the prices have been put down, the machines are made better than ever. Now is the time to buy.
I. M. SINGER & CO., 458 Broadway, New-York.

☞ Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing-Machines. They are the favorites for families.—New-York Times. New style, price $60.
Office No. 343 Broadway, New-York.

☞ Wilder's Patent Salamander Safe.
THE GREAT FIRE-PROOF SAFE OF THE WORLD.
WARRANTED FREE FROM DAMPNESS.
E. G. WILDER & CO.,
No. 191 BROADWAY,
Corner of Dey-st., New-York.

☞ Where Baldness Exists, it causes a new growth of soft, glossy, flaxiness hair; gray hairs or whiskers, by its use, speedily assume the original color and flexibility of youth. It is not a dye, simply a great chemical discovery, called known as JULIA HAUEL'S RAY AMERICAN, or Hair Restorer, and sold by all druggists, and by JULES HAUEL & CO., No. 704 Chestnut-st., Philadelphia.

☞ Rogers & Raymond commend their new styles of RUSSIAN OVERCOATS,—warm without being heavy, and handsome without being dear—to the notice of gentlemen who practice economy. A magnificent stock of Winter clothing at lower rates than are asked elsewhere. No deviation from the marked prices.
ROGERS & RAYMOND,
Corner of Fulton and Nassau-sts.

☞ Barry's Tricopherous is the
BEST AND CHEAPEST ARTICLE
For DRESSING, BEAUTIFYING, CLEANING, CURLING, PRESERVING and RESTORING THE HAIR. Ladies, try it. For sale by all druggists and perfumers.

☞ Batchelor's Hair Dye, Wigs and Toupees.—This celebrated establishment is at No. 233 Broadway. Twelve private rooms for the application of his famous Hair Dye, the best extant. BATCHELOR'S Wigs and Toupees have improvements over all; this is the only place where these are properly manufactured and made.

☞ Ruptures Cured by Marsh's Radical Cure. Truss, the best known to all the principal surgeons and physicians of this City. Call and examine these before purchasing elsewhere. Also, Elastic Stockings, Shoulder Braces, Supporters, &c., No. 2 Vesey-st., Astor House.

☞ Defiance Salamander Safes.—ROBERT M. PATRICK, sole manufacturer of the above celebrated Safes and Patent Powder-Proof Defiance Locks and Cross-Bars. Also, Fire and Burglar-Proof Safes and Parlor Safes, for silver plate, &c. Depôt, No. 192 Pearl-st., one door below Maiden-lane.

☞ Beware of Burglars!!!!
The Rotary Lock, for dwelling-house doors, affords perfect security against the most skillful lock-picks. For convenience, it is not equaled by any other Lock.
VALENTINE & BUTLER, No. 282 Broadway.

☞ Grover & Baker's Celebrated Family Sewing Machines, No. 495 Broadway.
THE NEW STYLE "UNION" IS
They are all that they claim to be.—N. Y. Independent.

MARRIED.

SHAW—DEBREER.—In this City, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 17, by the Rev. Charles S. Little, JAMES SHAW and HARRIET DEBREER, both of this City.

CURTIS—MARSH.—In this City, on Wednesday, Nov. 17, by the Rev. Dr. McClintock, WM. H. CURTIS to ANNIE E. MARSH, both of this City.

FRENCH—WOODS.—At Buffalo, on Thursday, Nov. 13, by the Rev. Dr. Congdon, (at the residence of Morgan W. Brown, Esq.) WM. F. FRENCH, of Brooklyn, L. I., to LOUISA, daughter of J. Ainsworth, Esq., of Fort's Mills, Jefferson Co., N. Y.

SEELY—WOMBLE.—At Honesdale, Penn., on Wednesday, Nov. 17, by the Rev. E. P. Pierce, Rector of St. Michael's Church, Stroudsburg, N. J., FRANKLIN A. SEELY, of Honesdale, and MARY GREWOLD, daughter of Maj. Henry W. Womble, U. S. A.

STEVENS—HATCH.—At Bethany, Conn., on Tuesday, Nov. 18, by the Rev. Austin Isham, DAVID J. STEVENS, of Fairfield, to Miss SUSAN ELIZA HATCH, of Roxbury.

BAKER—HILL.—At Newtown, Conn., on Thursday, Nov. 18, in St. Paul's Church, by the Rev. W. Marks, EDWIN BAKER, of Brooklyn, N. Y., to MARY E. HILL, of Newtown, daughter of the late Charles Hill, Esq.

READ—SCHUYLER.—At the American Embassy, Paris, on Monday, Oct. 4, by the Rev. Wm. O. Lamson, of the American Episcopal Chapel, Capitain PAUL DE READ, of the Imperial Artillery, to CLARA CECELIA, daughter of L. de Schuyler, late of New-York.

DIED.

TURNER.—In this City, on Sunday, Nov. 21, at her late residence, No. 148 West 18th-st., Mrs. ANNE TURNER, in the 66th year of her age.

The friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral, from 8th-st. M. E. Church, at 1 o'clock, on Tuesday next.

SEIFERT.—In Brooklyn, on Sunday morning, Nov. 23, at 3 o'clock, suddenly, of croup, HARRY SEIFERT, aged 3 years, 11 months and 11 days.

The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, this day, (Monday,) at 1 o'clock P. M., from the residence of his parents, No. 12 Pacific-st., between Henry and Hicks sts., Brooklyn, without further notice.

SEYMOUR.—At Glen Cove, Wednesday, Nov. 19, N. Y., on Saturday, Nov. 22, at the residence of her father, Mr. A. W. Lawrence, HANNAH W. SEYMOUR, widow of the late Gen. John Seymour, in the 84th year of her age.

KIRKLAND.—At Utica, N. Y., on Saturday, Nov. 22, DANIEL P. KIRKLAND, in the 66th year of his age.

The relatives and friends of the deceased, the men of

A NEW LIFE-CURE!
RADWAY'S READY
Rank the first among the most [illegible] System Renovating Remedies, and [illegible] heals all Chronic and Constitutional [illegible] This great and glorious remedy [illegible] has been now spread all over [illegible] RADWAY & CO. are the sole [illegible] RADWAY'S REGULATING [illegible]
Scrofula, Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Gravel, Diseases of the Urinary Organs, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Dropsy, Costiveness, Female Weakness, Mumps, Sciatica, Salt Rheum, Chronic Diarrhœa, Sick Headache, Gout, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Humors and Eruptions, Chronic Rheumatism, Fever and Ague, Mercurial Affections, Piles, Dropsy, Gravel, Worms, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Liver Complaint, Female Weakness, Fever and Ague, Fever, Inflammation, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Colic, Worms, Cholera, Nausea, Vomiting, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Costiveness, Piles, Dropsy, Gravel, Worms, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Colic

THE LONDON PRESS.

From the Weekly Dispatch.

Mr. Barry Sullivan's acting also is of a different style to that in vogue upon this stage; from the blemish of mannerism Mr. Sullivan is free. There are no traces of his people being mere living models; nothing is quite perfect; he is speedier reading, and intelligent in expression, and many excellent points in his delivery.

From the Lady's Newspaper.

Mr. Barry Sullivan has confirmed the high opinion we expressed of him in our last impression; he is an acquisition to the London stage for many years. His Hamlet is the best on the English stage.

From the Morning Advertiser.

Mr. Barry Sullivan's acting was manly, graceful, and intelligent; a performance which for the sense and usefulness of its lessons should have been crowded; it deserve to be ranked among the greatest acquisitions made to it for many years.

From the Athenæum.

Mr. Barry Sullivan is a tragedian, that Mr. Barry Sullivan has not, and can never be, a Kean, that his originality of thought and force of movement; that he has studied with practical result, all this is evident, and he is recognized as a tragedian of no ordinary stamp.

From the Morning Herald.

Mr. Barry Sullivan is always refined, sensible, intelligible, discriminative, accurate, and clever; his face is intellectual, his voice is rich, full, mellow, sweet and musical; he is geometrically perfect, while are superfluous the graces of gesticulation and attitudinizing.

From the Morning Advertiser.

Mr. Barry Sullivan reads his author like a man who knows and will him nearly. He is quite free from stage mannerisms; his voice is rich, full, and mellow, and never vicious; his vision is sweet, his face is intellectual, and his eye expressive; his height is above the middle standard; his person slim and youthful, and he has all that ease and grace of bearing which attend a full command of the stage.

From the Morning Chronicle.

Mr. Barry Sullivan appears to shave the middle stature; has an intellectual, if not a handsome countenance, with a quick, bright eye, capable of the most varied expression. He is no copyist; no imitator; but, with a laudable ambition, stands out original. He takes his own view of the character, and we must do him the justice to say he has a clear, clear, and comprehensive view; every tone, every gesture, appeared the coloring of intense study, mature judgment, and correct taste.

From the Sun.

Mr. Barry Sullivan must not fear comparisons, even when made by unfriendly hands. Nothing could be better than his acting throughout; then his acting, while in repose one would think he was the very ideal of the poet's

From the Daily News.

Mr. Barry Sullivan.—The novelty of the evening was Mr. Barry Sullivan as Hamlet, in which he was most successful; he seized with a vigorous and true feeling, and his clear and expressive features reflected the effect of the fine and impressive scenes in which he bore a part.

From the Sunday Times.

Mr. Barry Sullivan is an actor of remarkable intelligence, great feeling, and a most intuitive taste and judgment. In force he is above the average stamp; his delivery is good, gentlemanly, and free from affectation; his conception is intellectual rather than sensuous; his conclusions are intellectual; his voice is melodious and full, and his eye full of meaning. He is a decided intellectual in feeling or correct conception; in the tender, the powerful, the philosophic and the contemplative portions of his character, nothing could possibly be better than his acting.

From the Sunday Post.

Mr. Barry Sullivan is both intelligent and spirited. He possesses a gentlemanly deportment and an agreeable voice; in those the stage with the case of an accomplished actor; there is a pervading excellence in his acting. His dramatic pictures are for the most part beautiful. He never overstepped by extravagance or meretricious attempts at popularizing. He can, moreover, claim the merit of being original, and we are grateful in being able to record a tragedian who does not afflict us with stale imitations of popularities.

From the Illustrated London News.

Mr. Barry Sullivan is a chaste and elegant performer.

From the Weekly Times.

Mr. Barry Sullivan, who was for some years the most distinguished of our provincial tragic actors, has now fairly taken his place on the London boards as one of its ablest exponents.

From the Era.

Mr. Barry Sullivan has a slim and gentlemanly figure and walks the stage well, and is altogether most gentlemanly in his bearing. His action is most remarkable for easy and graceful. Indeed, you never find him in an inelegant attitude; he uses his hands with a peculiarly happy effect; his features are good, and do not lack expression. His delivery is free to least most impressive; combines much energy, and great originality; an entire absence of stage trickery and conventionalism, as should be studious to imitate—most commendable example—some portions of his acting equal anything we ever witnessed on the stage. He may be termed a finished artist.

THE PROVINCIAL PRESS.

From the Liverpool Journal.

Mr. Barry Sullivan.—The premium afforded by his early efforts on the stage has already ripened into rich fruition; his acting is full and original; to his mind he has outstripped all his contemporaries. He is the best reader by far we have heard upon the stage; his voice is at once mellow and musical; his accent and pronunciation have that in their choice impart the gentleman of education, certainly of high intellect. In keeping with these most desirable attributes, he has refined taste and correct judgment; he evidently the delicacy of nature; he is always a study to step trick, and never makes the most distant approach to cant. In the higher walks of the drama he is a representative of the legitimate school, more particularly the glorious creations of Shakespeare, he now stands confessedly the first of living actors.

From the Bolton Chronicle.

Mr. Barry Sullivan.—We do not hesitate to pronounce Mr. Barry Sullivan the most intelligent and accomplished actor on the stage.

From the Liverpool Mail.

Mr. Barry Sullivan.—We have had twenty years' experience in dramatic criticism, and have seen all the actors who during that time "have strutted and fretted their hour upon the stage," we decided and deliberately declared opinion is, that, in the absence of Macready, there is no better actor on the stage worthy of being compared with him.

From the Glasgow Journal.

Mr. Barry Sullivan speaks the words of Shakespeare with a meaning and beauty of elocution which create intense pleasure in the listener. We have never seen a more intellectual representation of Hamlet; in fact the most capable of the art were never better represented than by Mr. Barry Sullivan. He is the most accomplished actor that has appeared here this thirty years.

From the Liverpool Mercury.

Mr. Barry Sullivan.—For the clear development of character, for effective rendering of the poetry, and bringing into bold relief the noble sentiments of his author, Mr. Barry Sullivan stands unrivaled.

From the Cork Examiner.

Mr. Barry Sullivan is both intelligent and spirited. He possesses a gentlemanly deportment and an agreeable voice; in those the stage with the case of an accomplished actor; there is a pervading excellence in his acting. His dramatic pictures are for the most part beautiful. He never overstepped by extravagance or meretricious attempts at popularizing. He can, moreover, claim the merit of being original, and we are grateful in being able to record a tragedian who does not afflict us with stale imitations of popularities.

From the Sunday Times.

Mr. Barry Sullivan's acting was manly, graceful, and intelligent; a performance which for the sense and usefulness of its lessons should have been crowded; it deserve to be ranked among the greatest acquisitions made to it for many years.

From the Athenæum.

Mr. Barry Sullivan is a tragedian, that Mr. Barry Sullivan has not, and can never be, a Kean, that his originality of thought and force of movement; that he has studied with practical result, all this is evident, and he is recognized as a tragedian of no ordinary stamp.

From the Morning Herald.

Mr. Barry Sullivan is always refined, sensible, intelligible, discriminative, accurate, and clever; his face is intellectual, his voice is rich, full, mellow, sweet and musical; he is geometrically perfect, while are superfluous the graces of gesticulation and attitudinizing.

From the Morning Advertiser.

Mr. Barry Sullivan reads his author like a man who knows and will him nearly. He is quite free from stage mannerisms; his voice is rich, full, and mellow, and never vicious; his vision is sweet, his face is intellectual, and his eye expressive; his height is above the middle standard; his person slim and youthful, and he has all that ease and grace of bearing which attend a full command of the stage.

From the Morning Chronicle.

Mr. Barry Sullivan appears to shave the middle stature; has an intellectual, if not a handsome countenance, with a quick, bright eye, capable of the most varied expression. He is no copyist; no imitator; but, with a laudable ambition, stands out original. He takes his own view of the character, and we must do him the justice to say he has a clear, clear, and comprehensive view; every tone, every gesture, appeared the coloring of intense study, mature judgment, and correct taste.

From the Sun.

Mr. Barry Sullivan must not fear comparisons, even when made by unfriendly hands. Nothing could be better than his acting throughout; then his acting, while in repose one would think he was the very ideal of the poet's

From the Daily News.

Mr. Barry Sullivan.—The novelty of the evening was Mr. Barry Sullivan as Hamlet, in which he was most successful; he seized with a vigorous and true feeling, and his clear and expressive features reflected the effect of the fine and impressive scenes in which he bore a part.

From the Sunday Times.

Mr. Barry Sullivan is an actor of remarkable intelligence, great feeling, and a most intuitive taste and judgment. In force he is above the average stamp; his delivery is good, gentlemanly, and free from affectation; his conception is intellectual rather than sensuous; his conclusions are intellectual; his voice is melodious and full, and his eye full of meaning. He is a decided intellectual in feeling or correct conception; in the tender, the powerful, the philosophic and the contemplative portions of his character, nothing could possibly be better than his acting.

From the Sunday Post.

Mr. Barry Sullivan is both intelligent and spirited. He possesses a gentlemanly deportment and an agreeable voice; in those the stage with the case of an accomplished actor; there is a pervading excellence in his acting. His dramatic pictures are for the most part beautiful. He never overstepped by extravagance or meretricious attempts at popularizing. He can, moreover, claim the merit of being original, and we are grateful in being able to record a tragedian who does not afflict us with stale imitations of popularities.

From the Glasgow Journal.

Mr. Barry Sullivan speaks the words of Shakespeare with a meaning and beauty of elocution which create intense pleasure in the listener. We have never seen a more intellectual representation of Hamlet; in fact the most capable of the art were never better represented than by Mr. Barry Sullivan. He is the most accomplished actor that has appeared here this thirty years.

From the Liverpool Mercury.

Mr. Barry Sullivan.—For the clear development of character, for effective rendering of the poetry, and bringing into bold relief the noble sentiments of his author, Mr. Barry Sullivan stands unrivaled.

From the Cork Examiner.

Mr. Barry Sullivan has been attending during the week in the whole appearance of the excellent actor; there is a manly vigour of the free spirit of every character which he assumes, and the powerful, the philosophic, the contemplative portions of his character, nothing could possibly be better than his acting.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

LAURA KEENE'S THEATRE.

UNDIMINISHED BRILLIANCY

and

SIXTH WEEK of the

NEW COMEDY,

In consequence of the continued enjoyment the New Comedy, and the

TOWERING AWAY FROM THE BOARDS

every night of its performance, the Management simply from its necessity to announce it for repetition on

MONDAY EVENING, Nov. 22, 1858,

AND EVERY NIGHT DURING THE WEEK,

OUR AMERICAN COUSIN.

Aug. Trueman, the Five Twenty.....Mr. Sugden
Sir Edward Trueman, a Manager in Earnest.....Mr. Fawcett
Asa Trenchard, an Old Yankee.....Mr. Gilbert
Abel Murcott, an Old Bachelor.....Mr. Compton
Binney, a Butler.....Mr. Evans
Florence Trueman.....Miss Laura Keene
Mrs. Mountchessington.....Miss Mary Wells
Augusta.....Miss Kate Fortescue
Lady Dundreary.....Miss Eliza Newton
Mary Meredith.....Miss Sara Stevens
To conclude with the popular farce of

THE DUMB BELLE.

Principal characters by Messrs. Foley, Levick, McBurnett, Brown, and Misses McCarthy and Flynn.

Doors open at 6½; to commence at 7½ o'clock precisely.

BURTON'S NEW THEATRE.

Mr. E. SPAULDING,

Who has successfully conducted the Lessee's affairs during the LARGEST and BEST-APPOINTED THEATRE

On the whole of this Continent,

Begs to announce that it will be opened almost immediately

FOR

THE WINTER SEASON,

Under his personal direction,

A MOST EXCELLENT COMPANY

Has been engaged, which comprises many of the established

NEW-YORK FAVORITES,

as well as several artists that, although

COMPARATIVELY UNKNOWN ON THE METROPOLITAN BOARDS,

Will, he feels confident, speedily rank with them. He would also state that it is his determination to leave nothing undone to insure its success as a

FIRST-CLASS THEATRE,

For which purpose he has engaged

A SUCCESSION OF STARS.

And is perfecting his arrangements to produce a continuous

SERIES OF NOVELTIES,

A NEW PLAY

Being now in rehearsal for

THE OPENING NIGHT,

Which will be placed upon the stage with

THE WHOLE RESOURCES OF THE THEATRE.

NIBLO'S GARDEN.

Doors open at 6½; to commence at 7½.

Tickets 50 cents; children, 25 cents. Family Circle (entrance in Crosby-st.) 25 cents; Private Boxes, $5; Orchestra Seats, (secured,) $1.

MONDAY EVENING, Nov. 22,

FIFTEEN NIGHTS ONLY.

THE GREAT RAVEL COMPANY,

Under the direction of

GABRIEL and FRANCOIS.

The celebrated Russian dancers,

YROA MATHIAS,

And the talented young boy, forty in number,

EVOLUTIONS ON THE TIGHT ROPE,

Marietta Zanfretta. Gabriel Ravel.

ROSE AND PAPPILLON.

Pappillon.....Yroa Mathias

M. DECHALUMEAU.

M. Dechalumeau.....Gabriel Ravel.
Requinet.....Francois Ravel.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.

ANOTHER GREAT SUCCESS.

BLUE AND CHERRY

Will be acted every evening until further notice, with Tom Taylor's last great comedy

GOING TO THE BAR;

OR,

MY SCOTCH AUNT.

EVERY EVENING DURING THE WEEK.

Mr. LESTER WALLACK, Mr. BROUGHAM,
Mr. DYOTT, Mr. SLOAN, Mr. WHEATLEIGH,
Mr. FLOYD, Mr. LEVERE,
&c., &c.
Mrs. HOEY, Miss MARY GANNON,
&c., &c., will appear.

Box Book open for the week.

BOWERY THEATRE.

THIS EVENING, Nov. 22,

The performances will commence with

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

Uncle Tom.....Mr. J. W. Lingard
St. Clair.....Mr. G. C. Howard

After which, the romantic melo-drama of

THE WIZARD SKIFF,

Concluding with Fox's comic pantomime of

THE MAGIC BARREL.

BROADWAY THEATRE.

MONDAY, Nov. 22,

To commence with Shakespeare's tragedy of HAMLET.

Hamlet.....Mr. Barry Sullivan

To be followed by the drama entitled the DRAMA AT SEA.

Doors open at 6½. Curtain will rise at 7½.

PURDY'S NATIONAL THEATRE.

Chatham-st., near Roosevelt.

MONDAY EVENING, Nov. 22.

Revival of the grand spectacle drama, entitled,

DER FREISCHUTZ; OR, THE CHARMED BULLET.

After which,

OBI; OR, THREE-FINGERED JACK.

To be followed by THE LOTTERY TICKET.

To conclude with

THE BREAK HILLS OF ERIN.

ARTHUR NAPOLEON,

THE YOUNG PORTUGUESE PIANIST,

Whose extraordinary performances have created such a furore in Europe and South America, will give his first

GRAND SOIREE MUSICALE

in the UNITED STATES at Dodworth's Rooms on

TUESDAY EVENING, Nov. 23, 1858,

ARTHUR NAPOLEON will be assisted by

SIGNA. CAIROLI, Prima Donna;

MR. PERRING, Tenor;

THEO. SCHALLEHR, Conductor.

PART FIRST.

1. Duetto, "Linda di Chamounix".....Donizetti
Signa. Cairoli and Mr. Perring.
2. Grand Fantasia, "Semiramide".....Thalberg
Arthur Napoleon.
3. Polacca di Lombardi.....Verdi
Signa. Cairoli.
4. Grand Scena—Fra poco a me, "Lucia".....Donizetti
Mr. Perring.
5. Grand Polonaise, for the Piano.....Chopin
Arthur Napoleon.

PART SECOND.

6. Duetto, "Si la Stanchezza".....Trovatore.....Verdi
Signa. Cairoli and Mr. Perring.
7. { La Cascade..... / La Chasse..... } Tauer
Arthur Napoleon.
8. Cavatina, "Linda di Chamounix".....Donizetti
Signa. Cairoli.
9. Song, "There is a flower that bloometh".....Wallace
Mr. Perring.
10. Grand Fantasia on the "Bohemian Girl"
Arthur Napoleon

Single Tickets.....One Dollar.
Tickets admitting Schools.....50 cents each.

Doors open at 7, Soirée commences at 8 o'clock.

Tickets and Programmes may be had at WM. HALL & SONS', C. BREUSING'S, SCHARFENBERG & LOUIS', DESCOMBE'S, and at the door on the evening of the Soirée.

CAMPBELL MINSTRELS,

No. 444 Broadway, below Grand-st.

Offer the following THIS WEEK: Tyrolese Minstrels, Surprise Hutchinson Dances on a Locomotive State Railroad, Mrs. McGowen's Rod, Stump Oratory, Bob Ridley, Dancing, Singing, &c., by the Star Band. What will Mrs. Grundy Say?

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN.

STOP AND READ THE FOLLOWING OFFER.

MINSTRELS HALL, NO. 444 BROADWAY.

Tickets can be had of all the agents drivers of the principal lines on Broadway, running to the general ferries, at 25 cents, including stage fare to the Hall.

E. SNIFFIN, Proprietor.

The Sleighing Hibernia Fire Company, from Philadelphia, will visit our Hall on MONDAY EVENING, Nov. 22. "Welcome to them."

The Campbell Minstrels have kindly volunteered to give L. SHORT, formerly Proprietor of Buckley's Serenaders, a Complimentary Benefit on SATURDAY EVENING, Nov. 27, 1858.

PALACE GARDEN CIRCUS.

MONDAY, Nov. 22,

BENEFIT OF W. R. KEMP, on which occasion the great American clown

TONY PASTOR, will appear, together with all the great artistes attached to this company, in an entire change of performance.

Wednesday Afternoon,

LITTLE ALICE'S BENEFIT.

Having successfully competed with all the foreign celebrities in this country, Little Alice will make her farewell to the public for a benefit on Wednesday afternoon.

Wednesday evening,

BENEFIT OF JAMES MELVILLE,

The great Australian Horse-backed rider, on his last appearance on the Equestrian Troupe, prior to their departure for the Howard Athenæum, Boston.

WOOD'S MINSTRELS,

Nos. 585 and 587 Broadway,

OPEN EVERY EVENING

over each at 8½, to commence at 7½ o'clock.

BARNUM'S MUSEUM.—LAST WEEK OF THE DODWORTH MIMIC WORLD; Or, THEATRE OF ARTS, the extraordinary success of which in the City has led to PARALLEL IN THE WORLD. THIS AFTERNOON at 3, and THIS EVENING, at 7½ o'clock, for the last week, DODWORTH THEATRE OF ARTS; Or, THE MIMIC WORLD. Between each part, Dr. VALENTINE, the celebrated Ventriloquist, will appear.

THE SIXTH ANNUAL EXHIBITION of the pupils of the DANCING ACADEMY, Dodworth's Hall, 806 Broadway, will take place on TUESDAY, Nov. 23, and THURSDAY, Nov. 25, at 8 o'clock.

REMBRANDT'S CELEBRATED PAINTING of Washington Resigning the Position of Commander-in-Chief of the Revolutionary Army, at Washington's Headquarters, Newburgh, N. Y.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

LE NOZZE DI FIGARO.

CHARLES OF SAY—SOUCI.

The public are respectfully informed that the opera of LE NOZZE DI FIGARO (the marriage of Figaro) will be produced at the Academy of Music, on Monday, Nov. 22, and will be repeated on every evening.

ON TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY, Nov. 23 and 24, Monday and Tuesday nights of Wednesday's Opera on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

MLLE. PICCOLOMINI will make her last appearance but one in the "Nozze di Figaro," which, on account of the departure of the company for Europe, can only be given twice.

ON TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY, Nov. 23 and 24, these are second nights in America of Mozart's celebrated opera, in three acts, of

LE NOZZE DI FIGARO,

(The Marriage of Figaro)

Mlle. PICCOLOMINI as.....Susanna
CARL FORMES as.....Figaro of which roles they are acknowledged to be the greatest living representatives. The other roles by

Mlle. GHIONI, Mme. BERNEI, FLORENZA, FERNING, WEINLICH, MULLER. Conductor, CARL ANSCHUTZ.

The sale of reserved seats (sector, private boxes may be had) will commence this morning, at the Academy of Music and C. Breusing's, at 8½, and at Sibell's, No. 20 Wall-st., at 9. Tickets and seats to be had at the door.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Persuaded the policy of the season, which is unmistakably in favor of great works by great composers, the Directors have the honor to announce that he will, on Tuesday, produce Mozart's celebrated opera of "The Marriage of Figaro." For many years this classical production has held the choicest bait of operatic management. Every successive impresario has promised to give it, and so constantly failed to do so. As in the case of "the Huguenots," it is reserved to him to bring out the work for the first time in America.

THE NOZZE DI FIGARO is a certainty in musical theatricals; in addition to being one of the finest productions of its celebrated master. Popular tradition says that it was written at the instigation of a wager, and to prove that an opera could be made to succeed without a tenor part in it. Mozart felt that nothing but the purest streams of melody and the loveliest creations of fancy would be required to insure success, and that the tenor was unessential to the success of his wager. Certain it is that on the three characters of Savannah, the Count and Figaro, he has expended all the infinite pathos, playfulness and gentility of his nature.

The "Nozze" was presented by "Idomeneo," and was followed by "Don Giovanni." Thus connected in the golden chain of the composer's chief works, it has long maintained its position of celebrity. In the confident reasons it has never been produced here. Foremost amongst these may be mentioned the fact that since the days of Madame Sontag there has been no artist in the country capable of interpreting the rôle of Susanna, and that Formes is the only Figaro now on the stage. It is, fortunately, in Mr. Ullman's power to present the work with a cast which cannot be surpassed. He refers confidently to the Susanna of Mlle. Piccolomini as one of her greatest impersonations, exceeding in joyous detail of British emotion her Zerlina in "Don Giovanni," and to the Figaro of Carl Formes, which, in artistic conception, makes as high as any rôle in which the great basso has yet appeared. It is on these two characters that the success of "The Nozze di Figaro" mainly depends, and he does not hesitate in stating that they could not be in better hands.

On the last two nights of the season will make her début in America as Valentine, in which will be given with a cast infinitely superior to that of last season.

MLLE. POINSOT

THE HUGUENOTS

To let, the Academy of Music, for any night during December and January, except Sundays, having been already engaged for the first of which will take place on Sunday, Nov. 21.

FREE SABBATH EVENING SERVICES,

On THURSDAY, Nov. 25, the second and last Italian Opera in Brooklyn, when the entire opera of

THE BARBER OF SEVILLA

will be given, and in exactly the same style as at the Academy of Music, on which occasion will make her first and only appearance in Brooklyn.

Madame LABORDE

ROBERT LE DIABLE.

The public are respectfully informed that, in consequence of Mad. GAZZANIGA'S farewell appearance in Philadelphia prior to her departure for Havana the Opera cannot be repeated. Propositions, however, will be made to her of one night more, which, if accepted, may render a repetition possible.

BROOKLYN ATHENÆUM—ITALIAN OPERA.

Second, and positively last, Opera night.

Admission.....$1 00
Reserved seats.....1 50

The sale of seats commences on Wednesday.

THURSDAY, Nov. 25, at 8, final appearance in Brooklyn of the celebrated prima donna from the Grand Opera in Paris, on which occasion will be given, in exactly the same and complete style as at the Academy of New-York, with Mme. LABORDE as the Rosina, assisted by MAGGIOROCHI, (the new bass,) FLORENZA, LORINI, COLETTI, DUBREMIL, MORRA. Full Chorus and Orchestra, under the direction of MUSIO.

MADAME LABORDE,

ROSSINI'S BEFITTING OPERA OF

THE BARBER OF SEVILLA,

Mme. LABORDE

will sing, during the music lesson,

PAGANINI'S CARNIVAL OF VENICE,

with variations di Bravura; and at the end of the opera the popular rondo from composed expressly for her.

LINDA DI CHAMOUNIX,

Admission, $1; reserved seats, $1 50.

The sale of seats commences on Wednesday morning, at 9 A. M., at Rose's Bookstore, No. 142 Atlantic-st.; at Fox's Music Store, No. 213 Fulton-st.; and at Sibell's, No. 20 Wall-st. Tickets and seats may likewise be had at the door.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The great success of the experiment made on Saturday last clearly proved that the state arrangements justify the repetition of an

ITALIAN AND REGULAR OPERA

instead of an occasional grand operatic selection. In announcing, therefore,

THE FIRST REGULAR AND FULL OPERA

ever given in Brooklyn,

Mr. Ullman takes the liberty of referring to the ultimate result which success may greatly facilitate. It is fortunately unnecessary to say a word about the refining influence of operatic entertainments. The citizens of Brooklyn, headed by their most reverend pastors, have given the best proof of their appreciation of this influence, by subscribing with a liberality quite unparalleled, to the funds necessary for the erection of a first-class opera house. As an initiatory step towards the inauguration of this epoch in the musical history of a sister city, which must, in spite of rivalry, remain closely united to New-York; Mr. Ullman has, at a considerable expense, caused to be constructed a stage and its appurtenances suitable for the building now at his disposal in Brooklyn. It is a complete and thoroughly practicable little opera house, with sufficient accommodation for the forces of the troup, and admirable convenience for the audience. Mr. Ullman earnestly hopes that sufficient inducements will be held out to him so as to encourage him to give, on his return from Boston, a performance every week throughout the Winter season.

DODWORTH'S HALL.

CLASSICAL MATINEE.

MASON AND THOMAS' CLASSICAL MATINEES.

TUESDAY, Nov. 23, at 2 o'clock.

FIRST CLASSICAL MATINEE.

At DODWORTH'S HALL, Broadway,

Opposite 11th-st.

Messrs. MASON and THOMAS will be assisted by Messrs. CARL BERGMANN, J. MOSENTHAL and G. MATZKA.

PROGRAMME.

1. Quartette in A major (op. 41, No. 3).....Schumann
Messrs. Thomas, Mosenthal, Matzka and Bergmann.
2. Sonata for piano and violoncello (op. 69).....Beethoven
Messrs. Mason and Bergmann.
3. Chaconne for the violin.....Bach
Theo. Thomas.
4. Trio in B flat (op. 99).....Schubert.
Messrs. Mason, Thomas and Bergmann.

Subscriptions are received at the music stores of Mr. C. Breusing, No. 701 Broadway, and Messrs. Scharfenberg & Luis, No. 760 Broadway, or of Schuberth & Co., Spring-st., as follows:

PRICES OF ADMISSION.

One admission to the six matinées.....$4
Three.....10
Single tickets for each matinée.....1
Three.....2

Admission tickets may be had at the door at $1 each.

Doors open at 1½; to commence at 2 o'clock.

ON EXHIBITION.

The magnificent painting belonging to

THE EMPRESS OF FRANCE,

And representing

HER MAJESTY

Surrounded by the Ladies of her Court,

At Compiègne Gallery,

No. 841 Broadway.

Size of the picture, 16x10 feet.

Open from 8 A. M. to 7 P. M. Admission 25 cents.

M. KNOEDLER.

N. B.—Entrance through the store, as well as at the side door, where a large and commodious staircase has been opened.

MME. MADELEINE JOHNSON-GREAVER,

Respectfully announces that she will give the first of a series of

GRAND PIANO-FORTE RECITALS,

On FRIDAY EVENING, Dec. 3,

At Dodworth's Saloon.

The programme will include Litolff's Second Grand Trio, (first time here;) Grand Sonata, Beethoven, op. 31; Gavotte and Musette, Bach; The Harmonious Blacksmith; Handel; Fuchley's Led Mendelssohn, &c., &c. Particulars in future advertisements.

GRAND EXHIBITION OF CLASSICAL STATUETTE

PAINTINGS,

Now open at the

FLORENTINE GALLERY,

No. 548 Broadway.

One door from Laura Keene's Theatre.

Comprising a selection of various specimens of FEMALE beauty, sesophisticated and "unadorned." Open from 10 A. M. to 1, and from 2 to 10 P. M. Admission 25 cents.

SANVARE'S

GREAT MECHANICAL PICTURE,

THE DESTRUCTION OF JERUSALEM,

Now open at the new hall on Broadway, near Bleecker-st. Also, the FAR-FAMED PANORAMA OF THE HOLY LAND, every afternoon at 3 o'clock; every evening at 8. Admission 25 cents; Children 12 cents.

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE HOLY CITY AND ITS ENVIRONS.—By W. G. Paine, Esq., Author of "Tent Life in the Holy Land," at the Chapel of St. Paul's M. E. Church, 224-st., corner of 4th-av., on ALL-SOLS' EVENING, Nov. 22, at 1½ o'clock. REMINISCENCES OF THE HOLY LAND, by Professor HOWARD CROSBY, of the New-York University, at the same place, on TUESDAY EVENING, Nov. 23, at 8 o'clock, with superb Illuminated Views. Tickets, 25 cents each, at Mr. CROWEN'S, No. 688 Broadway; Mr. RANDOLPH'S, No. 682 Broadway; and Mr. RAYMOND'S, No. 262 Broadway.

MR. KENNETH PERRING, OF THE ACADEMY, New-York City, will devote himself to those who may wish to perfect themselves in the art of Italian or English singing, or the study of the piano-forte. Mr. Perring's qualifications are vouched for by the Rev. Dr. Hawks, of Trinity Church, and may be ascertained at his residence, No. 6 West 31st-st., or by application at Mr. Chas. Benson's, No. 708 Broadway, or Messrs. Scharfenberg & Luis, No. 760 Broadway.

MAGIC LANTERN.—COMICAL, ASTRONOMICAL &c.—FRIDAY EVENING, Nov. 26, at 7½, in Lecture Room, No. 659 Broadway, entrance in Bleecker-st. Tickets 10 cents.

BEAUMONT STEAM GAUGES—PERFECTLY reliable, handsomely made, and reasonable. Apply at C. W. COFFLAND'S, No. 6 Broadway.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FIRST ONE NOW THEN THREE PRICES!

BANCROFT, BRETTFIELD & RICE,

No. 371 Broadway, opposite Howard House,

SIGN SHEVEIN, FLATHER & COMPANY,

A full and complete assortment of

GENT GOODS, well made and warranted,

WILL BEGIN, TUESDAY, NOV. 23, 1858,

A NEW STYLE OF UMBRELLA, the equal of a large outlay, with long and fancy. It saves the labor of carrying the coffee at noon's length for every one present; is stylish, and the price low.

FIVE POINTS HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.

We doubt if in this great City Thanksgiving brought more real pleasure to the poor than it did to those who were fed from the bounty of the generous at the old Five Points. Could those who, in their abundance, were not associated of the moving scenes of the greatest, have witnessed that array of tables which marched in at the iron gateway of the House of Industry, every face bearing the impress of anger at the darkness, could they have seen the joyous faces, and heard the good things with a relish which poverty alone can know, could they have observed the universal expression of joyous satisfaction and perfect happiness which pervaded the entire scene, they surely would have found in their own hearts their reward. For one day rich were relaxed his gripping hole, and his children revelled in profusion. For four days previous to Thanksgiving an appeal was made through the Press to the generosity of the charitable in behalf of the poor. The response was such with just such a response as might be expected from the city which has never failed to meet the wants of the poor, which so eminently characterizes our citizens. The proprietors of the hotels and markets furnished a most bountiful supply of all kinds of poultry, game, bread, cake, fruit, coffee and tea, sugar, &c. Quite a quantity of clothing, shoes, hats, caps, and flannels were supplied by individual charity. Before the dining hall was thrown open, the children were addressed in the Chapel by the Rev. Mr. Walker. The good attention and interest evinced by the children were remarkable. After the Thanksgiving dinner was finished, which afforded a generous supply of food to spare, that was hundred, the children returned to the Chapel, and was given a large collection of clothing and presents of the highest responsibility, which seemed to be felt the blessedness of giving. The audience was addressed by the Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, Judge Hoxie, R. R. Barlow, the Superintendent, Captain Hart, of the Seventeenth Ward Police, Mr. Thomas S. Kale, Mr. Pardo, and other gentlemen. The children evinced their appreciation of the end points in the many stories narrated for their benefit by the speakers by shouts and clapping of hands. A contribution from the different visitors was received during the day, which amounted to about $600. The institution of the House of Industry is constantly widening the field of its beneficent influences. It supplies to the poor in its vicinity more than five thousand meals a week. It furnishes a comfortable home and entire support to 125 destitute children. It wins over by kindness many from the ways of vice to the ranks of sin. Its daily school is training up to useful intelligence, and to habits of honest industry, more than three hundred individuals who were degraded and ignorant.

This department is under the excellent management of Misses Camp, Andrews and Ryan, to whose patient, persistent efforts no little meed of praise is due.

In all cases the children are secured situations or are adopted before leaving the institution. This wise arrangement guarantees to the children the certainty of a comfortable home in families whose characters are all ready well known.

It is with grateful feelings that the Superintendent makes the following acknowledgements for Provisions, &c., for Thanksgiving: Mr. Hewitt, Crosby-st., 105 lbs. of bread; N. Miller, 3 parcels of clothing; A Friend in Newark, N. J., a bundle of clothing; Robert E. Kelly, Esq., a box of clothing; A Friend, 2 bbls. of tea; Ladies' Benevolent Society, No. 2, Hackensack, N. J., 1 barrel of good clothing; Miss Noel Bliss, a bag of clothing; Miss Whitlaker, a bundle of clothing; Silas Mason, Hartwelville, 1 bbl. of Potatoes; Miss Lydia Hall, a bundle of clothing; Edwin Garthwaite, 1 bbl. of rice; Williamson, Broadway, a case of shoes; Mr. Williams, Wall-st., a bundle of clothing; Mrs. Morris, Brooklyn, a small bundle of clothing; Mr. R. Davis, a bundle of clothing; Wm. Smith Brown & Co., 1 case of shoes; Charles T. Goodwin, 1 bbl. of crackers; Mr. Inman, 5 bushels of potatoes; Miller, Powers & Hodges, box of shoes; Wells Wisham, box of boots and shoes; Ivison & Phinney, bundle of primers; Emma and Rebekah Brown, 6 turkeys; Mr. Warnock, box of cards; Frederick Tracey, 2 pieces of Canton flannel; Mrs. Gardner, 6 large quantity of cake; W. C. Greene, 1 turkey; Mrs. R. C. Brown, ham and pies; Six School Children of New-York, 200 pumpkin pies; Two Young Friends, 2 garments; S. G. Rogers, 1 package of hosiery; Mrs. Studwell, a quantity of bread and cake; Davidson & Young, 8 bbl. of biscuit; P. Greely, 1 bundle of boys' clothing; W. Smith Brown & Co., 75 pairs of shoes; Earl Parker, T. L. Cuyler, clothing and cake; Halsted, Chamberlain & Co., 100 lbs. pork and 6 hams; H. G. Reeve & Co., half a barrel of crushed sugar; E. Davis, barrel of crackers; No. 273 Washington-st., box of raisins; J. D. Baily, 1 box raisins; J. S. & P. N. Otis, 1 bundle shoes; White & Shaw, 1 ham; R. Ackerman & Brothers, 100 lbs. meat; Brown & Co., 97 lbs. rice; No. 206 Duane, 25 lbs. mackerel; Hoppock, Garbut & Co., 1 box raisins; Hoge & Co., 1 box sugar and nutmegs; E. Treadwell's Sons, barrel crackers; Wilson, Jackson & Minell, 62 in groceries; Odell Caverly & Co., half bag rice; C. Adams & Co., 1 large cheese; Kennon & Jones, 1 box herring and 1 barrel herring; Kinney & Co., 100 of caps; Reynolds & Wagner, 1 box raisins; Broadhead & Starr, coffee and tea; R. H. Gilbert & Co., 3 parcels candy; F. W. Martin, 1 box raisins; Wells & Christy, box shoes; Lewis & Brown, 1 box raisins; A. M. Coffin, bag beans; Sherman & Collins, box raisins; Masten & Reimer, 5 lbs. tea; W. H. Tiffs & Co., box tea; Walstron, Pace & Co., 1 barrel of flour; J. Stuart, Sheldon & Co., box raisins; John Caswell & Co., box tea; Williamson, Griffith & Co., 25 lbs. tea and coffee; J. Bunce, box raisins; W. C. Ward, box raisins; Morris, Earl & Co., box raisins; Henry Swift & Co., box raisins; Knowlton & Reimer, box raisins; Spencer & Porter, box raisins; W. H. Vanderveer, 5 lbs. tea; C. Knowlton & Dudley, box raisins; Josiah Rich, 75 lbs. Brazil nuts; A. D. Gilmartin, 1 box apples and oranges; Wentworth & Corwin, 5 lbs. tea; Cromwell & Birdsall, 2 bags meal; Harris, Medny & Co., 1 ham and 1 piece pork; Schoonmaker & Van Dine, box crackers; A. B. Ludlum, 60 lbs. fish, bag beans; White, Cathurine and Sarah Ann. Also, the following hotels added as very liberally: St. Nicholas, Smithsonian, Astor House, International, Everett, Metropolitan, Florence's, Girard, Howard, National, Western, Merchants, Pacific, French's, Lovejoy's, Sweeney's, Bancroft, Thomson's, and many private houses and individuals.

B. R. BARLOW, Superintendent.
Successor to L. M. FRASE.

THE ONLY ARTICLE

UNRIVALLED IN MARKET,

WITH FORMER

HOME AND EUROPEAN DEMAND.

The reason why, is, that by Nature's own process it restores the natural color permanently after the hair becomes gray; supplies the natural fluids, and thus makes it grow on bald heads; removes all dandruff, itching and heat from the scalp, quiets and tones up the nerves, and thus cures all nervous headache, and may be relied on to cure all diseases of the scalp and hair; it will stop and keep it from falling off; makes it soft, glossy, healthy and beautiful, and if used by the young two or three times a week, it will never fall or become gray; then, reader, read the following and judge for yourself.

NEW-YORK, Jan. 8, 1858.

Messrs. O. J. WOOD & Co.:

GENTLEMEN: Having heard a good deal about Professor

SITUATIONS WANTED—FEMALES.

A SITUATION BY A WOMAN; understands her business; unexceptionable references; can be seen at 139 Chrystie-st. Call or address as above.

A SITUATION BY A COMPETENT, TRUSTWORTHY woman, as nurse and seamstress, does not object to go out of the city. Call at No. 1 Pitt-st., near Rivington.

A SITUATION BY A WIDOW LADY, INTELLIGENT and competent, as housekeeper, or to take charge of a house; no objection to go out of the city. Call or address, 1 Pitt-st.

A SITUATION BY A YOUNG GERMAN HARDWORKING girl, to do chamber work and plain sewing; excellent washer and ironer; is a good housekeeper; neat and prudent in her ways; can be seen at 1 Pitt-st., near Rivington, Brooklyn.

A SITUATION BY A PROTESTANT WOMAN, A SIXTY-FIVE YEARS OF AGE, AS HOUSEKEEPER; is a good cook, pastry, baking and preserving; is a good nurse; is a good seamstress; can furnish the best of City references. Call at No. 102 West 27th-st., between 6th and 7th avs.; can be seen for three days.

A SITUATION BY A MIDDLE-AGED LADY, FROM Boston, desires a situation as housekeeper, or to take charge of a large family or hotel. Address Mrs. Lincoln, 1 Spruce-st., Post-Office, No. 234 Broadway.

A SITUATION, BY A CONNECTICUT lady, as nurse and chamber maid, or to sew; is willing to do some sewing; is a good nurse; can be seen at No. 184 Mercer-st. Call on Monday, unless called for before.

A SITUATION BY A PROTESTANT WOMAN, A GOOD cook, washer and ironer; is capable of taking the entire charge of a lady from its birth; the best of references can be given, from her last place. Call at No. 48 East 30th-st.

A SITUATION, BY A RESPECTABLE young woman, to do the work of a private family, or chamber work and plain sewing; can do fine ironing; has been used to the best of City references. Call at No. 1 Pitt-st., near Rivington, Brooklyn.

A SITUATION BY A YOUNG WOMAN, WHO WOULD like to do some washing and ironing. Apply at 1 Pitt-st., near Rivington, for two days, over the grocery.

A SITUATION BY A SCOTCH PROTESTANT GIRL, who understands her business perfectly, and can be recommended by her employers, as nurse and seamstress; or to do chamber work and sewing. Call at No. 229 2d-av., between 12th and 13th sts.

A SITUATION, BY A YOUNG GIRL, 18 YEARS OF age, to do light chamber work, and assist in the nursery; is perfectly understands her business; can be recommended by her last place. Address Mrs. Hoffman's, for three days.

A SITUATION BY A RESPECTABLE YOUNG WOMAN, as cook, in a private family; good washer and ironer; can do plain cooking; is a good driver, and can take care of horses in good condition; and a good nurse; is willing to make herself generally useful; wages moderate. Excellent references can be given. Will go to any part of the country. Call or address Box No. 185, Post-Office.

A SITUATION BY A PROTESTANT GIRL, AS COOK, washer and ironer; good baker, and excellent baker. Apply at No. 166 11th-st., between 5th and 6th avs.

A SITUATION BY A RESPECTABLE YOUNG PROTESTANT girl, as nurse, to mind children and sew; is a good seamstress; can be seen at 1 Pitt-st., near Rivington, Brooklyn.

A SITUATION BY A SCOTCH PROTESTANT GIRL, as chambermaid and waiter, or to do housework and sewing, or assist in the nursery. Can give City references. Call at No. 1 Pitt-st., near Rivington.

A SITUATION BY A RESPECTABLE GIRL, AS COOK, washer and ironer; good City references. Call at No. 1 Pitt-st., near Rivington, Brooklyn.

A SITUATION BY AN EXPERIENCED PRIVATE WAITER (Protestant) with good City references, wants a place in a gentleman's family; understands his business perfectly; is a good waiter, coachman, etc. Address Box No. 1,000 Post-Office.

A SITUATION, BY A RESPECTABLE YOUNG WOMAN, as waiter to a private family; is a first-class hairdresser and can do well recommended; is willing to make herself generally useful; wages moderate. A small family preferred. Address Box No. 183 Times Office.

A SITUATION BY A RESPECTABLE YOUNG GIRL, as cook in a private family; good baker; can do plain cooking; is a good washer and ironer; willing to make herself generally useful; wages moderate. Excellent references can be given. Will go to any part of the country. Call or address Box No. 185, Post-Office.

A SITUATION BY A PROTESTANT YOUNG MAN, as waiter; is perfectly understands his business; can give good City references; is a good driver, and can take care of horses in good condition; and a good gardener; wages moderate. Excellent references can be given. Will go to any part of the country. Call or address Box No. 185, Post-Office.

A SITUATION BY AN ENGLISH PROTESTANT GIRL, as chambermaid and waiter, or to do plain sewing and assist in the nursery; is a good seamstress; can give good City references. Call at No. 1 Pitt-st., near Rivington, Brooklyn.

A SITUATION AS COACHMAN BY A PROTESTANT; understands his business thoroughly; is a good gardener; can give the best of City references; address R. W., No. 128 West 23d-st.

A SITUATION AS COACHMAN, BY A RESPECTABLE man; understands his business; is a good gardener; can give the best of City references; address Box No. 1,000 Post-Office.

A SITUATION AS COACHMAN, BY A PROTESTANT

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]